a Gas refrigerator—but listen to the lucky owners!

Two million American families are enjoying noise-free and trouble-free refrigeration today — because they chose a gas refrigerator before the war. Lots of others tell us they'd like to change to gas right now—to this different and simpler refrigerator which stays silent and lasts longer because it hasn't a single moving part in its freezing system. They want the refrigerator with—

Nothing to Wear
Nothing to Get Noisy
Nothing to Need Repair.

War-time difficulties in obtaining repair service for home equipment have emphasized, as never before, the dependability of the gas refrigerator in which a tiny flame does all the work. Keep in touch with your Dealer for information on the Gas refrigerator that you hear about but never hear.

Birth Registrars To Furnish Daily Report

Will Result In Parents Receiving Birth Certificates Of Children More Promptly

Prompt and accurate registration of all births is the special aim of Child Health Day, 1945, according to an announcement by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health. About 97 per cent of births in Maryland are now registered in baby books—one of the best records in the South; but birth certificates are so important that even a 3 per cent failure cannot be tolerated. To indicate how the Department is working to improve registration Dr. Riley quoted the following statement of Dr. A. W. Hedrich, Chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics:

"A Birth Certificate for Every Baby in the U.S.A." is the goal formulated by the United States Children's Bureau, the agency sponsoring the annual observance of Child Health Day on the first day of May.

"In Maryland we are reorganizing procedures in an effort to send a Birth Registration Notice to parents much more promptly—in two weeks or less if possible. In our State, as in most others, it is the duty of physicians and other attendants to forward birth certificates within four days to Local Registrars, of whom there are nearly 300 in Maryland. Heretofore, these registrars have been required to transmit the certificates to the State Department of Health once each month. This has greatly retarded mailing of Birth Registration Notices to parents, who often need them for ration books, war allowances for families of service men, and other purposes. Acting under a provision of the Vital Statistics Act, Dr. Riley has authorized the Bureau of Vital Statistics to request Local Registrars to mail birth and death certificates to this Department daily instead of monthly.

"This system of daily transmission, first tried and found satisfactory in Anne Arundel county and in six cities, will greatly speed the process of registration. The cooperation of physicians and Local Registrars should make it possible to send parents the Birth Registration Notice within two weeks after the child's birth.

"Mothers and fathers can help their babies to obtain accurate birth certificates without delay. First, parents should decide upon a boy's name and a girl's name before the child is born. This will enable the doctor to make out and file a complete birth certificate immediately. If parents do not receive the anticipated Birth Registration Notice before the infant is two weeks old, they should ask the doctor or midwife whether the birth has been reported, or they may write to the State Registrar of Vital Statistics in Baltimore.

"Parents, physicians and others concerned with the welfare of children may well consider prompt and accurate registration of all births an objective worthy of their attention. An authentic birth certificate will be a valuable document on the many occasions when it is necessary to prove age, parentage or citizenship. Lack of a birth certificate is certain to be a nuisance at some future date, and may be a severe handicap to the unfortunate person whose arrival was not recorded."

The following are the local registrars for Garrett County:

Mrs. Iva Rush, Friendsville; Miss Ethel Broadwater, Grantsville; Dorsey Pattison, Bloomington; Mrs. Frank Spooner, Accident; Miss Julia Rowan, Oakland; Elmer Shaffer, Oakland; R. E. D. George B. Brown, Axilton; Mrs. Ruth Emory, Bitterroot; L. C. Bray, Kitzmiller; A. W. Barwick, Kitzmiller, is a deputy registrar for Garrett County.

HINTS FOR HOME MAKERS

Breaks that appear in rayon clothes after laundering may be the result of too strenuous twisting and wringing. Gentle squeezing is recommended because rayon is weak when wet.

Buttons—broken or missing from clothes—and ridges worn in the ribber rolls of the washing machine are double evidence of carelessness in wringing. Fold all buttons, buckles, and zippers inside cloth before running the garment through the wringer.

Do not fill your refrigerator too full as it will work better if space is allowed for air circulation. Proper defrosting lightens the work of the refrigerator and decreases the electric bill.

Small cuts appearing in bathroom towels may be traced to the man who wipes his razor on any towel that is handy.

The life of dish towels is usually short if they are used as pot holders. Once badly scorched, their days of usefulness are soon over.

Pillow slips that wear out before their time may have been doing double duty as laundry bags. The extra wear from dragging and pulling and the more strenuous washing because of extra soil takes its toll of the fabric.

If food storage shelves are too deep, food or containers may be placed on a sliding tray. In this way, the tray may be pulled out and what is at the back of the shelf easily reached.

He and his wife, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cogley, of Baltimore, are in Oakland this week visiting relatives and friends. Pfc. Cogley received the bronze star for gallantry in action. He received shrapnel wounds in the left leg, and sustained a broken arm and concussion when a mortar shell exploded near him, during a night attack. Regaining consciousness the following morning he crawled to a shell hole and in it discovered his captain, badly wounded. Cogley attempted to get his captain back to a first aid station and crawled several hundred yards with him on his back. Arriving at the station it was discovered the captain was dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Trickett heard this week from their son, Pfc. Harold D. Trickett, who is with an anti-aircraft unit on Okinawa where the Yanks are fighting for possession of that island, less than 400 miles south of Japan. Trickett was inducted April 6, 1943, and has been overseas for 16 months. He declared the weather was cold after being in warmer places, and that for a time he almost froze at night. He declared the people there seemed nicer than in the Philippines, but that they appeared "afraid of us."

Pvt. Warren K. Frazee, who enlisted in the army air corps last October, is now in training at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, Texas, for air combat duty. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Frazee, formerly of this county, now residing near Confluence, Pa.

Pfc. Ralph Thomas, who has spent thirty-two months overseas in the European theatre of operations, was scheduled to arrive at Fort Meade last weekend, prior to reaching his home at Selbyport where he will visit his wife on his thirty-day furlough.

A war correspondent, writing in a Honolulu newspaper, gives an interesting account of a super-fortress crew who named their ship "Big Wheel." The story comes from a B-29 base on Tinian Island. The "Big Wheel" at the time of the story had done three missions over Tokyo and one over Nagoya. One of the crew members is Sergeant William Castled, of Oakland, son of Mrs. Dora A. Castled. The warplane on each side of the nose of the big bomber is in the shape of a huge wheel. Between each pair of spokes is a space reserved for one member of the crew. Some of the men have the names of their wives or sweethearts in their spaces. The writer had the following to say about Castled: "Near the bottom of the wheel Sergeant William Castled, of Oakland, Md., stuck to his guns for combat. At least one bit of furlough leave, he stated he was in the best of health, but getting anxious to get back home. Another son, Sgt. Harry Lewis, is with Gen. Hodges' army. The last letter from him was written March 21."

Receives Promotion
Technician Fourth Grade Richard E. Stemple whose wife, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Stemple, resides at 63 Alder street, Oakland, was recently promoted to Technician Third Grade in Sixth Army Headquarters.

He left the United States in April, 1944, for overseas duty. Since then he has been authorized a Bronze Star for the New Guinea campaign, the Asia-Pacific Ribbon and the Philippine Liberation Campaign Ribbon.

Sergeant Stemple is a graduate of Oakland High School and the West Virginia Business College. He worked in eastern Pennsylvania as supervisor of liquidation of insolvent national banks.

He was inducted in April, 1943, and received his basic training in Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. At the present time he is the Principal Clerk in the Administrative section of the Finance Office in Sixth Army Headquarters, on Lazon.

Working day and night to get the damaged ships back in the fighting line are the men of the Navy's Ship Repair Unit. A member of the Pearl Harbor unit is Orlando C. Welch, machine's mate first class, USNR, of Mt. Lake Park.

Welch entered the Navy December, 1943, and has been at Pearl Harbor for a year. His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Welch, makes her home at Mt. Lake Park. Before joining the Navy, Welch was employed as an assessor by the County Commissioners of Garrett County.

Welch, like thousands of other Ship Repair Unit men, was rewarded last fall when a U. S. Naval Force met and practically annihilated a strong Japanese surface force in the Battle of Surigao Strait, the second Battle of the Philippines. The ships which fought the battle had returned for their revenge, largely because of a group of 1,000 Ship Repair Unit men who three years before had gone out to Pearl Harbor and raised the USS Mississippi, the USS Pennsylvania, the USS West Virginia, USS California and the USS Tennessee when the Japanese had recorded them as "Sunk."

Lieut. Jane Gonder, of the army nurse corps, who has been located at a base hospital in France, has been transferred to a hospital in Germany. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Gonder, were informed this week.

Cpl. Ray W. Butler, of Grantsville, who served overseas with an ordnance unit, is now in the Woodrow Wilson general hospital, in Virginia, for treatment. He was inducted on August 1, 1942, receiving his basic training at Fort Warren, Wyoming. Ordinance training was at Fort Cook, Neb., Fort Knox, Ky., Atlanta Ordnance motor base, after which he was on maneuvers in the Arizona desert, prior to being shipped to England. He was later moved to France, then to Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Germany. He spent last Thanksgiving in Mecklenburg, Germany. He was then sent to a general hospital on December 24, and started back to this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Callis, of Mt. Lake Park, have received further details about their son, Pfc. Joe Callis, who was wounded by shrapnel recently on the European fighting front. He is in a hospital in France. A letter written to Mr. and Mrs. Callis by their son and by the chaplain of his unit, revealed that he was wounded in both legs, with one in serious condition, and also had a wound in the abdomen.

Has Varied Experiences in Navy
Stanley M. Lucas, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lucas, near Red House, who enlisted in the Navy in January, 1942, at the age of 21, was through a competitive examination held recently at the U. S. Naval Armed Guard Center, in Brooklyn, N. Y., advanced to the rating of Chief Yeoman.

Lucas completed two and one-half years of active sea duty after receiving training at Great Lakes. He was assigned to a large amphibious transport and participated in the invasion of North Africa and other invasions in that area. His ship survived 184 air attacks, was hit by one bomb and was fatally damaged by torpedo. He declares he had a number of "close calls" and can't figure out how he was lucky enough to come out of it all alive.

He was among the few who was authorized air transportation to America for rehabilitation leave and reassignment. He flew by army plane from Algiers to Casablanca, taking a Navy plane there and landing in Natal, Brazil, thence to Bermuda and New York City, almost 9,000 miles. In the legal office in New York he is now in full charge of preparation of all court martial proceedings, including deck courts, summary and general courts martial. The office also handles disciplinary cases of all the naval armed guard serving in the Atlantic Ocean on armed merchant vessels.

Lucas is a graduate of Oakland

Crusade Goes Over

CHICAGO — Bishop J. Ralph Magee (left), chairman and director of the Methodist Crusade for Christ, receives news that the goal of $25,000,000 for postwar relief and reconstruction has been surpassed by more than a million dollars. By J. McHenry Potts, who came from Roanoke, Va., to become Bishop Magee's associate, presents him a summary of reports from the denomination's 60 district superintendents. The total is $26,047,749. Of this amount $11 million is in cash, represented by pass books in the Bishop's hand. The rest is in pledges payable within the next nine months. This is believed to be the largest sum ever raised by a church for a comparable purpose.

Emphasis will now swing to other aspects of the four-year, five-fold crusade for Christ: church school attendance, stewardship, evangelism and support of international collaboration.

IMPROVED NIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD I. LUNDQVIST, D. D.
The Sunday School Lesson
Sponsored by Western Newspaper Union

Lesson for April 29

Scripture subjects and Scripture texts used in the lesson are taken from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, published by the American Bible Society, New York, N. Y.

THE PROMISE AND STRUGGLES IN CANAAN

LESSON TEXT—Joshua 2:1-24. 11:1-15.
OLD TESTAMENT—Deuteronomy 1:1-4. 31:1-15.
NEW TESTAMENT—Matthew 23:1-12. 23:13-35.

God keeps his promises. Israel had that to be true as He brought them into the promised land of Canaan. Those who rebelled against Him had died in the wilderness, but a new generation had come to possess the land. Here they met the challenge of the Canaanites, and were victorious over them as they trusted the Lord. Joshua, their leader, after faithful service was ready to go to the Lord, but before doing so, he reminded them of God's promise and the danger of unbelief and sin. Our lesson opens, we find the people in the land, as far as they had taken it. We find:

God's Promise Fulfilled (2:1-24)
The Lord had promised the land to them as they went in and possessed it by faith in Him. He had kept that promise in the past, that they believed Him. They had not taken the whole land, but it was because of their failure, God's.

The story speaks to us. God has given a rich inheritance for the people in Christ, but it must be preceded by faith. How much we have taken out of the riches of His love!

We are also reminded of the absolute faithfulness of God. There is no one in this world in which we may have complete confidence, but we have in God. He has not failed anyone, and He will not fail us.

I. Man's Promise Broken (2:1-24)
The people had solemnly promised to keep God's commandments. The last week's lesson, that promise was renewed in response to Joshua's farewell challenge (see ch. 24:20, 21). They kept their word only as long as those who numbered Joshua were alive, and then they "forsook the Lord."

This fall of Israel has its counterpart in what is taking place in our day. The great mass of people in America were reared in Christian homes. They knew what right, and they live on the spiritual and moral momentum received from their godly parents. The next generation now coming into power, without the benefit of spiritual training in the home, are forsaking the Lord following other gods, the gods of pleasure, of money, of lust.

II. God's Plan of Deliverance (11:1-15)
One would have thought that God would give up a people so set on their own way. He did not. He provided deliverance for Israel. That is our courage, for we know that God has not given us up, but has provided in Christ a sure deliverance—if America will but turn to Him.

For Israel's deliverance God provided judges, who were not only leaders, but, in fact, primary administrators in their work. They were God's men to call Israel back to Him. The repeated failure of backsliding Israel brought acts of mercy on God's part calling out new judges.

It is interesting to note that God works through men. Some of these judges were great men. Others were just ordinary men. But each in his appointed place, at the appointed time, was God's man.

God is looking for men today who will serve Him. He wants brilliant, capable men, but He also wants the ordinary, everyday variety, and as they are faithful, He sees them. Has He called you? Have you responded?

V. God's Presence and Power (11:1-15)
Israel had long been under the oppression of the Midianites, who would sweep over the land and steal their crops and their flocks. Israel called to God for help, and met their need by calling Gideon the fifth of the judges.

Gideon knows better than to call an enemy man, one who is sitting around waiting for opportunity to knock. He seeks out the busy person and sees him more to do.

He notes the entirely adequate provision made for Gideon's success. Surely I will be with thee. That is the promise of the presence and the power of the eternal and omnipotent One.

Gideon at once began the tearing down of the heathen places of worship in his own community. It is the hardest place to start. It is the place where the light must shine first to see that it is brightest at home.

The humility of Gideon as he looked at himself (vs. 15) is commendable. But note that he did not permit it to shut the door of faith, as he believed God and did great exploits for Him. Don't trust yourself, but do trust God!

V. God's Presence and Power (11:1-15)
The government has announced a sweeping revision of the meat price distribution structure designed to ease housewives' financial losses.

Turning Over An Old Leaf

By PHILLIP A. GLADHEIM

*There were faces to remember in the Valley of the Shadow; there were faces to forget; there were faces of grief and fear that are a few forgotten ashes; there were sparks of recognition that are not forgotten yet."

This is another attempt to describe local musical culture of the "fin de siècle." There was an unabated fervor of musical idealism. But his growing fame was to be extinguished by the cold water that poured out of "tin pan alley." The budding artist of that period was nipped by an early frost. The facts of recent musical history prove that hardly any native American artist born in the pre-jazz era survived the deluge of vulgarity. His chances for survival might have been better if the conservatories and teachers had had more discipline and less dilettantism; if American music publishers had found it practical to publish more of the essential and substantial classics of this art. It is of only very recent date that the American artist has learned to be an intimate terms with the classics. In the pre-jazz era then publisher and teacher he was expected to devote good energy on much rubbish that passed for serious music. This sort of thing did not improve taste. So when jazz came out, at least it was down to "grass roots" so far as consistent rhythmic patterns were concerned, even though it was markedly dressed up in a kind of doggerel that started with faint suggestiveness of the lady—and now blatantly indecent.

The serious artists in the old days were moody and confused; today they are mostly cold intellectuals. In the earlier period they were confused for the lack of a standard of musical taste. They had no inherent taste which could distinguish the true from the tripe; they blindly followed the teacher or the critic.

Their moodiness was the result of subjective and effete flights of romanticism. Their emotional life was un-disciplined often to the point that they had no means of identifying their own feelings with the mood of the music. The music was always subject to the personal, erratic moods of the performer.

By reason of immature educational technique and lack of access to the genuine classics the artist of this period was unprepared to compete successfully with the musical diversions of the commercialized, popular composer, teacher, and performer, Tin Pan Alley. The day, those who lived there became rich and famous. Those who preferred to "dwell in marble halls" lived there in terms of compensatory phantasy and resigned to respectable poverty. I believe our native-born American artist could have gone much further in his personal career and would have been distributed in such wise throughout the country as to have influenced taste both in morals and art if he could have sustained something at least approximating Victorian standards.

One of the most humiliating experiences that befalls a man of refinement happens constantly in our democratic process. The rank and file, being in the majority, do not tolerate or suffer the person that would be different. In fact democracy despite its boasting that all are equal sees to it that all individual standards and attainments must be subjected to mass approval. As a people we have not as yet discovered this inherent fallacy. We detect class consciousness as developed on economical levels, and this is good. But it is iniquity to ostracize the individual who prefers a life of refinement and good taste. Particularly in music such an individual, unless financially independent, has not been able to survive.

Even if the genuine artist could have survived he would be daily confronted by the advancement of a charlatan at the expense of his own neglect.

Whether any of these problems were included in the tragedy of Fitzhugh Goldsborough I am not prepared to say. I only know that he was a native-born American artist, a product of the pre-jazz era. The Goldsborough summer home, still being occupied, was directly across from St. Peter's Parochial school. There were several children in the family. I have our personal recollections of this family. One was in connection with Divine Services at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church when it still held its services in the little white chapel on the hill. I recall the placid, rich features of Mrs. Goldsborough as she greeted us after the services outside in the churchyard with the morning sun of 'autumn pouring its golden light thru the whole place. Then I remember one mid-summer evening of going with our family to the Goldsborough home for a musicale. On another occasion two of Fitzhugh's younger brothers showed me several fine bamboo brooms, which they themselves had made. The workmanship was exquisite, and I have never forgotten those brooms. And here was another occasion when the family was present at a musicale, and remember how embarrassed Mrs. Goldsborough looked when she reported that Fitzhugh refused to perform, excusing him on the ground that he was preparing for a concert. Fitzhugh stayed out in the kitchen. There was as much disturbance as though the cat had let the pans clatter; instead it was the catgut of the violin competing with our voices.

Professor Thiede used to rave about him as one of the coming great violinists of the world. Prof. Thiede should have known. I wonder how many of the old-timers, who might still remember Prof. Thiede who taught here in the summers, know that he came to America with Jenny Lind?

Jenny Lind made her American debut in New York in 1848, at the Castle Garden, now the Aquarium located at the tip of Manhattan Island. It is presumed he was one of the teachers of Fitzhugh Goldsborough. Prof. Thiede owned a genuine Stradivarius. This was the violin he brought with him to America. When summering in Oakland he often would go to the home of the Rasche's and play by the hour. Here in this home he had an audience that went into raptures over his music. Before Mrs. Rasche died she purchased this Strad from Thiede and presented it to her son Leo, who owns it to this day.

But to return to Fitzhugh. He is known to have practiced six hours each day. He once gave a recital, after unusual persuasion, in the old Shartzer Opera House (now Hinebaugh's Restaurant building). And also once performed in connection with Chautauqua at Mt. Lake Park. One who attended his concert in the Shartzer Opera House has said: "I remember that recital as one of the great thrills of my life at that time. He had everything in tone, magnificent execution and rare artistry."

Later he was with the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra. But a growing eccentricity which manifested itself particularly in his Pittsburgh Orchestra days finally reached its climax in tragedy.

One of the famous writers of that day was David Graham Phillips, the American novelist and short-story writer. Phillips had become a best-seller; his stories very frequently appearing in the top-ranking magazines such as the Saturday Evening Post and others. As I recall the "cause celebre," there was a story running in the Post dealing with Washington life. In it he singled out some of the society girls. Fitzhugh believed these fictitious characters to have been modeled on his sisters and thought the author was in this protective way ridiculing his own family. Another story is that Fitzhugh imagined himself a great novelist and could not endure an imagined rival. Whatever the real reason was for the tragedy—no one seems to know. All we know is that one

Revival Scheduled

An old-fashioned revival meeting will be held in the Mount Bethel United Brethren church, three miles east of Deer Park, beginning April 28, at 8 p.m. It was announced by Rev. C. W. Fraker, pastor, of McHenry. Services will continue at least ten days.

morning as David Graham Phillips was leaving the Princeton Club in Gramercy Park, N. Y., Fitzhugh stepped up to him, and without a word deliberately shot him with a revolver, then shot himself.

Though such a tragedy destroyed two gifted men, brought grief to the respective circles of families and friends, it carried with it very deep implications respecting personal, individual honor. It is this feeling about high honor that was associated with the old morals and its refined expression in the arts. The cultured men of today, with very few exceptions, is incapable of feeling honor as an intrinsic "sine qua non" in his personality. Instead his sense of honor is entirely a speculative matter in terms of fame, reputation, notoriety. He is a happy, contented person only when his name stays consistently among the headlines. This is the honor he seeks—As to personal honor what has that to do with success? For a more detailed appreciation of this period I would recommend that you read "David Graham Phillips 'His Life and Times,'" published by Dood Mead and Co., N. Y., 1932 by Isaac Marcossens.

One cannot escape the conclusion that our artistic standards are very closely associated with our morals. No great art, no great spiritual life can hope to be achieved apart from a high sense of personal honor and with it a noble destiny. It is not too much to expect of this present generation, especially those who are conditioned by birth and training, wherein fortunately the classics and sound educational practice are combined, that they will forsake Tin Pan Alley and re-enter the colorful galleries and "marble halls" of the ancient muse. If this occurs America will yet see its own creative talent receive the recognition of genius. Already some have made the grade, notably the soprano Eleanor Steber, a Wheeling girl. Yet when she gave a concert at Mt. Lake Park a few summers ago the local citizens were pre-occupied with a cocktail party. Judging from Steber's inexpressible reception it must be admitted that along with a more mature native art we are still plagued with the banal taste of the public.

United Air Lines is seeking permission to serve Cumberland. Four other concerns have also filed.

PIPING HOT DISHES!
ARE TASTIER
—MORE HEALTHFUL

WHAT? You doubt that statement? Oh, sure! Theoretically you may get as many calories, minerals and vitamins from cold as from hot food. But ask any boy, fresh from a cold, snow-filled fox hole what he'd have given for a piping hot meal. Because rib-sticking, nutritious hot food is more pleasing, it's better for you. Cook it with electricity to reduce shrinkage and to save valuable minerals and vitamins.

No Easy Road Back

THERE IS SO much loose talk in political circles about the "right to a job" that it has become almost meaningless. "Rights" have become confused with "opportunities." The United States Constitution and Bill of Rights guarantee every citizen fundamental rights that make him a free man to enjoy the opportunity to go as far as he can, based on his ability, ambition and energy. Beyond that, government owes a free man nothing, except if he is destitute or mentally deficient, or handicapped in ways beyond his control. Government should then provide satisfactory means for his care and comfort—that is what government is for. But to try to fool the people with the idea that the government owes a man a living and can create and maintain countless millions of jobs, without destroying a free country, is plain hypocrisy.

Vote-seeking politicians are trying to make millions of war workers think a benign government can take over all their intricate troubles after the war. Within reason, a government can widen the "opportunities" whereby men can have jobs, recreation and high wages. The extent to which one takes advantage of opportunities, depends upon the will and purpose of the individual. As government or anyone else can expand "opportunities," the chances for advancement in living standards are greater, but in no sense are such benefits "rights" to which anyone is entitled, without respect to his own effort to obtain them.

History has shown that when the people of any nation depend on government to do their thinking and providing for them, it is only a short time before they lose their ambition, their initiative and their freedom. There will be no easy road to full employment and prosperity after this destructive war. Only a people who will work and save and do not look to government for handouts, will survive and retain their personal liberties.

People Are Generous In Giving Clothing

Extension Of Time Proved Profitable For Lions Club Committee, In Charge Of Collection

Local participation in the National Clothing Collection draws to a close with ample evidence of the generosity and thoughtfulness of our county people, according to Rev. Minor Sprague, chairman of the Lions' Club Committee sponsoring the collection. He estimated that almost as much good, useable clothing and bedding was donated this week as last, so that the extension of time was quite profitable.

Members of the Lions' Club met at Rudy's warehouse Monday night, and again Tuesday, to continue sorting, packing and labeling the goods for shipment. This work will be completed tonight, after which the sixty-odd large cartons will be delivered to the railroad for delivery to a district reshipping point.

It is impossible to estimate, as yet, the total weight of clothing collected, according to those working on the project, but it is large, and will be reported next week.

Although the sponsoring group took responsibility only for its own communities, Mt. Lake Park and Oakland, some other communities and the countryside requested permission to send in clothing through this group rather than to set up their own organizations. Consequently donations have been received through all local schools, and from Friendsville and Accident. Truckers have been generous to stop on call at country stores and schools to pick up accumulations of donated articles.

The committee asks that no more clothing be sent to collection centers, as it has no way to store it or send it on. People who did not get their donations in time are requested to save them for a possible call in the autumn. It is suggested, also, that everyone keep such a possibility in mind and begin putting aside in a container anything that may be of use to others less fortunate, so that they will be more fortunate when the time comes.

Weather Remains Cold

May was ushered into Garrett county with two inches of snow, as the seasons continue to appear somewhat mixed. With April weather in March and vice versa for April, it is difficult to predict what will transpire in May.

There have been heavy frosts during the past week, and on Wednesday morning the thermometers showed readings of from 20 to 25 degrees. One or two frozen radiators in automobiles were reported.

Providing there was any fruit remaining at that time, farmers were of the opinion that there is none now.

VOLUME 69.

OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND, MAY 3, 1945.

NUMBER 10.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL PROVIDING FOR NEW SCHOOL

Authorizes County Commissioners to Levy $219,000 From 1946 To 1951 For OHS and Others

Governor Herbert R. O'Connor has signed three Garrett county measures introduced by Garrett county legislators during the recent session of the Maryland Assembly, the principal one authorizing the county commissioners to levy a total of $219,000 for the years 1946 to 1951, inclusive, for the purpose of erecting certain new school buildings in Garrett county and for the acquisition of any site or sites necessary therefor, and authorizing the commissioners to borrow money, under certain conditions.

Senate bill 429 stipulates that the money shall be used exclusively for the following purposes:

1. $200,000 for acquisition of site and for erection of new high school building at Oakland, 2. $20,000 for the acquisition of site and for erection of addition to Friendsville public schools, 3. $15,000 for the acquisition of site and for erection of addition to the Grantsville public schools, 5. $10,000 for the acquisition of site and for erection of addition to the Accident public schools, 6. $9,000 for the acquisition of site and erection of an addition to the Bloomington public schools.

The two other measures signed were House Bill 678 and House Bill 814.

HB 678—An act to transfer $2,000 levied by Chapter 129 of the Acts of 1941 for a school building at Hutton, Garrett county, to the Oakland high school new building fund.

HB 814—Increases the allowance for expenses of Garrett county sheriff, increases present allowance of $600 to $750 a year.

Wants Second Trout Hatchery In This Area

Establishment of a trout hatchery in Allegany or Garrett county was suggested Monday evening at a largely attended meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, in Frostburg, as a solution to the need for stocking the trout streams of the two counties annually to provide sport for the hundreds of fishermen in this section.

Ralph Miller, superintendent of the Bear Creek rearing ponds in this county, stated the supply of young trout sent to him by the state is much less than he receives from the federal government. Miller added that both are wholly insufficient to stock the streams of the two counties properly.

A. C. Stewart declared Miller and Regional Game Warden Joseph Minke had the confidence of sportsmen in this area but stated they were not receiving full cooperation of some state game commission employees, including Frank L. Bentz, competitive assistant, and Albert Powell, state fish culturist.

The association passed a resolution urging Governor O'Connor to use his influence in having a trout hatchery placed in one of the two counties.

Is Thanked For Sweater

Mrs. James Fazzalari has received the thanks and appreciation of a soldier for a knitted sweater which she knitted some time ago for the American Red Cross. The letter came from Pfc. Fred McBride, with an infantry unit in Germany and was written on March 3.

He wrote: "received through the Red Cross the sweater that bears your name. It is very fine to help combat cold weather. We are compelled to endure, I am nineteen and have been in service 20 months. My home is Blair, Nebraska, near Omaha." He added his thanks and appreciation for the gift.

The sweater completed by Mrs. Fazzalari is one of many such articles sent through the Red Cross from this area for use of men in the service. Sometimes letters have been received by Mrs. E. Z. Tower, Red Cross chairman, from men who have received these articles.

Awarded Bronze Star

Sgt. Carl "Dutch" Wolf has been awarded the bronze star and the bronze oak leaf cluster for leading assault boats across the Pasig river in South Manila during the battle for that city, it has been announced.

Sgt. Wolf also has received the purple heart award for wounds he received in this operation.

30-34 Age Group Will Be Called

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, State Selective Service Director, said that within a month Maryland's draft boards would begin to call a large number of the 68,680 registrants between 30 and 34.

He said it would be necessary to call these men because the procedure of certifying registrants for deferment had advanced to the point that most men under 30 had been considered.

He recalled that certification for deferment was effected under three age groups—18-30, 30-34 and 34-38—with stringencies in requirements relaxing as the age increased.

The colonel said that although draft boards were able during May to fill approximately 83 percent of their calls with inductees under 30, that age group was practically eliminated.

Immunization Clinics Continue in Schools

The series of immunization clinics, arranged by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer, which began Tuesday, May 1, are continuing in the various schools.

They are for the purpose of immunizing children between the ages of six months and six years against diphtheria and smallpox.

The schedule includes:

Friday, May 4—Corunna, 10 a.m., Steyer, 1 p.m.

Monday, May 7—Jennings, 9:30 a.m.; Manadier Ridge, 10; Bear Hill, 10:30; Casselman, 11; Fairview, 1:30 p.m.

Thursday, May 10—Mt. Lake Park, 1:15 p.m.; Loch Lynn, 2:30; West Vindes, 1:30; East Hawk, 2:45; Friendsville, 10 a.m.

Friday, May 11—Wilson, 10 a.m.; North Glade, 1:30 p.m.; Frankville, 2:30; Oakland Elementary, 1:15; St. Peter's, 2:15; Crellin, 3.

Monday, May 17—Mt. Zion, 9:30 a.m.; Bethel, 11; Black Hawk, 1:30 p.m.; Bethlehem, 10:30 a.m.

Church Services On V-E Day Are Planned

Services of worship and thanksgiving are to be conducted in all churches in Oakland on the evening of Victory day in Europe, it has been announced.

Rev. George D. Birk and Rev. Minor Sprague, pastors of St. Mark's Lutheran and St. Paul's Methodist churches, respectively, had previously announced that their congregations would unite in a service at the Methodist church, but this arrangement has been changed as it is believed so many people will want to celebrate V-E day in an appropriate manner that no one church would hold them all.

The service as planned will be duplicated for presentation in both of the churches. Invitations are extended to all clubs, fraternal organizations, the American Legion and other civic bodies to attend one of the services.

Services in the Lutheran and Methodist churches will begin at 7:30 p.m., following official announcement that hostilities have ended in Europe. The announcement will be the occasion for the ringing of church bells and the opening of churches immediately for prayer and meditation preceding the public services.

Rev. Austin F. Schildwachter announced there would also be a service in the Episcopal church and St. Peter's Catholic church will also have special masses. It is expected that in all churches throughout the county there will be some special observance of the event.

ROTARY CLUB OFFICERS

The board, following the meeting of the club organized by the election of Dr. E. L. Baumgartner, president; Marie Frantz, vice-president; Prentice DeBerry, secretary; Cecil W. Smith, treasurer.

Mr. DeBerry, as secretary, succeeds W. O. Davis, who has executed the duties of secretary ever since the club has been in existence. Mr. Davis devoted much of his time in arranging for the weekly programs which always proved instructive and entertaining.

The newly elected officers will take their places as such on July first, the beginning of the Rotary year.

Program For Summer Activities Are Planned

Activities Committee For Mountain Lake Park And Oakland Outlines Events For The Summer Season

A program of events for the Mountain Lake Park-Oakland area, for the summer season, was agreed upon at a meeting of the executive committee in Clarksburg, West Va., on Sunday, April 22.

The opening event will be an informal dance on Wednesday, July 4, at Mt. Lake Park.

Other scheduled events are: Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club's junior tennis tournament, July 16 to July 23, on the club tennis courts.

Resumption of Western Maryland Tennis tournament, on club courts, August 15 through August 18.

Annual tennis week dance, Saturday, August 18, at Mt. Lake Hotel.

Final dance, Saturday, September 1, Mt. Lake Hotel.

J. P. Beacom, chairman, who announced the program, said all dates were firm, with exception of the golf tournament, and that steps were being taken to have the bowling alleys in the Park Community Center repaired immediately for use this summer.

The program will be printed in folder form for distribution after golf dates have been firmly established.

Those attending the Clarksburg meeting besides Chairman and Mrs. Beacom were Mr. and Mrs. George Deacon, Washington; Mrs. James Holloway, Wheeling; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rapp, Clarksburg; Ralph E. Weber, Oakland; Frank Wright, Jr., of Washington, and Mayor H. L. Bittner, of Mountain Lake Park.

Another meeting of the Activities Committee will be held, probably on Decoration Day, at Mt. Lake Hotel, when final arrangements for the 1945 season will be made, and at which time other committee members from Oakland, Deep Creek Lake and Mountain Lake Park will attend.

Members of the committee were of the opinion that the schedule would eventually lead to bigger and better events in this area and that the activities would have a tendency to increase the number of summer visitors in this county.

Awarded Bronze Star

T. Ernest K. Hauser, of the 419th armored field artillery battalion, 10th armored division, 7th army, has been awarded the Bronze star medal somewhere in Germany.

Hauser is a nephew of Clayton Frazer, of Friendsville. The citation reads:

"For heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States in Luxembourg on December 20, 1944. During the defense of Berdorf, Luxembourg, the communication line from the artillery observation tank to the forward observation post was severed by enemy fire. Technician Fourth Grade Hauser voluntarily left the safety of his tank and despite a constant hostile rocket and artillery barrage, traced the wire to the break and repaired it. During the remainder of the day, he repaired three more breaks in the line under similar circumstances, maintaining continuous communication. The integrity and unswerving devotion to duty displayed by this courageous tank commander reflect great credit upon himself and the military forces of the United States. Entered the military service from Maryland."

Hauser was listed last week as being slightly wounded in action on April 2, in Germany.

Wounded in Action

Among the soldiers named in government casualty messages which appeared this week were two from this area wounded in action.

Pfc. Oliver H. Miller, of Kempton, a son of Charles Miller, was wounded in Germany on April 8, while Pfc. Charles F. Morris, of Bayard, W. Va., a son of Mrs. Lydia E. Morris, was wounded in the European area.

Mr. Miller has four other sons in the armed forces.

Wounded in Action

S. Sgt. M. J. Murphy, with an infantry unit, was wounded in Germany on April 6, and is now in a hospital in France.

He is a son of Mrs. Etta Murphy, of Deer Park.

Hundred Partridges Released in County

One hundred Chukar partridges were released in Garrett county in the past few days, while eighty were released in Allegany county, it was announced by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Minke released the birds in Allegany while Francis Ruge, district game warden, had charge of the 100 birds in this county.

The Chukar partridge is originally an Egyptian bird adapted to high mountain ranges and was imported and raised on the state game farm. The average weight of the birds released here was fifteen ounces. A very attractive bird, the Chukar has a red-barred breast, buff back, red bill, red eyes and red legs. Forty-seven were reported killed in the two counties last year.

Approximately 200 Bob White quail will be sent to this area for distribution about May 1, Minke said.

Talks on Building The Peace Planned

By Homemakers Clubs

Meetings Next Thursday And Friday to be Open to the Public; A. B. Hamilton to Speak

A series of talks on "Building the Peace," has been arranged by the Homemakers clubs of the county, and Mrs. Robert T. Hoffman, home demonstration agent, with meetings open to the public scheduled for Grantsville, Oakland and Kitzmiller.

The speaker will be A. B. Hamilton, agriculture economist, University of Maryland, who has made a study of the conferences at Bretton Woods, Hot Springs, Mexico City, Dumbarton Oaks, and the one now in progress at San Francisco.

Members of the Homemakers clubs of the county have been conducting a peace program as part of their schedule for the past five years, studying different countries in their meetings and last year making a study of the Atlantic Charter, and the countries of Alaska, China and Burma. It was in connection with their peace and international relations program that Mr. Hamilton was obtained for the series of talks.

Mrs. Hoffman announced the schedule as follows:

Grantsville, Thursday evening, May 10, 8 o'clock, general meeting, open to the public.

Friday, May 11, at 11:15 a.m. in Oakland High school, mainly for students; at 2:30 p.m. in Kitzmiller High school, open to both students and townspeople; at 8 o'clock p.m. in the social room of the Methodist church at Oakland, open to the public.

Mr. Hamilton is of the opinion that a lasting peace cannot be won but must be built, and that the conferences have been leading in that direction, with the actual building of the organization for peace reserved for the San Francisco conference.

In his talks here next week he will expand on the basic principles involved; that peace can be maintained only by nations banding together for that purpose; great powers must employ their power justly and in unity for peace; to suppress war is not enough but must build peace; as peace becomes more secure armament should be reduced.

RALPH WENSEL DIES AS RESULT OF RIFLE WOUND

Eighteen-Year-Old Youth Accidentally Shot Sunday Afternoon; Died Yesterday In Keyser Hospital

Ralph Wensel, 18, died in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, West Va., yesterday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock as the result of a bullet wound accidentally inflicted Sunday afternoon while he and five other youths were engaged in shooting at Mark and into the waters of Wilson Lake on the town property at the north edge of Oakland.

A .22-caliber bullet, fired by one of the youths struck the surface of the water at a low angle and ricocheted into the body of young Wensel above his right hip, piercing the intestines and stomach and also striking his liver.

When the other youths in the party, William Hesen, Robert Stanton, Jack Teets, Douglas Dawson and Karl Kahl, realized that he had actually been shot, they immediately brought him to the office of Dr. E. L. Baumgartner, who had him sent to the Keyser hospital. Arriving there an immediate operation was performed in an effort to stop the internal bleeding and to extract the bullet.

For three days his life hung in the balance as frequent blood transfusions were effected in order to bolster his resistance and replenish the supply that continually seeped from the wounds. Carlton Bowser, Jack Teets and Douglas Dawson all gave transfusions and William Hesen went to Keyser yesterday for the same purpose, but surgeons by that time had succeeded in stopping the bleeding, and although in a very critical condition it was thought he had a fair chance to recover.

As soon as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wensel, who reside on their farm two miles south of Oakland, were informed of the occurrence, they were driven to Keyser by Carlton Bowser, a neighbor. Mrs. Wensel remained there with her son. A sister, Mrs. Eugene Dunbar, who had just graduated from South Baltimore General Hospital as a nurse, also came to Keyser to assist.

One brother, Flight Officer Walter Howard Wensel, with the Army Air Corps at Avon Park, Fla., arrived in Oakland on a ten-day furlough. Another brother, S. Sgt. Lawrence Wensel, is in the Army Air Corps in India.

Other brothers and sisters are Dorthea, Gladys, Floyd and Donald Wensel, all at home.

Ralph was graduated from Oakland High school in June, 1943, and has been assisting his father in farm work. He was a member of St. Mark's Lutheran church in Oakland.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Belden Funeral Home, with Rev. George D. Birk, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiating. Interment will be in the Oakland cemetery.

4-H Potato Club For Boys Is Formed Here

County-Wide Organization Of County-wide Group Announced By Assistant Farm Agent

Organization of a countywide potato club for 4-H club boys in Garrett county has been announced by Joseph M. Steger, assistant farm agent for Allegany and Garrett counties.

The club was organized under the direction of Steger and Dr. R. A. Jehle, plant pathologist of the University of Maryland, who is in charge of the DeBerry experimental farm in Garrett county.

Experiments with potatoes and efforts to develop new varieties are conducted at the DeBerry farm and that program is being tied in with the activities of the potato club, Steger explained.

No Charge for Potatoes

Potatoes developed to a satisfactory degree at the experimental farm will be given without charge to members of the club as seed potatoes for growing. Club members are required, however, to return an equal amount of potatoes to the farm once the crop is harvested.

Steger pointed out that members of the club will grow the potatoes on either a certification or commercial basis. If they are grown on a certification basis, potatoes will be inspected for certification by the state pathologist or by the Garrett county agent without charge.

Certification growing also requires a different method of planting from commercial growing according to the club program, Steger said.

Potato Supply Problem

Organization of the new club was effected with ten members and Steger said there is a possibility a few more members will be added to the roster. The greatest problem, he added, is in obtaining enough potatoes to distribute to the members for growing.

Dr. Jehle and Steger already have visited each of the ten club members and the former recommended to each one the variety of potatoes to be grown.

Members of Club

Members of the club growing on the certification basis and the variety of potato they expect to grow include Calvin and Fred Harvey, Swanton, Sequoia, Potomac and No. 47148 (newly developed potatoes are not named until their qualities are proved); until that time they are known by numbers; Glen Schlossnagle, Accident, Monroeville (recently developed and named scab resistant variety); Robert Kuhl, Accident, Potomac; Jack Turney, Accident, Potomac; Louis Schlossnagle, Friendsville, Pontee (a pink potato); Jack Lehr, Mt. Lake, Potomac; and Arthur Lohr, Mt. Lake, Potomac.

Members who will grow on a commercial basis and the variety of potato they plan to grow include Edwin Savage, McHenry, Rurals or Potomacs and Elwood Bowser, Accident, Rurals.

Scoop's Column

Before any reader discovers the error and calls my attention to it, I want to correct it myself. Harry S. Truman is the thirty-third president of the United States, and the late President Roosevelt was the thirty-second. Copying from a news story from the daily papers at the time of his death, it was stated in The Republican of April 10 that the 31st president was dead to rest.

The 31st president was Herbert Hoover, the only former president still alive.

A news columnist made a remark several days ago which should be remembered from now on:

"As far as measuring the intellectual capacity of men I venture to suggest that this very day, wherever you may be, there are probably several men known or unknown, within a few miles of you, whose intellect, knowledge, temperament and morality are the equal of any man who has ever been president."

A news dispatch received a few weeks ago was written by Dick Turpin, a staff sergeant in Italy. It was his ancestry was looked into you'd probably find he was related to Mrs. Wines of the Cabbage Patch!

When the commander in chief of the veterans of foreign wars asked his niece what her war job was in Washington, she replied:

"I work in the data-analysis group at the antitrust department of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. I am in charge of the division of occupational analysis and maintenance of the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the War Manpower Commission."

Civilian letter supply will be below 1943-44.

Congratulations . . .

... to Miss Anna Jarvis on your eighty-first birthday anniversary, Tuesday, May 1st. When you designated the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day in Grafton, West Virginia, in honor and review the outstanding accomplishments of your Mother in honor of her "Mother's Work" organization established prior to the Civil War and her "Mother's Friendship Day" to re-unite the families split by the Civil War, it must have been a wonderful sight to see the boys in blue and the boys in gray meet, shake hands and say, "Let's be good neighbors and friends again." Miss Anna Jarvis, you have the profound gratitude of every mother, son, daughter and father for establishing Mother's Day in honor of the best Mother who ever lived . . . our own Mother, the Mother of our heart.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE BUREAU MONARCHY AT ITS HEIGHT

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 9:1-7, 26, 10:26-28, 11:4, 11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord—Psalm 33:12.

Keeping up with the neighbors is not always a desirable thing, but both men and nations do it. When the last judge, Samuel, had become old, Israel began to demand a king like the nations round about them. Although the rejection of his direct rule over them through his chosen men was a sad development, God permitted them to choose a king. Saul, their first king, was evidently selected for his appearance and his physical superiority. He began well, in dependence upon God, but came to a tragic end because of sin.

David, who followed Saul, had his failings, but was essentially a man after God's own heart. He wanted to build a temple for God, but because he was a man of war, God decreed that his son, Solomon, who succeeded him, was to build it.

With the reign of Solomon, and especially with the building of the temple, the monarchy in Israel reached its highest development—only, to go down to disaster.

Our lesson opens after the remarkable fine prayer with which Solomon dedicated the temple.

I. Dedication Accepted (9:1-3).
God was pleased with Solomon's intelligent and spiritual prayer and the act of dedication, and He allowed the house of the Lord by putting His name on it and assuring them of His continual presence.

It is a delightful thing that God is willing to accept at the hands of a man the dedication of either himself or his possessions for God's glory. The Lord is Maker of heaven and earth and surely has no need of what we have. And yet He does have need of it, and is ready to use it as we present it to Him.

Our act of dedication results in His act of acceptance and consecration of our talents, our time, our money, or our goods for His glorious service. But God expects His people to continue in devotion to Him if they are to have His continued presence and blessing.

II. Consecration Expected (9:4-7).
The throne of David was to remain in the lineage of Solomon as long as he and the people of Israel walked uprightly before God. He expects obedience to His commandments, and apart from it He cannot give His blessing.

Note the faithfulness of God. No man would ever have introduced such a note of solemn portent and of warning into an occasion which seemed all gladness and light. Prosperity was at its height. The king was in favor with both God and man. Into that picture of success and grandeur God paints with bold strokes a great and striking "IF." It is presumption to think that we can coast along on past attainments or former piety. If we are to be used and blessed of God tomorrow and the day after, we must look to our consecration to Him and our obedience to His will.

III. Possessions Glorified (9:26; 10:26-28).
We read in 10:23 that "King Solomon exceeded all kings of the earth in riches and wisdom." He had reached the pinnacle. The Chinese have a proverb, "The man who stands on the pinnacle has nowhere to step but off."

It need not have been a snare for Solomon to be rich if he had maintained his simple faith in God, but the temptations brought in by heathen wives who he foolishly married, coupled with the deceitfulness of riches (Matt. 13:22), soon led him into the downward path.

The almost unbelievable riches of Solomon could have been used for the glory of God, but instead they were an end in themselves.

When money takes the ruling hand in a man's life, he loses out spiritually. His life becomes an empty farce; his soul can be satisfied with only more and more gold.

Solomon was soon led into the folly of turning to the worship of heathen gods. Little wonder that we find:

IV. Judgment Decried (11:4, 11).
It would seem that a man who knows the Lord should grow in grace and become even more intimate with God as he grows old. One might expect that the passing of years should mellow and sweeten life. But sad to say, it is often not the case.

"When Solomon was old," he went after false gods. How tragic! Little wonder that one of the saintliest men this writer ever knew prayed constantly as he went on into his eighties, "Lord, keep me from ever becoming a wicked old man." Older old men and women (yes, and all of us) could well pray the same prayer.

So it became necessary for God to wrest the kingdom out of the hands of the great Solomon, and Israel goes on to its history of a people divided, of disobedience to God, and of ultimate judgment. Of that we shall see more in the weeks just ahead.

With the arrival in the Park of Mrs. June D. Grimes and Mrs. Lillian Davis to open the Mt. Lake Hotel for the season, we should say that the Park is getting off to an early start. Practically all cottages are taken, and we again predict a "boom" season.

Berlin Largest City Conquered In Any Struggle

Berlin is the largest city ever conquered in thousands of years of human struggle. Its twelve-day siege was among the most savage and bloody in man's history.

The city which was to have ruled the world for 1,000 years sprawled over 341 square miles of Germany's Brandenburg plains. Today this vast area—a wasteland of crumbled stone and ashes—stood as a monument to the death of Nazi Germany and the might of Allied arms.

Tokyo's Days Numbered

This was the greatest city of Continental Europe—the fourth largest city in the world. Only Tokyo, the world's third biggest metropolis, remained as a greater potential prize for the Allies in their war against aggression. And Tokyo's days were numbered.

In pre-war days, 4,355,000 persons toiled in Berlin, then one of Europe's mightiest industrial and commercial centers. Today the survivors roamed its desolate streets in search of food and water.

The fall of Berlin was comparable to the collapse of ancient Rome. It marked the end of an epoch—the end of Adolf Hitler's "new world order." Rome dominated Europe for hundreds of years. For only twenty-four fleeting months in world history did Berlin rule the continent. In those flush, victorious days of Nazism, Berlin held twenty-two capitals under its sway.

Moscow Held Out

The desire of Berlin's Nazi masters to swallow one more capital was the city's undoing. Moscow proved unconquerable. Leningrad, too, refused to capitulate and London, greater by far than Berlin, was saved from German plunder when it fought off the terror of the Luftwaffe.

Berlin's fate was sealed when the Russians swore to avenge Stalingrad. The night of the Soviet Union swept the German conquerors back to their capital—1,500 miles from the farthest point of Nazi penetration into the Caucasus.

The Red army burst into Berlin April 21—two years, two months and nineteen days after the German tide turned at Stalingrad. The Soviets had swept through eight other European capitals. They found Berlin's monumental public buildings, constructed to last hundreds of years, largely destroyed from the 77,000 tons of bombs rained on the city in 301 British and American air raids.

12-Day Street Battle

There followed a twelve-day street battle unequalled in history. The Russians poured thousands of shells into the city, jammed with 2,000,000 Berliners not evacuated and perhaps 500,000 or more Nazi troops. What had remained standing under Allied bombing was destroyed.

Yard by yard the Russians battered through the wrecked streets, struggled in the depths of Berlin's fifty-mile subway system, battled in the city's sewers, fought from rooftops and were shot in the back by Nazi troops masquerading as civilians.

Nazi fanatics shoved guns into the hands of women and children, thrust pistols in the backs of their own troops who wished to surrender.

Three years, ten months and seven days after Hitler's legions invaded the Soviet Union, the victorious Russians raised their Red flag over the gutted shell of the Reichstag, the burning of which the Nazis used as an excuse for seizing dictatorial power.

President's Proclamation . .

Following is the text of President Truman's proclamation announcing the unconditional surrender of the German armed forces:

THIS IS A SOLEMN but a glorious hour. General Eisenhower informs me that the forces of Germany have surrendered to the United Nations. The flags of freedom fly over all Europe.

I only wish that Franklin D. Roosevelt had lived to witness this day.

For this victory we join in offering our thanks to the Providence which has guided and sustained us through the dark days of adversity.

Our rejoicing is sobered and subdued by a supreme consciousness of the terrible price we have paid to rid the world of Hitler and his evil band.

Let us not forget, my fellow Americans, the sorrow and heartbreak which today abide in the homes of so many of our neighbors—neighbors whose most precious possession has been rendered as a sacrifice to redeem our liberty.

We can repay the debt which we owe to our God, to our dead and to our children only by work—by ceaseless devotion to the responsibilities which lie ahead of us. If I could give you a single watchword for the coming months that word is — work, work, work.

We must work to finish the war. Our victory is but half won. The west is free, but the east is still in bondage to the treacherous tyranny of the Japanese. When the last Japanese division has surrendered unconditionally, then only will our fighting job be done.

We must work to bind up the wounds of a suffering world—to build an abiding peace, a peace rooted in justice and in law. We can build such a peace only by hard, toilsome, painstaking (Continued on Page Four)

Giessman Loses Suit Filed Against County

Judgment Is Entered By Judge Mish In Hagerstown In Favor Of County; Appeal Taken

The suit brought by Blaine Giessman, former County Commissioner, against the County Commissioners of Garrett County to recover on a number of orders issued to him just before his term of office expired, came to an end in the Circuit Court for Washington County on Saturday last, when judgment was entered in favor of the defendant and an appeal taken by Giessman's attorneys. The case was removed to Hagerstown from this county and had been pending for several months. The appeal will doubtless be heard during the October term of the Court of Appeals.

In the suit, Giessman claimed a total of $27,562.50 as being due him from Garrett County. Of this, $320.00 was based upon unpaid orders for expenses incurred while on trips made by Giessman to Baltimore in the latter part of 1942. Various items for tips, cigars, drinks, shoe shines and slaves appeared in these bills which although approved by some of the former County Commissioners were rejected by the present board and the orders held up. The greater part of the claim, $27,242.50, arose out of orders on which Giessman contends the county was indebted to his father, the late George Giessman, former County Treasurer. At a special meeting attended only by Commissioners Giessman and Cheston H. Browning in November, 1942, according to the records, this claim was recognized by them as a valid claim against the county, although it alleged to have arisen about the year 1920, and at the last meeting of that board in December, 1942, orders were issued to Giessman for the original principal amounting to $11,667.05 and interest of $15,575.45. The orders were not presented to the County Treasurer for payment and were outstanding when the present board came into office, when they were promptly repudiated.

On behalf of the defendant County Commissioners, pleas to the suit were filed denying that the county owed the money and alleging that it had been definitely settled in a suit between the County Commissioners and George Giessman and the surety on his bond, Maryland Casualty Company, in 1927, that Giessman was indebted to the county to the extent of more than $5000.00 and that he had been given full credit for the alleged orders at that time, and furthermore that George Giessman had shortly thereafter taken the benefit of the bankruptcy law and there could not have been any valid assignment of his alleged claim to Blaine Giessman. To this defense, Giessman's attorneys filed a replication alleging that the action of the Giessman board in recognizing the claim and issuing the new orders constituted a valid acknowledgment of the claim and further that George Giessman did not know, at the time of the former suit, that the original orders were outstanding or had been charged to his account and that they were likewise not barred by age or by the bankruptcy proceeding.

To this replication, the attorneys for the County Commissioners, E. Ray Jones, of Oakland, and Robert H. McCauley, of Hagerstown, demurred and contended that the same was not a sufficient answer to the defense filed by them. This was sustained by Judge Mish but leave given until April 20th to file amended papers. At that time, Giessman's attorney, Charles G. Watson, of Cumberland, refused to file a new replication and judgment was accordingly entered in favor of the county, and an appeal taken by Mr. Watson, as above stated.

Involved, also, in the suit was a counter claim filed by the County Commissioners for a refund from Giessman alleged to have been improperly collected by him from the county as items of expense on trips to Baltimore and elsewhere after his defeat in the primary of 1942. A large amount of this represented charges for hair cuts, shoe shines, shaves, cigars, etc., which the present County Commissioners considered improper charges against the county funds. The action of the Court in entering judgment on the rule for failure of the plaintiff, Giessman, to amend his pleadings leaves this claim without final decision.

Death Is Accidental

Following an official investigation yesterday afternoon before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch, the death of Ralph Wensel, 18, was declared to be accidental. Investigation of fatal accidents is now held before magistrates as the result of a recent law which eliminates coroner's inquests.

Wensel died on Wednesday, May 2, in Potomac Valley hospital, Keyser, as the result of a bullet wound accidentally inflicted on Sunday afternoon, April 29, while he and five other youths were engaged in shooting at mark and into the waters of Wilson Lake, at the north edge of town.

Funeral services for the young man were conducted last Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Bolden Funeral Home, with Rev. George D. Birk, pastor of the Lutheran church, and Rev. C. A. Shille, of Lanesville, Pa., and former pastor here, officiating. Interment was in Oakland cemetery.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wensel, south of town.

Bicycles Are Stolen

There has been a series of bicycle thefts from houses along State Road, north of town.

The last person to lose one was Ruth Hauser, who had her wheel taken last Saturday night from her back porch. The porch was screened and the door locked, and it was necessary for the thief to remove one of the screens.

Recently Mary Lee and Elizabeth Snouse had their bicycle taken from a side porch. Residents in that section have also heard prowlers upon several occasions.

It was also reported that some person or persons forced the Alder door on the Lohm house on Alder street several nights ago but were apparently frightened away before breaking into the house.

V-E Day Is Observed

Victory in Europe was celebrated on Tuesday in Garrett county by the closing of schools, special church services and the closing of business places. The only places remaining open were the postoffices and banks.

Immediately after President Truman's official announcement that the war in Europe had ended, business places closed their doors, the fire siren gave its resounding blast and some of the church bells rang.

The schools in Oakland laid plans for a parade which took place at 11 o'clock, with the Oakland band and all school children participating. The fire siren continued its blasts at regular intervals throughout the day.

At 7:30 o'clock there were services of thanksgiving in the Oakland churches, with hundreds of individuals attending.

City Tax Rate For Oakland Is 70 Cents

Represents Increase of 10 Cents On Each $100 Of Assessable Property Over Last Year

Oakland's city tax rate for 1945 will be 70 cents on each $100 of assessable property, a raise of ten cents over last year, it was announced following a meeting of the Mayor and City Council on Monday evening.

During the past twelve years the rate has averaged 62½ cents, with the rate being 70 cents in 1940, '41 and '42. In fixing the rate for this year at 70 cents, members of the council pointed out that lost revenue in the past few years had amounted to $3,450, including a decrease of $850.00 in the gasoline tax, elimination of city licenses which formerly raised $900, elimination of tax on household goods amounting to $750; and decreases of $400 in state income taxes, $350 on bank stocks, and $200 on automobile taxes.

In addition to the losses they also pointed out the increase in cost of labor, water and street material, garbage removal and truck operation.

Of the total tax rate forty-five cents will be used for general expenses and 25 cents for retirement of the bonded indebtedness.

The town's assessable basis is $2,099,233.00, of which the real estate assessment amounts to $1,869,223 and the returns from the state tax commission on corporations, $230,010.

Arthur Lawton, clerk-collector, announced April collections totaled $2,312.50 with $2,028.01 from water, $245.38 from taxes and $292.11 from miscellaneous sources. Monthly bills amounted to $1,491.20. The movie tax for April was $81.60.

President Truman Officially Announced End Of War In Europe On Tuesday Morning, But Declared Victory Was Half Won; Asks Every American To Stick To His Post Until Last Battle Is Fought and Won

Germany surrendered unconditionally to the Allies on Monday, thus completing the victory in the European phase of the Second World War, the most devastating in history.

President Harry S. Truman officially proclaimed the surrender on Tuesday morning at 9:00 o'clock, simultaneously with an announcement from London by Prime Minister Churchill. Russia announced the German capitulation a little belatedly, coming a day after the other Allies had given out the news.

Germany's formal unconditional capitulation came at 2:41 a. m. (French Time) in Reims, headquarters of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied armies in the west. The crowning triumph came just five years, eight months and seven days after Hitler invaded Poland. Battles still raged on in Czechoslovakia as some "die hard" Nazis continued the hopeless struggle.

The surrender document was signed for Germany by Colonel General Gustaf Jodl, and for the supreme Allied command by Lt. Gen. Walter Bedel Smith, and for Russia by General Ivan Susloparov.

They were asked sternly if they understood the surrender terms imposed upon Germany, and if they would be carried out by Germany. They answered, "yes."

President Truman prefaced his proclamation on Tuesday by saying:

"Our victory is but half won. The west is free, but the east is still in bondage to the treacherous tyranny of the Japanese. When the last Japanese division has surrendered unconditionally then only will our fighting job be done." The text of the President's proclamation is to be found in the upper corner of this page today.

Russia's announcement to her people proclaimed that unconditional surrender articles had been signed by Field Marshal Keitel at Berlin. German forces were ordered to cease hostilities at midnight, May 8, on all fronts. The Germans agreed not to destroy any ships, planes or military equipment of any kind and to put forward responsible commanders to ensure fulfillment of all future orders of the Allied high command.

The European war inflicted approximately 40,000,000 casualties. The whereabouts of Himmler, Goering and even Hitler were unknown. Hitler had been reported dead. A Russian general has said that the body of a man identified as Hitler has been found in Berlin.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, No. 2 Nazi, German air force head, and Field Marshal Kesselring, German commander-in-chief on the western front, both surrendered to Lt. Gen. Patch's American Seventh Army. Nazi Puppet Vidkun Quisling, of Norway, surrendered to Norwegians and was locked in jail at Oslo.

Two million of the Army's 8,300,000 American officers and men are men expected to be returned to civilian life during the coming twelve months, according to the War Mobilization Director.

Thus is brought to a close the titanic struggle which cost American armed forces 132,000 lives and more than 550,000 other casualties in three years, four months and seven days of fighting against the Axis in European and Mediterranean Theatres of War.

The President called upon every American to "stick to his post until the last battle is won," and added that until that day "let no man abandon his post or slacken his efforts."

With Our Men In The Service

Go to Fort Lewis, Washington

Among the graduates of the Educational and Physical Reconditioning course at the School for Personnel Services, Lexington, Va., last week, was Second Lieutenant Marshall Brown, of Mountain Lake Park, of the Medical Administrative Corps.

The term "reconditioning" as used by the Surgeon General, denotes those activities beyond the scope of usual medical and surgical treatment carried on in Army Service Forces stations, regional, general and convalescent hospitals to prepare our sick and wounded soldiers for return to duty or to civilian life.

Through physical reconditioning the patient is given exercises to bring about a speedy recovery of the injured parts of his body. The next step is occupational therapy, which provides work for muscles grown flabby through inactivity and at the same time shows him that he is able to do a lot of things he didn't expect he could. Educational reconditioning seeks to stimulate the mind of the patient to an aggressive acceptance of his own responsibilities toward his convalescence. The mental deterioration that accompanies hospitalization is compensated by a planned program of guidance, orientation, military education, elective education and recreation in the form of handicrafts and entertainment. Every attempt is made to restore his self-confidence by practice in the business of living.

Lieut. Brown, by virtue of his graduation, is qualified to fill a key position in the reconditioning program in one of the many Army hospitals.

Following a furlough here with Mrs. Brown, they both left Wednesday for Fort Lewis, Washington, where Lieut. Brown has been assigned to Madigan General Hospital.

Corporal Clayton G. Beltzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Beltzel, of Accident, with the 80th aviation engineers, attached to the 7th air force, is home on a 45-day rest and recuperation period after having served overseas in the Pacific area for the past three years.

Beltzel was inducted October 22, 1942, and left for overseas on November 6, receiving his basic training in the Hawaiian Islands. He then worked on many air fields in the Pacific, including Hickam field which the Japs bombed on December 7, 1941. He was on Baker Island and helped to build a bomber base there which was declared to be the last kept secret of the war.

He was also in the invasion of Makin Island in the Gilberts and Saipans, and the Marianas. He is authorized to wear two battle stars on his Asiatic-Pacific ribbon for Makin and Saipan. He also holds the expert rifleman's medal and a driver's medal which he was awarded for expert driving in combat.

He helped construct the B-29 superfortress bases on Saipan and Tinian and saw the first superfortress off for Tokyo. He will report to Fort Monde on May 31 and go from there to Seattle, Wash., and thence to his overseas station in the Pacific. In a letter to The Republican he said he had been receiving the paper for three years and that it is "impossible to tell how much I enjoyed it. It is a great morale booster." He added: "Keep up the 'With Our Men in the Service' column, as we who are overseas like very much to read about the boys from Garrett county."

Mrs. A. B. Somerville has received word that her husband has been promoted to Chief Petty Officer. He enlisted in the Navy Seabees in November, 1943, and left for overseas duty April 1944, where he has been serving with a ship repair unit in the Pacific area. Mrs. Somerville, the former Miss Myrtle O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. O'Brien, of Swanton, now resides with her sister, Mrs. Mona Dahlgren, in Akron, Ohio.

Charles L. "Chick" Briner, an area director for the American Red Cross, who has been located in the Baltimore area after having returned from a Southwest Pacific assignment about six months ago, spent the week-end here with his wife.

Marine Sergeant Lawrence A. Jenkins, Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jenkins, Route 2, Oakland, has returned from the Pacific for furlough and reenlistment.

A generator mechanic with a Fourth Marine Air Wing air warning squadron, he was based in the Marshall Islands. Although he underwent bombing attacks, he escaped injury.

He was graduated from Kitzmiller High school in 1941, where he was a member of the soccer team. Prior to enlisting in April, 1943, he farmed with his father. He attained his present rank in October, 1944. He is now at his home.

T. H. Hargis E. Dwyer, with a medical detachment at Fort George G. Meade, was at his home at Mt. Lake Park, while on a three-day pass.

Pvt. Charles C. Rush, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rush, Friendsville, is home on a thirteen-day furlough from Fort Bragg, N. C.

Pvt. John O. DeWitt of 189 Fourth St., Oakland, was recently assigned to the 39th Infantry of the 100th Infantry Division and is now serving with that organization on the Seventh Army Front in southern Germany.

The 100th entered combat in November and cracked the proposed German winter defensive line in the Vosges Mountains, followed through to open up the key Saales Pass leading to the Alsatian Plain and Strasbourg; captured Bitch, in Maginot Line after the German breakthrough had been checked, the first time the attack had ever been taken by the attacking force in its 200-year history.

The 100th then went through the Siegfried Line to the Rhine river, and drove into Bavaria, in Southern Germany.

Pfc. Henry W. Strabuk, husband of Mrs. Ruby Strabuk, Route 2, Oakland, was among the first in the 12th Armored Division, of the 7th Army, to receive Presidential recognition after the Division entered Germany.

He is a member of the 82nd Armored Medical Battalion which, by direction of the President, has been awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque for the period from October 1, 1944, to March 31, 1945.

The Battalion won recognition through a superior performance of duty in supporting the division during its operations at Rohrbach and Herfsholm, France; while clearing the entrance from France in the vicinity of Colmar; during the conquest of Southern Germany west of the Rhine and during the initial stages of the pursuit across the Rhine.

Eugene D. Helbig, S. 2 c, who has completed his recruit training at the Naval Training station at Bainbridge, is spending nine days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Helbig, before returning to his base for further assignment.

Miss Alveta Dillon, Ensign in the WAVES, who is located in Washington, D. C., was in Oakland on Wednesday. She is on leave and has been visiting her parents, near Accident. Miss Dillon is a former instructor in Oakland High school.

Sgt. Josephine Hauser and her sister, Cpl. Maxine Frantz, Marine corps reserve, who have been stationed at Marine headquarters in Washington, and who had spent two weeks here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hauser, are leaving this evening for San Diego, California. They will receive training there preliminary to an overseas duty assignment in Hawaii.

Serves with Chinese
Sgt. Elmer S. Tichnell, 27, of Deer Park, Md., is serving as mess sergeant with a field headquarters of a U. S. Combat Section of the Chinese Command in South-central China. Tichnell, who attended Bruce High school in Westernport, entered the Army in January, 1941. Prior to being ordered overseas he trained at Camp Claiborne, La. He arrived in India in December, 1943, and was then across the Himalayas "Hump" to China in March, 1944.

The CCC's mission is to advise and assist Chinese forces in prosecuting aggressive warfare against the Japanese. This liaison is concerned primarily with the planning and execution of field training and tactical operations, and with the receipt, distribution and assignment of American equipment and supplies for Chinese military units.

Mrs. Harry Craver, Swanton, has received word from her husband, Corporal Harry E. Craver, saying he is still in the states and hopes to get home for a week-end furlough soon.

Doyle Biser, S. 2 c, who has been spending a 21-day leave, from the Pacific theatre of war, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elza Biser, left Wednesday evening to return to his ship, docked at the West Coast. Robert Ferguson, of near Germania, on the same ship, also spent a leave with his parents.

With the 38th Division on Caballo Island—A battalion command post may sound like a restful place to the riflemen out front, but Pfc. Jeremiah G. Tasker, a scout and observer from Deer Park, has learned infiltration, and even an occasional banal charge, can be expected any night from the Japs.

"We were on rugged little Caballo Island, and thought we had swept one end of it free of Nips," Tasker said. "We had just finished digging in, and got into our foxholes for the night," he explained.

"It wasn't long afterwards that the Japs had slipped close enough to hurl a couple of grenades into our perimeter, but no one was hurt," the Cyclone soldier continued.

"A miniature banzai charge followed which carried the Japs almost to rim of our position before they were mowed down. The enemy paid heavily in dead for their futile efforts," Tasker added.

Awarded Medal

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, Oakland—Second Lieutenant Elmer Lewis, 22, whose father lives in Grantsville, navigator of "The Fighting Dutchman," a B-17 Flying Fortress of the 452nd Bombardment Group, has been awarded a third Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" while taking part in Eighth Air Force bombing attacks on vital German industrial targets, and on Nazi military strong points, in support of advances of Allied ground forces.

Lt. Lewis is a member of the Third Air Division, which was cited by the President for its historic England-to-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt aircraft factories at Regensburg, Germany. Flying in what is considered the toughest theatre of aerial warfare, he has helped his bomber fight its way through severe enemy opposition to attack such objectives as locomotive and tank works at Hanover and FW-190 aircraft component factories at Bremen, Germany.

He is the son of Mr. Anthony Lewis, of Grantsville. Prior to entering the AAF in December, 1941, Lt. Lewis was employed by the Celanese Corporation of America, Cumberland.

Lands With Assault Group Near Japan

With the 27th Infantry Division on D-Day (Delayed)—Pfc. Troy Pike, of Friendsville, landed with the Appleknocker regiment of the famed 27th Infantry Division in its initial assault on an island of the Ryukyu Group, three hundred and sixty-five miles from the Japanese mainland.

The smash at the Ryukyu Group, a key point in the vital communication center of the enemy's direction of his forces in the western Pacific marks the second D-Day for Pfc. Pike.

Prior to this operation, Pfc. Pike participated with his organization in the Gilbert Islands and the conquest of Saipan in the Marianas Islands.

At H-Hour, Pike's unit swarmed ashore behind the pounding of Navy battleships and cruisers. An equipment operator, Pfc. Pike entered the army in October, 1942, and has served twenty-nine months on overseas duty. He is entitled to wear the Asiatic Pacific ribbon with three campaign stars, and the War Department's newest award, an arrowhead, given troops making an assault landing.

Pfc. Pike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley A. Pike, of Friendsville.

MT. LAKE PARK

Honor Roll Dedicated

"The cause of freedom is the cause of God."

To the Lake Lynn Lodge of Rebekahs, Mountain Lake Park and Lach Lynn owe a debt of gratitude for the honor roll erected and sponsored by their lodge members. Last Sunday afternoon in the triangle across from Braethorn was held the dedication and unveiling of this roll.

Many were surprised to learn that the two communities numbered 180 in the service.

Rev. H. O. Teagarden, who has four sons in the service, opened the program. He was followed by the Rev. Bruce Burns and Rev. J. C. Foster. The Oakland band furnished appropriate music under the direction of Band Director Harry Miskay. Boy and girl Scout troops sang.

It was a fine showing of citizens. We believe that each and everyone present felt the solemnity of the occasion, and to those who had suffered the loss of a loved one in the fight for freedom, this service and honor must have been of some comfort. Again we repeat: Lake Lynn Rebekah Lodge is to be congratulated.

REMEMBER WHEN

—you set the May basket on a certain porch, rang the bell and ran, then watched from behind a tree or bush to see who came to the door for the basket? Sometimes the wrong one came, and half the fun of May Day disappeared right then. Remember?

THIS ENTIRE NATION HONORS AND PAYS TRIBUTE TO AMERICA'S MOTHERS SUNDAY, MAY 13th MOTHERS DAY

AMERICA'S MOTHERS ARE FIGHTING, TOO !

She's Your Mother

SHE'S the Mother next door who selflessly watches through the night in the shadows of a dim-lit nursery. She's the Mother down the block who can handle all the little odd jobs about the house now that her husband is away—the leaky faucet, the burned-out fuse.

She's the Mother across the way who stretches ration books into nourishing meals, who rolls bandages at Red Cross, gives to the blood bank, sells war bonds, and still finds time to do P-T. A. work. Isn't it enough that she has a son or sons somewhere on the seven seas?

She's the Mother who smiles bravely at other women's sons when her own son is gone. She gives without stint of herself, of everything she possesses. Always has, always will. Love, sacrifice, devotion, undaunted courage, complete self-forgetfulness—these are always hers.

This is her day—a hero's day. There'll be no bands, no glittering medals, no prancing steeds—only the deepest reverence in the hearts of mankind for her unconquerable spirit and uplifting American building ideals. On this, her day, she asks no tribute from the world. Only that you remember with thoughts of simple affection—and that your own courage will do credit to her high example.

President's Message

work — by understanding and working with our Allies in peace as we have in war.

Vital Work Ahead

The job ahead is no less important, no less urgent, no less difficult than the work which now happily is done.

I call upon every American to stick to his post until the last battle is won. Until that day, let no man abandon his post or slacken his efforts.

And now I want to read to you my formal proclamation of this occasion: By the President of the United States of America:

A PROCLAMATION

The Allied armies, through sacrifice and devotion and with God's help, have wrung from Germany a final and unconditional surrender. The western world has been freed of the evil forces which for five years and longer have imprisoned the bodies and broken the lives of millions upon millions of freedom men. They have shattered their churches, destroyed their homes, corrupted their children and murdered their loved ones. Our armies of liberation have restored freedom to these suffering peoples whose spirit and will the oppressors could never enslave.

Much remains to be done. The victory won in the west must now be won in the east. The whole world must be cleaned of the evil from which half the world has been freed. United and peace-loving nations have demonstrated in their churches, their arms are stronger by far than the might of dictators or the tyranny of military cliques that once called us soft and weak.

The power of our peoples to defend themselves against all enemies will be proved in the Pacific war as it has been proved in Europe. For the triumph of spirit and of arms which we have won and for its promise to people everywhere who join us in the love of freedom, it is fitting that we as a nation give thanks to Almighty God, who has strengthened us and given us the victory.

Sets Day of Prayer

Now, therefore, I, Harry S. Truman, President of the United States of America, do hereby appoint Sunday, May 13, 1945, to be a day of prayer.

I call upon the people of the United States, whatever their faith, to unite in offering joyful thanks to God for the victory we have won and to pray that He will support us to the end of our present struggle and to guide us into the way of peace.

I also call upon my countrymen to dedicate this day of prayer to the memory of those who have given their lives to make possible our victory.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this eighth day of May, in the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Forty-five, and of the independence of the United States of America the One Hundred and Sixty-ninth.

HARRY S. TRUMAN,

By the President:
JOSEPH C. GREW,
Acting Secretary of State.

DIARY OF THE WAR

With the surrender of the Germans in Europe there are two tasks yet to be done. One is to do to the Japanese what has been done to the Nazis, and the other is to impose on the Germans a punishment which will be just but which will be stern. In particular the war criminals should be punished promptly.

There is still a long and hard fight in the Pacific. This week the Yanks are pressing relentlessly ahead in Okinawa. In five weeks of fighting there the Yanks have killed 36,535 Japs, with American losses of 2,337 killed, 11,432 wounded and 514 missing. There were advances in all areas except in China. Allies were using the airfield on Tanaka. Yanks were forced back in stiff fight at Davao, in Philippines, but made a surprise landing to outflank the enemy yesterday.

It also should be remembered that there is not one interpreter but always two. Obviously, there could not be just one. No matter how great his integrity, that would be far too great power to give any individual. One interpreter could put the white lead into the coffee cups of both sides. So, always there has to be another interpreter, each checking on the other.

Naturally, this makes each interpreter extremely careful not to interpret too freely nor too colorfully, lest his colleague say to him, "wait a minute," or "hold on," or "that is not quite right," etc. This tends to denature the conversation, eliminate all humor, irony, color, subtlety, emphasis and inflection.

Slight doubt exists here that from the San Francisco Conference, there will ultimately emerge a charter for international security organization, soundly based on Dumbarton Oaks lines and measurably satisfactory to those who believe that upon such an association depends the world's hope for averting an irretrievably ruinous third war.

Enlightened self-interest compels this conviction. A long peace is especially essential to the Russians, to the British, to ourselves, to all other nations represented at the conference. There is no other even faintly plausible suggestion by which a protracted or permanent peace can be achieved.

This conference, the only instrument through which peace is possible must succeed. There is no alternative and any other result assumes an unbelievable degree of stupid perversity. This is not disputed. Therefore, it is easy to understand why none of the differences at San Francisco seriously threaten the result. None is of a kind that cannot be adjusted without damaging the dignity of the disputants or enfeebling the final product. In brief, there is nothing to fear as to the outcome so long as good will prevails among the sponsoring powers and the main objective is never lost sight of.

Considering the situation, it is hard to escape the feeling that the big trouble at the conference is linguistic. Particularly is the inability to understand the other party's language a bar between British and Americans on one side and Russians on the other. Mr. Stettinius and Mr. Eden speak no word of Russian; Mr. Molotov knows very little English. Regardless of the skill of the interpreters, this is almost like a wall between English-speaking heads and Russian-speaking heads. The same is true all down the line. It hinders communications of all flexibility. It formalizes exchanges. It prohibits subtleties and real confidences. It adds vastly to the difficulties of international cooperation.

In this respect, San Francisco is not different from other conferences except that it is on a larger scale. There was the same trouble at Teheran and again at Yalta. After those, a good deal of nonsense was written of how the late President Roosevelt personally charmed Marshal Stalin and of what close personal friends they had become. This was bunk. You cannot become great personal friends with a man to whom you must talk through a third party, and whose conversation otherwise is as unintelligible to you as yours is to him. Love cannot be made under such circumstances; nor charm applied.

An example of what happens was given not long ago by one reliable observer present at both Stalin-Roosevelt-Churchill conferences. Mr. Roosevelt, sitting next to Mr. Stalin, told the Marshal one of his favorite stories with flourishes of the cigarette holder, great animation of countenance and concluded in a shout of laughter at his own joke. Marshal Stalin joined heartily in the presidential laughter though he had not understood a word. Then he turned to his interpreter, who translated the Roosevelt story. The Marshal did not laugh at all. He did not even smile. His face was perfectly blank. Either he just did not think it funny—or he missed the point.

It tends to reduce conversation to cold, drab and very simple terms. It nullifies individual charm, robs personal contact of its pleasures and helps conceal rather than reveal. It also adds greatly to the tedium of conferring. Under such circumstances, it is not a wonder there should be misunderstandings and suspicions. The wonder is there should be so few and that these not be of vital importance. If, as seems sure, the conference outcome is generally satisfactory, it will be a notable achievement and justify optimism. It might be noted that so far as American leadership is concerned, the linguistic difficulties have not been lessened by the journalistic heckling to which Secretary of State Stettinius has been subjected from the start.

Clearly, education is the one way to conquer the language obstacle. Russian and American understanding is consequently of the first importance for the future of the world. The more our public men learn of their language and their public men learn of ours, the easier that will be. In particular, our diplomats should know Russian. Russian is far more important now to a diplomat than French. Mr. David Lawrence has suggested we send no more ambassadors to Moscow who do not speak Russian—and it would help if in the future the Russian Ambassador here spoke English. Both languages can be learned.

Many Planning Vacations in State Forest and Park Areas

That thousands of Marylanders are planning to spend their vacations this year in one or more of the fourteen State parks and forests, was indicated in a statement of Joseph F. Kaylor, state forester, a few days ago, while in Garrett county.

Mr. Kaylor declared that already at this early date from 70 to 75 percent of the capacity of Herrington Manor and New Germany forest areas had been reserved. There are eight state forests and six state parks. Log cabins for rent are provided in six of the forests and parks, and camping, hunting and fishing are permitted, subject to state regulation.

Mr. Kaylor was of the opinion that there would be good results from fishing this year both at Herrington and New Germany lakes and streams entering into them. Boy Scouts of the Potomac Council also plan to use the Swallow Falls area for a camp from July 7 to 11.

The fourteen forests and parks attracted 705,000 visitors in 1941. A total of 237,000 persons visited the forestland areas in 1942; 452,000 in 1943, and 574,000 last year.

Intended For Recreation

The State parks, relatively small, select areas of natural beauty or historical interest, are intended exclusively for recreation; the State forests also are designed to conserve timberland and are valuable as water sheds.

The parks are the Patuxent, 19 miles west of Baltimore, in Howard and Baltimore counties; Gambrill, in Frederick county; Elk Neck, in Cecil county; Fort Detrick and Washington Monument, in Washington county, and Wye Mills, in Talbot county.

Fort Detrick and Washington Monument parks are historic shrines which have been restored, and Wye Mills Park is said to contain the largest white oak east of the Mississippi river.

Log Cabins Provided

The log cabins provided at six of the parks and forests are modern structures, with hot and cold running water. The cabins will accommodate from two to eight persons each.

They rent from $18 to $30 weekly, and occupancy by the same persons is limited to two weeks, so that as many persons as possible can use them. Some of the cabins are equipped with electricity, most have fireplaces and all have kerosene-burning cooking ranges.

All cabins, except those at the Elk Neck Park, are equipped with baths. At Elk Neck, there is a single master bathroom, which is also equipped for handling laundry.

The Elk Neck cabins are furnished with beds, mattresses and stoves, but those at the other parks and forests offer bed and table linen, tableware and kitchen utensils as well.

Season Opens in May

Most of the cabins already have been sought for the season, which opens at the end of May and continues through Labor Day. Reservations for the remaining cabins may be made through the State Department of Forests and Parks in the State Office Building at Annapolis.

Many groups rent cabins each summer; many others prefer to camp in designated tent-camp areas, for which a nominal charge is made to cover firewood, water, laundry rooms and other essentials.

Hunting is permitted only in designated areas of the State forests, but

Permanent Waving And Hair Trends

From the carvings found in the ancient cave man's dwellings, we have proof that even they were hair conscious.

Hairdressing has and will continue to play an essential role.

Women's hair of the even forecast wars, prosperity and depression. Short hair is in vogue during and near the end of a war. Pompadours and extreme styles are predominant a few years before a world-wide cut is set.

Then comes the period of softer and more becoming styles. This is the trend we are in now.

Fortunately science has enabled us to have healthy, lovely, curly hair. The progress along this line is amazing. Cleopatra wore a wig which was first wound around sticks, then boiled for eight hours. Now we have permanents which need no heating process. A natural looking wave is given entirely by solutions. This method has been greatly improved since first it was introduced.

We are equipped to give you the newest and most advanced methods of cold waving and steam waving.

Bombs Away

ALREADY Garrett County is credited with the purchase of $50,941 in Seventh War Loan bonds. We are asked to purchase bonds amounting to $275,000, with the "E" bond quota $175,000.

THOSE OF US AT HOME MUST NOT FAIL!

SIXTH GRADERS TO BE FIRST IN 12-YEAR SET-UP

All In That Group or Below Must Complete 12-Year Course For High School Graduation

That students of Garrett county schools in the sixth grade or below will be required to complete a twelve-year course in order to be graduated from high school, was one of the decisions made by the educational study group which met in conference in Oakland last Tuesday, May 8.

A brief summary of the decisions made at the conference were reported from the office of F. E. Rathbun, county superintendent of schools. If this policy is followed there will be one year, ending in June, 1950, when there will be no graduating classes from the high schools of Garrett county.

Plans are also being made to accommodate all seventh grade pupils in senior high school centers as soon as possible, beginning with the next school year. Regardless of where seventh grade pupils are housed next school year, it is planned that they should have the newly developed courses of study in as complete a form as facilities, materials and personnel will permit.

Principals of the five high schools are to meet again on Monday, May 21, and the committee on Wednesday, May 23, to consider the problem of housing facilities. The principals will meet with James E. Spitznagel, State supervisor of high schools, at 5:30 o'clock in Oakland, prior to meeting with the group on May 23. The meeting on May 23 will be from 2 to 4 o'clock p. m. in the grand jury room, Court House, Oakland.

At this meeting also a final survey of the discussions and studies conducted by the group, will be considered, and recommendations made to the Board of Education concerning possibilities and the desired goal in making the change from the present 11-year to the 12-year system of schools in this county.

Other meetings are being planned throughout the state during the summer. While the Department of Education has announced it is eager to put the new twelve-year curriculum into effect as rapidly as possible, the speed with which this can be accomplished will depend on conditions in the counties and available space in the school buildings which will be required for additional classes.

The new system has as its eventual goal six elementary and six high schools, Washington and Allegany counties already have the twelve-year system.

Extinguish Grass Fire

The Oakland Fire Department was called Wednesday morning about 11:15 to extinguish a grass fire that had gotten beyond control at the west end of Liberty street, near the R. and O. tracks.

There was no damage.

T Sgt. Carson Miller Is Among First To Be Discharged From Army

Technical Sergeant Carson D. Miller, of Oakland, was among the first group of 110 veterans who received honorable discharges at Fort George G. Meade, near Baltimore, on Saturday. Throughout the nation some 2,500 were discharged, the first of two million to be honorably discharged this year.

According to an account in the Sunday Sun, the discharges were received with conflicting emotions of surprise, near disbelief, joy and regret. They were from practically every war theatre. The discharges were given under the new point system announced by the War Department late last week.

Staff Sergeant Rudolph Appell, of Cumberland, was the first soldier of Maryland to receive such a discharge. Sgt. Miller is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Miller, of near town. He had completed a furlough or rotation leave and was ready to go overseas again. On Friday morning word reached him and other members of the group that "something was in the air." Some were called in for a checkup of their points. This was a cue to all that discharges under the point system were under way.

Sgt. Miller, who was married on March 31, to Irene DeWitt, of Sang Run, had said goodbye to his wife last Thursday and had returned to Meade. When he learned of his good fortune he said, "Think of this. The first sergeant of my outfit overseas was due for the 45-day leave. He said he wouldn't take it. The time was too short to come and go and for the time at home. He offered it to me and I took it. Now it's me instead of him who is being discharged."

Sgt. Miller returned home Saturday night. He had been in service almost four years and was with General Clark's 5th Army in Italy at the time of his furlough.

Kitzmiller Fliers Freed In Germany

T Sgt. Joseph E. Markley and E Sgt. Charles H. Brown, both of Kitzmiller, were liberated from an enemy camp April 26, according to an overseas news correspondent. They were freed from Stalag Luft 4 after being moved from Hedderg in East Prussia to Grosszimmern in Pomerania, which they reached after 80 days of travel by water, railroad and foot.

A letter was received from Sgt. Markley by his wife, Wilma Markley, written the day he was liberated. He stated:

"Today has been by far the happiest of my life. This morning I was still a prisoner and here I am this evening a free man. I can hardly believe it yet. For so long that I hardly know what to do. Just finished eating some Army K rations and do I feel good. It's the first time for nearly three months that I have been full of decent food."

Sgt. Markley was taken prisoner on February 25, 1944, when forced to parachute over Austria. Five of his original crew are still listed as missing, while the remainder are prisoners. He has a son whom he has never seen, but learned about it while he was a prisoner.

No direct word has been received from Sgt. Brown as yet. He was taken prisoner August 6, 1944, during a mission. Both boys were in the same camp, although it is not known whether they had seen each other.

Sgt. Brown is the son of John Brown, Kitzmiller, and Sgt. Markley the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Markley, Kitzmiller.

Wounded Infantryman Recovering in England

Wounded in the right knee and left leg by shrapnel from an enemy shell during a fierce Allied attack across an open field near Dunseldorf, Germany, about 40 miles beyond the Rhine River, Pfc. George E. Nordick, 27, of Oakland, is now recovering at the 34th United States Army general hospital in England.

"Pfc. Nordick is making excellent progress here, but will require further hospitalization," said his ward nurse, Mary Robert Seidy, of Glendale, California.

Pfc. Nordick, an infantryman attached to the First Army, was sitting in a barn waiting for orders to move up when an enemy shell hit the road outside of the structure and several fragments struck him.

"I was evacuated to England after receiving emergency treatment at several field hospitals," he related.

Pfc. Nordick was manager of a clothing store in January before entering the Army in February, 1944. He is the husband of Mrs. Elizabeth Nordick, of Sang Run.

Charles M. White, Oakland Native, Is Named President of Republic Steel Company

By GUY T. ROCKWELL, Financial Editor Cleveland Plaindealer

Charles M. White, who took his first steel job 32 years ago, was elected president of the Republic Steel Corporation, third largest in its field in the country, at the annual meeting Wednesday, May 9th, in New York City.

In making this announcement following the stockholders' meeting at Flemington, N. J., T. M. Girdler, board chairman, said Rufus J. Wyser, had asked to be relieved of his duties as president to engage in an important new activity, which would be made known shortly. Wyser, who has been president of Republic since 1937, will continue a director of the corporation.

Born in Maryland

The new president of Republic, now in his 50s, has been a lumberman, tanner, telephone lineman, railroad construction worker and steelworker. He was born in Oakland in the Alleghenies in Western Maryland.

White's father was in the lumber business, and Charley, when little more than a boy, went into the woods with the cutting gangs, helped run sawmills and learned lumber from the living tree to two-by-fours. His grammar school education was gained at Hutton, Md. He later studied mechanical engineering and was graduated from the University of Maryland. In vacation time he climbed telephone poles, tanned leather and helped build railroads.

His first steel job came in 1913, when he became a machinist's helper with the American Bridge Co. at Ambridge, Pa. He later was a millwright's helper in a sintering plant, and in two years he was made plant superintendent. This was the beginning of his association with the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Two years later White was made assistant blast furnace superintendent of the Eliza Work, then master mechanic in charge of construction, maintenance and power, and he next went to the company's Pittsburgh South Side Works as assistant to the general superintendent. Leaving the steel producing business, he devoted a few years to the railroad end as general superintendent of the Jones & Laughlin subsidiary roads in Pittsburgh and Aliquippa, Pa.

White was made assistant general superintendent of the Aliquippa Works in 1929 and general superintendent in 1930. When the present Republic Steel Corp. was formed in 1930 he became assistant vice-president in charge of operations. He was promoted to vice-president in charge of operations in 1936.

The new president is friendly, cordial and affable, but gives a definite impression that he can be equally firm when the occasion demands. He has no hobbies except work, although he plays a little golf, bridge and occasionally ping-pong. He married Helen Gordon Bradley, of Lonaconing, Md., in 1918. They have one daughter, Jean, and live at 16570 South Park Boulevard, Shaker Heights, Cleveland, Ohio.

Elementary School Planning Operetta

The Oakland Elementary School will present a two-act operetta entitled, "Tom Tit Tot," written by Moore and Richardson, next Wednesday and Thursday evening, May 23 and 24. The entire cast includes more than 75 students and will feature dances, vocal selections and instrumental numbers.

The leading characters include Gladys Wensel, Harvey Smouse, Ann Brown, Sue Liller, Barbara Winters, Barbara Filsinger, Betsy Phillips, Charlotte Davis, Jack Kight, Guy Simmons, Frederick Thayer, Robert Stocklager and John Hanst.

The production of an operetta is an annual event and as in previous years represents the united efforts of every department of the entire school.

Accident Citizens To Erect Service Memorial

Citizens of Accident and district No. 5 are planning to erect a memorial for boys and girls of that community who are in the service.

A meeting is to be held at the Accident School on Tuesday evening, May 22, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of making definite plans relative to the erection of the memorial.

A temporary committee consisting of John Shoemaker, F. E. Spoerlein and W. H. Haenfling, is already active and a permanent committee will be selected from among the interested citizens who attend to carry out formulated plans.

At the meeting plans on the type of memorial and its location will be discussed.

Blackout Rules Lifted in State

Blackout and other regulations in effect in Maryland under the Civilian Defense program have been lifted.

Lawrence M. Fradley was the county coordinator of the defense program.

It was stated that in spite of removal of regulations the state organization has not been abandoned, and it is believed some state officials want it converted into a peace emergency group.

Members of Night Mining Classes To Have Annual Dinner

The twenty-second annual dinner for members of the night mining classes, will be held at the William James hotel, Oakland, on Saturday evening, May 26, at 6:30 o'clock.

A dinner is always held at the conclusion of the extension courses held during the winter months by L. C. Hutson, Kitzmiller, vocational mining instructor, working under the University of Maryland and under supervision of the Bureau of Mines. Classes have been conducted at the various mining towns.

This is the second time that the dinner meeting has been scheduled in Garrett county, it having been held at the local hotel last year.

Suggestions Made On Youth Activities

Morgantown Woman Addresses Elementary P-T. A.; Officers Are Elected

A variety of recreational activities for the youth of the community was suggested by Mrs. A. H. VanLandingham, Morgantown, W. Va., who was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Oakland Elementary Parent-Teacher association last evening.

Mrs. VanLandingham, a graduate in recreation, who has had many years of experience in those activities, was until recently in charge of recreation for the city of Morgantown. She outlined as essential in recreation, the freedom of choice from a wide variety of things, cooperation rather than competition, the opportunity for creative and cultural activities, and rhythmic expression through dancing of all kinds.

A planned program for the summer playground here, with each week highlighted by some particular activity was also suggested and she listed many kinds of possibilities. Good leadership in these various activities was also stressed.

Officers Elected At the business session presiding the address, Emerie Duesin was elected president of the organization for next term. Others selected were Mrs. Bernard L. Gonder, Jr., vice-president; Mrs. William Warfield, secretary; Mrs. Prentice DeBerry, treasurer.

Park Soldier Dies After Release From Enemy Prison Camp

Pfc. Raymond C. Friend Suffered From Malnutrition And Died In France On April 27

A Mountain Lake Park soldier, Pfc. Raymond C. Friend, who was a prisoner of the Germans, died in France on April 27, shortly after being released from the camp by the swift advance of the Allied armies into enemy territory. Death was due to cachexia (malnutrition), according to the telegram from army officials.

His wife, Mrs. Carrie Friend, received the word on Monday, only a few days after she had received word that his release had been effected.

Others Released Mr. and Mrs. Chaucer M. Friend, of Friendsville, have been notified that their son, S Sgt. Chaucer M. Friend, Jr., had been liberated from a German prison camp.

Mrs. Zeldia M. Schroyer, Friendsville, was informed that her husband, Pvt. Charles Schroyer, has returned to military control and that he was being returned to the United States in the near future.

Mrs. John E. Castlow, the former Mildred R. Lantz, Liberty street, Oakland, has received direct word from her husband, a former prisoner of war, who is now in France. Pfc. John E. Castlow was taken prisoner by the Germans last September and was in the same prison camp as Sgt. Dayton S. Mosser, who was reported by the government as being released several weeks ago.

To Map Plans For Memorial Day

Members of the American Legion Post and Knights of Pythias lodge are expected to make definite plans this week for the observance of Memorial Day on Wednesday, May 30.

In former years these two organizations have taken the lead in planning a program for that day which included a parade to the cemetery where graves of deceased members are decorated and an address by some individual, near the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Needs Music Stands

The Oakland Fire Department band is in need of music stands in order to play concerts this summer, according to H. S. Micky, band director.

He issued a plea to any one having such to donate or sell it to the band. Mr. Micky said these stands cannot be bought from music companies since their production has ceased due to wartime conditions. He added that without a sufficient number of stands it would be impossible to hold these concerts.

Doolittle, Commanding General of the Eighth Air Force, for their recent highly successful bombing attack upon Key marshalling yards at Siegen, Germany.

The Siegen mission was an outstanding example of the vast improvement in instrument bombing which, despite adverse weather conditions, made possible the Eighth Air Force's day by day record offensive against vital targets within the Reich.

The group is a unit of the Third Air Division, the division cited by the President for its historic England to Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt aircraft plants at Regensburg, Germany.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Brown, of Mt. Lake Park, is a son of Mrs. Sallie K. Woodell, of Green street.

Hahn's Group Given Unit Citation Recently

When Sergeant Robert S. Hahn, 26, of Cretin, a cook at an Eighth Air Force P-51 Mustang station in England, watched his group take off for Munich on two successive days a few months ago, he checked off the mission as routine.

What Hahn didn't know was that those two missions were destined to bring to the 22nd Fighter Group commanded by Colonel John E. Henry, Jr., of San Antonio, Tex., a unit citation in the name of the president of the United States.

Besides protecting American heavy bombers, the group hit Nazi airfields to destroy 43 planes and damage 53 more "with utter disregard for the intensity and accuracy of enemy anti-aircraft and small arms fire." Serious bomber losses were avoided when the group drove off more than 100 Messerschmitt 109's, destroying 15, probably destroying one, and damaging three.

The citation, highest award given a unit, focused attention on the "unselfish devotion to duty and the tireless energy of its ground personnel and proficiency and gallantry of its pilots." Proclaiming the group had clearly distinguished itself in battle, the citation stated in conclusion that "the gallantry, fortitude and esprit de corps displayed by the members of the group on these occasions exemplify the highest traditions of the Army Air Forces."

Sgt. Hahn, who went to England a year ago, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bliss R. Hahn, of Cretin. His wife, Mrs. Virginia H. Hahn, lives at 185 Fourth street, Oakland.

Speaker Last Friday Compares Steps In Building Peace To Building A Home

A "lasting peace cannot be won, it must be built," Arthur R. Hamilton, agricultural economist of the University of Maryland, declared at the meeting sponsored by the County Council of Homemakers last Friday in the Methodist church assembly room in Oakland. Similar meetings were held at Grantsville, Kitzmiller and Oakland High school.

He pointed out that many conferences have been held in this direction and stressed the fact that they should not be considered as separate meetings, but instead, as parts of a systematic plan to build the peace.

He compared the steps in building the peace to building a home; when first there must be preliminary consideration of the problems, not the blueprints, in which he pointed out that one tries to work out one's ideas into the plan, realizing it will not be perfect, but remembering that in future years it might be necessary to remodel to meet changing times.

After the blueprint is decided upon, Mr. Hamilton said, the actual building can be constructed. The primary phases were held, he pointed out, at Bretton Woods, Hot Springs and Mexico City. The blueprint was drawn at Dumbarton Oaks, and the actual building of the organization for peace was reserved for San Francisco.

Lists Causes of War

The causes of war the speaker listed as: want, caused by inability of nations to satisfy the needs of the people; fear of the future; oppression of nations or people; aggression by another nation; conditioning the people to want war; willingness and readiness to use war methods; striving for security; inability of nations to secure a portion of natural resources; and psychology of belonging to a super race of men, or being God's chosen people.

Taking each of the preliminary meetings separately, the speaker showed that the Bretton Woods conference produced two things; the international monetary fund to promote stability of exchange rates as an aid to world trade and the international bank for reconstruction and development to facilitate the flow of capital on long-term loans to war-torn and undeveloped countries.

At Hot Springs food production and needs were considered and it was agreed that the United Nations should work together in solving the problems of food and agriculture; at Mexico City the wartime collaboration of the twenty participating American republics for peace was reaffirmed.

Proposals for the international organization were submitted at the Dumbarton Oaks conference; and it was decided as each dispute arises it must be dealt with firmly and quickly and the well-being of all nations and peoples be promoted. Its basic principles, he listed, as maintaining peace only by nations banding together for that purpose; the employment of power justly and in unity by the great powers; to build peace, not only suppress war and as peace becomes more secure, armament should be reduced.

Cites Organization Plan

The plan for the organization, he reminded his audience, includes a General Assembly of United Nations, an International Court of Justice and a Security Council. He also explained what it proposes to do, including encourages nations to cooperate; promote prosperity, advance special progress, foster freedom, co-ordinates international agencies; admits new members to the United Nations, make plans to control armaments, investigates disputes between nations, seeks peaceful settlements, decides on measures to keep peace, takes political and economic action and takes military action.

The San Francisco Conference is concerned with drafting a charter for world peace based on the Dumbarton Oaks principles, and is to construct the building for peace.

THERE'S A BRIGHT FUTURE FOR FARM TELEPHONE SERVICE, TOO!

We would like to see many more farms with telephones.

Bell Telephone Laboratory research—although nearly wholly diverted to war projects—has found new ways to extend and improve farm telephone service: Stronger wire that takes fewer poles, how to send telephone messages over electric power lines, radiotelephones to reach remote spots.

We are busy right now planning how to use these ideas. There's a bright future for the farm telephone when manpower and materials are again available.

REMEMBER WHEN

Ice cream socials were a popular way of raising money for a good cause? Each family donated a freezer of cream and a cake or two. You were served at tables on the lawn decorated by Japanese lanterns. The event was always a success because nobody counted their calories, and that homemade ice cream was the best you ever tasted. Remember?

FRIDAY—Germans continued to fight in Czechoslovakia while Reds continued to attack them in Bohemia. Dunkerque and Channel islands were freed, surrender of subs and ships began. Chinese troops and American airmen smashed a major Jap drive against an airbase at Chikichine, 250 miles southeast of Chungking. Yank infantry was at grips with the Jap garrison on Mindanao island in move to entrap the enemy. Yanks on Okinawa crossed river near island's capital city in spite of attempt of human bombs to damage bridge.

SATURDAY—Russians battled the Werewolf force in Berlin. Latvia also flooded subway, killing many Germans. Resistance ceased in France and German holdouts in Bohemia were about cleared out. Yugoslav partisans blocked the British advance into Austria. Gen. Eisenhower and Gen. Clay were named to head American part of the military government in Germany. Yank troops moved toward French ports. Yanks gained half a mile in South Okinawa. Fortieth division landed on north coast of Mindanao in move to entrap big Jap force. Superforts mined Japan's harbors and inland sea. Tokyo radio revealed Japs were becoming more alarmed over war.

SUNDAY—Chinese were slashing Japs in Hunan province on all sides. Chinese also claimed hard blows on enemy in Honan area. Americans advanced toward Shuri and Naha on Okinawa as about 100,000 Yanks and Japs were involved in hand-to-hand fighting. The front was four miles long. A captive sub was due in a Jersey port, the first to give up in American home waters. Three Red armies were closing a ring around Germans in Czechoslovakia who had refused to surrender. Burma was now clear of Japs except for a little corner near Moulmein. The old Burma road had been reestablished. The French were wanting a share in fighting Japs but the request had thus far been turned down. Filipinos were saving more and more aid to Yanks on Luzon and Mindanao.

Naval base in Kure was bombed by U. S. flyers. Nagoya was bombed by 500 superfortresses in incendiary attack. Marines were reported in capital of Linaua. Jap air center on northern Mindanao fell to Yanks.

TUESDAY—The Nagoya bomb raid dropped 7 million pounds of fire bombs on industrial city. Infantrymen took an airport on Okinawa. Japs were resisting intensely. U. S. carrier task forces were attacked by Jap planes and one ship was damaged while 21 Jap planes were shot down. Yanks in northern Luzon captured Balete pass. Doolittle, who commanded 8th air force in Europe, relinquished his command and was thought to be headed for Pacific. Formosa was declared practically lost to Japs as bulwark for important air base, largely neutralized by heavy bombers. Moscow reported 1,230,000 Germans surrendered to Red army since unconditional surrender.

WEDNESDAY—Carrier planes hammered sixteen Jap homeland airfields and destroyed, damaged or strafed 357 enemy planes. Fire-ground fighting continued at Okinawa. A third U-boat surrendered to U. S. Navy in American waters. Yanks on Mindanao were attacking Japs with bayonets, knives and fists. Savage fighting marked the battle raging near Davao city. HOMEMAKERS COLUMN

Edited for The Republican by Mrs. Mildred Hoffman, Home Demonstration Agent for Garrett County.

VEGETABLE COOKERY

Research conducted at the Alabama and Michigan experiments has further added support to the rule that water should be boiling before vegetables go in to cook. At the Alabama station, turnip greens, put on to cook in about their own weight of cold water and cooked 39 minutes from the time boiling began, held only about a third of their original vitamin C, but those put into boiling water and boiled the same length of time held three-fourths of their C. Likewise, asparagus and green beans, cooked by these two methods, retained much more C when served in boiling water.

The Michigan station reports that plunging greens into boiling water saves more C than cooking with only the water that clings to the leaves. Chard and beet tops were tested. Chard, cooked about 22 minutes in a covered pan with no water except that left on the leaves after washing, held only 5 to 8 percent of its C, and beets only 16 to 17 percent. But when the greens were plunged into rapidly boiling water, they cooked to the same tenderness in 7 to 8 minutes, and the chard held 12 to 26 percent of its original C, the beets 25 to 35 percent. Scientists believe that the shorter cooking by boiling water starts was the reason for the greater saving of vitamin C.

Urged To Order Winter Fuel Supply

Solid fuel users are being urged to speed up the filling of signed consumer declarations and to order fuel immediately if they hope to avoid the risk of cold homes next winter.

A. N. Geyer, for the Solid Fuels Administration for West, Altoona, Pa., issued this advice after receiving reports that slow public response in filling properly signed consumer declarations and in placing orders for fuel is threatening curtailment of the community's fuel supply next winter.

"Because of the continuing wartime shortages, mines may not be able to provide all of their customers with their full 80 percent quota of fuel next winter."

"Defeat of Germany will not end the fuel shortage. We will have a long, hard job to beat the Japs, and both mines and retail dealers will continue to be short of manpower to supply fuel."

"Persons who delay ordering fuel not only will risk being unable to get their full wartime quota next winter, but may get caught by last minute jams in deliveries and run into difficulties in getting fuel when they need it next fall."

Declaration forms are said to be available at dealers' offices.

MRS. VANDERGILT CALLS FOR HELP!

Mrs. Vandergilt is in
A terrible dilemma—
Her butler makes munitions,
And her laundress quit (that's Emma).
One maid's a Wave and one's a Wac,
The gardener's gone to war,
The cook (that priceless Annie)
Doesn't live here any more!

The agencies have none to send,
And none she might engage,
No matter what the hours,
The duties or the wage—
"One perfect servant's all I ask!"
Wails wistful Mrs. V.,
"My mansion is a shambles
And I've asked a DUKE to tea!"

But Mrs. Vandergilt forgets
Her servant who--for years--
Has washed and ironed and cleaned and cooked
And lit the chandeliers;
On duty morning, noon and night,
To any task submitting,
Who works for pennies every day
And never dreams of quitting!

Oh, ladies, stop! Oh, ladies, please,
Don't rush to lure away
This paragon of Mrs. V.'s
For better hours or pay--
It can't be done--and yet it can--
Because, my dears, you see
This modern miracle is known As Electricity!

If Mrs. V. would just forget
Her dignity and riches,
And tie an apron round her waist,
And flick assorted switches--
She could wash, and iron, and clean,
And whip a meal together,
And entertain a dozen dukes
As lightly as a feather!

Slaughterers Required to Obtain Permits Now

Effective May 14 all farm slaughterers must obtain a Class 3 permit from the Office of Price Administration permitting them to kill and sell up to 6000 pounds of meat, it was announced this week from the local Rationing Board. The forms on which the application is made are obtainable at the local office.

Farmers who did not sell meat during the past year will be permitted to sell dressed meat up to 400 pounds by applying at the board's office in the Gonder Building, Oakland. From now on farmers must record and report all sales of dressed meats, abide by ceiling prices, collect the required ration points and account for both to the local board, stated W. O. Davis, chief clerk.

Those farmers who dress meat exclusively for themselves can do so without obtaining a permit, but it must be consumed at their home, he emphasized. The new program is effective immediately.

It was further stated at the board's office that canning sugar applications are now being processed and the coupons mailed covering the first allotment of ten pounds per person. The maximum allowed this year for home processing is fifteen pounds per person.

"That Grass is our Living, Son!"

WHAT THIS RANCHER SAYS to his son is very true. Grass does provide their living . . . and a good part of the living for all of us here in America. More than half a billion acres of the United States—roughly, 50% of all our farm and ranch lands—is in grass. "Should its harvest fail for a single year," said John James Ingalls, "famine would depopulate the world."

Grass is the preserver of much of our agricultural wealth and the basic raw material of many of our necessities. It is a major crop. And more than that, it's nature's way of transferring health-building materials . . . vitamins, minerals, and other essential elements . . . from the soil into the foods that nourish the nation. Grass must pass through livestock to be converted into products useful to man.

So let's give our pastures, meadows and range lands the care they deserve. Grass on your steep slopes should never be broken. In the long run, it is your most profitable crop on hillsides because it controls erosion by tying down your top soil and reduces evaporation of essential moisture. Your State Agricultural Experiment Station will tell you of new and improved varieties of grass you might try to your profit, and they will also advise you about reseeding, lime, and fertilizer. And never overlook this important rule of grass care—don't overgraze!

We at Swift & Company are marketing the products of your grass, and so we say with you, "Grass is our living, too!"

in almost every band. But he's not as bad as his reputation paints him. Permanently dyed black by nature, his fleece cannot be bleached. The uses for black wool are limited so care must be exercised to keep it properly sorted in the wool clip. However, manufacturers do weave it into broadcloth. And—believe it or not—the wool from the black sheep in the flock becomes clothing for the clergy.

Meet Bill Reneker, Swift's Head Hog Buyer

If you have marketed hogs since 1907, chances are that Bill Reneker bought some of them for he has bought more than 30 million for Swift's . . . some of them in Western Canada where he was buyer from 1916 to 1923, and the rest in the U. S. A. He became head hog buyer for Swift & Company in 1932.

When not buying hogs, Bill Reneker likes to judge them in the show ring. Right now he's booked until next September to judge at several shows and hog meetings.

An interest in hogs comes to Bill naturally. His father was a livestock salesman and his grandfather conducted a commission business in Pittsburgh as far back as 1866. His hobby is sharing his vast knowledge of hogs with farm boys and girls.

If you should see this big, friendly man in a show ring, don't hesitate to get acquainted with him.

IT'S 2,049 MILES FROM HEREFORD, TEXAS, TO HARTFORD, CONN.

To the west of the Mississippi is produced two-thirds of the nation's meat. To the east live more than two-thirds of all Americans. Under these conditions either livestock or fresh meat must be transported from the West to the East, and as we know, it has been found to be more economical to slaughter the animals in central plants in surplus producing sections, save the by-products, then transport the meat in refrigerator cars to the consuming sections, than to ship the live animals.

To have a market for livestock, we must find a market for meat. The job of nation-wide meat packers is to bridge the gap, an average of more than a thousand miles, made up in part from such trips as Boise, Idaho, to Boston; from Denver to Detroit; from Paducah to Pittsburgh; and from Hereford, Texas, to Hartford, Connecticut. It is necessary to have a large organization with proper facilities to handle efficiently nationwide distribution to the thousands of consuming centers of America.

This is the last page of information that we will issue until September. But please don't let the recess keep you from writing us when we can be of help to you. Better still, come and see us in Swift & Company's office building at the Union Stock Yards, in Chicago.

F. M. Simpson,

Agricultural Research Department

The Test Is Coming . . .

DEAN EMERITUS ROSCOE POUND of Harvard Law School, has expressed deep concern over one of the greatest internal dangers to liberty that this country has ever faced. That danger is the insidious subjugation of the rule of law in favor of government by administrative decree or, as he describes it, "administrative absolutism." This tendency must be checked, he said, as we will find ourselves with a "regime of autocratic bureaus" so entrenched as to lead us in the direction of dictatorship and totalitarianism.

"Instead of our fundamental doctrine that government is to be carried on according to law, we are told that what government does is law," he continued. "Instead of a law which thinks of citizens and officials as equally subject to law, we are told of a public law which subordinates the citizen to the official and enables the latter to put the claims of one citizen over those of another * * * according to his personal ideas for the time being."

We must realize, too, that an entire generation has grown up aware of two main facts—depression and war.

Since 1929 a state of emergency has been our normal mode of life, and always the idea of security has been planted in the larger idea of a great central state, with government spending compensating for the weaknesses of human nature. That idea is alluring to many. It makes work an outdated concept. It makes mediocrity the general standard and initiative a high crime in the eyes of those who lack it.

But it is directly opposed to the fundamental principles upon which this land was made great and for which the Allies are still fighting.

Only private enterprise can make real prosperity. That is why this system of emergency wartime powers now vested in government must be withdrawn at the earliest possible moment. Government according to law should become the motto of every American.

Many Men Help In Clothing Collection In This Vicinity

Collections stations for this clothing were set up and serviced by S. T. Naylor, Howard White supervised house-to-house truck collections, while Eliza Bray had charge of sorting, packing and shipping. Publicity and advertising were handled by Edward A. Conroy, while Dempsey R. Fleming looked after all details in Mt. Lake Park. Rev. Minor Sprague was general chairman.

Agencies in Maryland have collected four million pounds of clothing thus far. Throughout the nation over eighty million pounds have been collected thus far. Final reports are expected to show that the country has gone well over the goal of 150 million pounds.

Spitznagel, State Supervisor of High Schools, at the William-James hotel, Monday evening to consider the problem of housing facilities in regard to the eventual change-over from eleven to twelve years in the educational system.

A meeting with the educational committee, which was to have been held on May 25, was postponed.

Farm Labor Will Be Available Thru VFV

Maryland farmers who have been worrying about the shortage of farm labor during the coming harvest season can pack up their troubles right now, if they apply for the services of Victory Farm Volunteers by June 1. That was the word by Mylo S. Downey, state boys' club agent at the University of Maryland and assistant state supervisor of the Farm Labor Program's VFV.

The Victory Farm Volunteers are boys from the Washington and Baltimore areas, who are anxious to help Maryland farms this summer. Many are unaccustomed to farm work, but they are willing to learn. Downey pointed out, and past experience has shown that these boys are a good source of emergency farm labor.

The boys will be available about June 20. Maryland farmers can obtain their services by filing applications with their county agent. The applications must be approved by the county agent or the Farm Labor Committee. The application blanks contain provisions safeguarding both the farmer and the Victory Farm Volunteers. It is guaranteed that the boys will be physically able to do farm work, that they will be reliable, and that they will have been recommended by school advisers. The farmer retains the right to discharge these students if their work or conduct is not satisfactory, after first talking with the supervisor.

On the other hand, the farmer guarantees to pay the boys a starting wage specified by him for specific types of work, to treat them fairly, and to help them to learn as much as possible. The farmer agrees not to require more than 10 hours work per day, except in emergency situations, with either an adjustment in pay or an equal amount of time off during a slack period.

Garrett Countians Held in Theft Case

Three youths, two from Garrett county and one from Hagerstown, were taken to the Baltimore city jail Tuesday in default of $1,000 bond, each after pleading guilty to stealing fifty-six cartons of Camel cigarettes from a Pennsylvania freight car in Hagerstown early Sunday morning, according to Howard P. Loughrie, deputy United States marshal.

The youths are William Russell Standley, 18, Vindex; Charles L. Brown, 23, Swanton; and James D. Burger, 22, Hagerstown. They were arrested in Hagerstown Monday by two police officers of the Hagerstown force and an FBI agent, and pleaded guilty when arraigned the same day before United States Commissioner C. Welles Little in Hagerstown. Loughrie took them to the Baltimore jail, where they will be held pending action of the federal grand jury.

Loughrie said the youths broke into the freight car, which was on a siding of the Pennsylvania railroad in Hagerstown, at 2 p. m. Sunday, and put the fifty-six cartons of cigarettes into a bag. When they were leaving the siding they "ran into two policemen," he added.

Brown and Burger are discharged servicemen, Brown having served in the army and Burger in the navy. Loughrie stated. He added that a warrant has been sworn out against Brown by Sheriff George Coddington, Oakland, charging Brown with forgery. A note for $40 on the Garrett National Bank at Oakland last February.

Honor Roll Carries 2,000 Service Names

Has Been Brought Up To Date By Local Concern After Month Of Work

Oakland's Honor Roll, located on Third street, has now been brought up to date by the Oakland Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., with almost 2,000 names listed of men and women who entered the service of their country.

The new honor roll is sixty feet long and twelve feet high. The Coca-Cola Company had parts of the roll in Cumberland all winter where painters placed about 1,700 names. The balance of the names were placed last week by painters from Morgantown. The cost of painting alone has been around $500.00, and John Bell, local manager of the plant, said his company had expended around $1500 in erecting and maintaining the roll.

More than $50.00 has been used in purchasing lumber to erect the honor roll substantially, to make it safe from strong winds.

The Honor Roll is located on the town property adjacent to the Coca-Cola plant and will probably be viewed by hundreds on Memorial Day.

More Music Stands Needed by Band

Although the appeal for music stands by the Oakland Fire Department band has brought some results, Harry S. Mickey, director, stated that quite a few more were needed, and again made an appeal to any one having such to donate or sell to the band. Mr. Mickey said these stands were needed in order to play concerts this summer, and they cannot at present be purchased from music companies since their production has ceased due to wartime conditions.

Older Men Will Get Deferments

Indefinite blanket deferment of men 20 and over who remain in "useful" jobs was ordered by Selective Service in Washington.

This policy, effective at once, results from the narrowing of the war to one front, according to Lewis R. Hershey, draft director. He said the draft call would be cut about 25 percent to 90,000 men a month beginning in July.

Hershey predicted at the same time that as a result of the new leniency for older men, it will be necessary to call an increasing number of occupationally deferred registrants 18 thru 29.

Older Youth Group Meets

About thirty members of the Older Youth Group of the county met last Friday evening at the Bittinger recreation area.

E. Ray Jones, Oakland attorney, spoke to the group on the "Relation of Law to the Home."

Following the business session there were games and refreshments. The Youth Group is sponsored by the Extension Service.

Three more eggs were brought in for exhibit at The Republican office this week, examples of what the hens are doing on the N. C. Sanders farm at Hutton.

Although they didn't come near to breaking any records, they aren't to be sneezed at. They weigh 3, 4 and 4 1/2 ounces respectively, the latter one being 6 1/2 inches around the long way.

Brings His Flying Fortress Model to His Oakland Home

Sgt. Percy Thayer, of the army air force, located at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, who has been making flying airplane models in his spare time, brought his flying fortress model with him when he arrived last week-end at his home here for a furlough.

Though model airplanes powered with one or two gasoline engines are declared to be not unusual, Sgt. Thayer has put together a B-17 Flying Fortress with no less than four operable gasoline engines.

The sergeant's plane has a six-foot wingspan. Each of its four small gasoline engines has its own fuel and ignition system. To fly perfectly, all four must function in unison.

To insure safety against the hard knocks that a plane of such size must be capable of taking, Sgt. Thayer has covered the plane with a one-sixteenth inch of sheet balsa wood; added to that a tissue covering and then covered the entire model with a dope which binds the materials into a firm shell.

The model B-17 is a "control line" model and is controlled at the end of a 100-foot line which may be made of fish line, linen, or steel wire.

Sgt. Thayer explained that all models of this type are very sensitive since they cannot maintain a glide such as most free-flight and rubber-powered models. He gave a demonstration with his smaller model planes on Sunday afternoon on the Elementary school ground.

Accompanied to Oakland by his wife, both returned to Dayton on Wednesday.

The sermon to the graduates will be delivered by Rev. Reece Burns, pastor of the Bethel Methodist church, Mt. Lake Park, in the Methodist church at Oakland on Sunday evening, June 3, at 8:15 o'clock. Weather Discouraging For Most Farm People

People in general, more particularly the farmers, continue to be discouraged as a result of the weather which in the main has continued rainy and cold throughout May.

A frost on Sunday morning, May 20, nipped a number of gardens, but did not do any extensive damage. The continued rain has made it almost impossible for many farmers to do their necessary plowing and preparing of the ground for planting. The official reading at Weber's Sunday morning was five degrees below freezing.

Prospects for the week-end were favorable with fair and warmer predicted for today.

Meat Situation Due For Improvement

A survey of grocery stores this morning in regard to the meat situation left one with the impression that it was due for improvement soon—it couldn't get much worse.

Refrigerators and show cases have been practically bare of meat for the past week. Deliveries from packers are few and far between and there is no local meat, due to the new regulations of the OPA requiring farmers to have slaughterers' permits. All old permits have been cancelled and new ones haven't been issued.

Two In Casualty List

Casualty lists of the past week-end carried the names of Pfc. McKinley R. Stephens, Jr., of Oakland, as having been wounded in the European area, and T-4 Elliott C. Bell, Kitzmiller, as being missing in action in the European area.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens received word on Tuesday from the government saying their son was making normal improvement in an army hospital. The message said he had sustained a wound of the right arm and a fracture of the arm. Pfc. Stephens has been in service for more than three years and has been overseas since early in February. Another son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, Pvt. James Stephens, is with an artillery unit in the European theatre.

Additional Watchman Sought for Railroad Crossing in Oakland

Mayor Lawrence M. Fraley announced this week that town officials had asked the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company for a third watchman at the railroad crossing on Second street, to be on duty from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m., or if this could not be arranged, then to have flashing lights erected which could be turned on during those hours when there is no watchman available. Watchmen are on duty at present from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Fraley pointed out to B. and O. officials that the request was emphasized at this time because a gasoline truck, carrying about 2,000 gallons, narrowly missed being struck by the National Limited a few nights ago. Had there been a collision the resulting damage from fire might have been disastrous, it was stated.

The railroad company was also asked at the same time to investigate the condition which always existed here during high water, and the danger from flood because of the inadequate culvert beneath the tracks which carried the waters of Wilson Creek into the Little Youghiogheny river. The town officials are hoping that an additional overflow culvert will be placed under the tracks by the railroad company.

The docket calls for the selection of a place and date for the annual meeting, the planning of a program, entertainment, and refreshments, and the nomination of two qualified farmer-members for each vacancy on the advisory board and two farm women for each vacancy on the Farm Home Advisory committee. The elections will be held at the annual meeting.

Assisting with this planning conference will be District Manager C. T. Cline, Bridgewater.

If you PLANT NOW and PRESERVE next Summer you'll be mighty thankful next Winter

No one need tell the housewife about food scarcities even now, and it takes only simple mathematics to determine that with more millions of mouths to feed as weeks go on, stringencies in food will be even more severe.

A little effort now in your garden will yield rich rewards in fresh vegetables during the summer and row on row of canned foods for your shelves . . . a bulwark against shortages next winter.

The Gas Range is the ideal source of heat when canning. The close temperature control, the instant heat, the speed and economy with which it helps do the job, all contribute to your satisfaction. And when you're busy gardening or canning, and mealtime rolls around, the Gas Range makes cooking go fast and with little effort.

You'll save money too by gardening and canning. Money you can put in War Bonds.

MEMORIAL DAY

BY RUTH TAYLOR

MEMORIAL DAY is not a holiday, but a holy day. Memorial Day is a pause in which to remember those who died in all our wars, those who perished in the last great holocaust, as well as those who are dying in the inferno of the present war.

Memorial Day is a solemn day—one on which we, the nation, should objectively consider the mistakes of the past, and calmly face the problems of the future, resolving that never again will we pay the price of a neglected duty.

Memorial Day is a day on which we are all Americans. We do not think of celebrating it by groups of class or race or creed. Whatever group loyalties bind us at other times—on this day of the year we are only brother Americans.

In his tribute to the late President of the United States on last Columbus Day, the Attorney General said: "The Commander-in-Chief knows men and he knows war; and he knows the American people. He knows that there is no question of race on the beachheads and no question of creeds in a foxhole. He knows that, as every race and creed have mingled in our streets—every race and creed lies buried in Arlington."

In war we are all one people. Our boys do not die as rich or poor, workingman or employer, black or white, native born or naturalized citizens, Protestant, Catholic or Jew. They die as Americans. We honor them as Americans who gave their lives that there might not perish from the earth the ideals of justice and liberty for all men, regardless of their race, creed, color or previous condition of servitude. They have earned for their sons and daughters—and for their neighbors' sons and daughters—the right to live and prosper as Americans.

The one great honor we owe those who have died, the only memorial that is worth the building, is the preservation of the things for which they fought, the maintenance of that unity of purpose as Americans, which must be the cornerstone of the world of tomorrow. The unity that was won on the beachheads; the unity that was fused in the foxholes; the unity that lies buried in Arlington and in unmarked graves all over the world, is the unity that we must preserve in the days to come.

Memorial Day is a holy day. And on this day we must renew our pledge to those who have gone on, that we may be worthy of the sacrifice which they, our fellow-Americans, have made.

Oaklander Tells of Visit to Coblenz, Germany

T/Sgt. James B. Bell Writes Interesting Letter About His Trip Over Germany in a B-24

T/Sgt. James B. Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bell, Liberty st., Oakland, wrote an interesting letter to his parents on May 6—the day before Germany's surrender—in which he described a trip from England to Coblenz, Germany.

Sgt. Bell is an aerial photographer and has been in England as such for upwards of a year or more. He was on board a B-24 plane, which flew over Belgium and the Ruhr and landed at Coblenz, on the Rhine. He writes:

"It's not quite the same as St. Margaret's on the Thames. The RAF and the 88th AF have been to Coblenz—(so had Patton) and the great difference in the two places lies in those factors. But let me tell you about it.

"My orders read that I was to accompany a group of fellows—line chiefs, mechanics, etc., who had won bronze stars for the job that they had done in the way of keeping the ships in the air. The 8th AF was giving them a chance to see what their work had accomplished in the way of bombs on the target. My job was to make some shots of them that could be used in releases to their home town papers.

"We were airborne at seven o'clock on the 2nd and as the weather was rather thick, we flew on instruments until it began to break and that was not until we were well over the North Sea. The first large town we flew over was Brussels and from the altitude that we were flying I could see the people on the streets and from the air the city looked very beautiful. It had been damaged a little by bombing, but not enough so that anyone would notice it. I made some shots of the big buildings with the aerial camera that I had with me.

"From Brussels we went on to the city of Liege and from there we made for Germany. Our first German town was Aachen, and it was leveled to the ground. Before I actually saw it I had figured that it was pretty well hit, but not completely destroyed. As we flew across the Cologne plain we saw zigzag trenches that we gave up trying to see them all. Every town on the plain was leveled and the place looked as if you couldn't have walked two feet without falling into some sort of a crater.

"We hit the Rhine at Cologne, and the only building that remained standing during the onslaught was the Cathedral. It was easy to spot it and I got the pilot to fly around it so that I could make a few shots. I could never explain to you how the city looked. It was so completely bombed and shelled that if the Germans ever want to rebuild Cologne they will have to start further down the river and make it a complete new town.

"We followed the Rhine as we flew south of Cologne and we passed over the Remagen bridge and from there flew on to Coblenz, which was the town we had come out to see. From the air Coblenz seemed to have been hit, but not half as badly as other towns that we had flown over. I did notice that there were no people on the streets though, and later I was to learn that when you look at a town from the air the damage doesn't seem nearly as great as it really is.

"We set the B-24 down near Coblenz and found that there was a truck waiting there to take us anywhere that we wanted to go. It was about nine in the morning then, so we had practically the whole day for our 'Cook's' tour. We decided to go directly to Coblenz. We had on our helmets and guns. The fellows on the base where we landed told us that we had better wear them, for even though the war was over as far as these Germans were concerned, they still liked to knife fellows in the back. I was long I had wished that some Jerry had tried to give me a hand time, but so far as shootin' goes, it was a peaceful day.

"As we drove into Coblenz we traveled the same road that Patton's boys had used when they took the town and crossed the Rhine. Both sides of the road were full of wrecked German equipment, and as we neared the city we saw one of the big flak batteries that had pounded the steel at our lips and had also probably been leveled at Patton. It consisted of twelve 88's and when we passed them on our trip they were silent and twisted. They will never make the boys laugh happy again.

"We drove across the Moselle (the Moselle meets the Rhine at Coblenz) on a bridge that had been repaired by GI engineers, and decided to park the truck at the Allied Military Government building. We could leave the truck there and walk through the city. In that way we could see more things and as the AMG told us we could go wherever we wanted to and could take anything that we wanted—that was the only way to do the thing.

"In telling you about the damage to the city I could probably write a complete book and not cover the story. If you can imagine a city of the dead without any kind of shops, without any kind of utilities or anything else that every city must have in order to live, then you may have an idea what it was like. There wasn't any water, electricity, fuel, etc. There weren't even any drug stores or beer joints. Of the 100,000 people that had lived there at one time, there were just a few left and there is still 7,000 of them buried under the debris. The odor was terrible and in some places I nearly gave Coblenz part of my stomach.

"We walked through what used to be gay streets and what were now just rubble piles. All day long didn't see one building that was halfway fit to live in. I could never tell you how it made me feel. I just wish that every person in the world had a chance to see what I saw. There wouldn't be any more wars then.

"I got a chance to look at German people and to see the expressions on their faces. That is something that I will remember, too. They all have a smile for you when you look their way, but it is not a truthful smile. It is a smile that is hard to name. They seem to want to be friends with you and at the same time kill you. There is hate in those smiles and fear, too. That fear is the thing that I liked to see. This time they know that they are conquered. They can't blame their defeat on anything but the fact that they were better soldiers than they were. When we went into one of their houses (I) and took what we wanted, they knew that that was the way of a conqueror. They step aside when you walk by them. They asked for it, and they got it? We saw so many bombed buildings that I got tired of looking at them.

"I got a German and a French helmet, too, but it was too much to carry, so I threw it away. I took a hat, too, that had the Nazi party badge on it. The only worthwhile souvenir that I managed was a little pair of wooden shoes that I got from a cute little German kid. She didn't want to give them to me when I first asked her, I had offered her a stick of gum for them, but she wanted to take the gum and keep the shoes too. Just before the trucks pulled out, though, her want of gum got the best of her and she gave me the shoes. My conscience has bothered me ever since. She was cute and kids are one thing that war should leave alone. All the little German kids seemed nice and awfully cute.

"On our way back to the ship, we passed a prisoner-of-war camp and they had so many krauts in it that I couldn't begin to count them. They were all jammed together and aren't getting the good treatment that some must be getting in the States. That is the way I like to see the game played. Stick to the rules and don't make it a bed of roses.

"Guess that about finishes it. Wish that I had more time and could tell you a lot more but this ought to get the general idea over to you. I've talked half of the afternoon now, so I had better sign off."

Home Economic Club News Notes

The Home Economics Club of the local school was represented at the regional Betty Lamp Club meeting, held at Fort Hill High school in Cumberland, on Saturday, May 5. Helen Stahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Stahl, and president of the local club, was chairman of this meeting and was the candidate for the State club for the coming year.

Members from Grantsville who attended were Helen Stahl, Helen D. Beachy, Ruth Walls, Joann Walls, Audra Speicher, Retha Folk, Donna Reckner and Mrs. Elizabeth Hanlin, club adviser.

The club has been quite active this year. In October four club girls, with Mrs. Hanlin, attended the State meeting in College Park and returned to Washington for a tour of some of the places of national interest. In January the girls made a contribution to the Newton D. Baker General Hospital in Martinsburg for the "Meet The Wife Campaign." In recognition of this contribution, Captain C. W. Lamont and two members of the hospital staff visited the High school and presented a program describing the work carried on there.

During the first semester the girls saved enough money from the budget of the department to purchase a pressure cooker for the laboratory.

In March, the girls presented a varied program of entertainment for the school assembly.

In the past weeks the girls have made sewing machine and cabinet covers, table cloths and napkins for the department, painted furniture for the food laboratory and contributed $15 to the fund for the purchase of dishes for the school.

The girls of the freshmen and sophomore classes served the annual Mother-Daughter banquet for the junior and senior girls and their guests, and twenty-five girls of the club prepared and served the annual athletic banquet for the school.

Lay Cards On Table

HIGH PRESSURE publicity is pouring through the country to prove that "price control really works." The wonder is that anyone should ever doubt that it would work—temporarily. Grant any government enough power backed with public cooperation and it can reach certain objectives. Ours is not the first nation that has discovered this fact.

The practice of comparing the price indices of World War II under a regulated system with those of World War I under an unregulated system in attempts to show what a wonderful thing price fixing is, is getting more than a little tiresome. It is about time that someone laid the cards on the table.

Holding prices down has been an expensive procedure—expensive from the standpoint of loss of personal freedom and the creation of ominous Federal controls that are even now being seriously considered as desirable peacetime attributes of government. People seem to have forgotten that price fixing did not start out as an instrument of convenience for the home front. It was supposed to be an emergency measure to guarantee no interruption in the war effort. If perpetuated in peacetime to guard against the unavoidable risks of free markets and the competitive operation of business, it will mean the end of representative government in this country.

Hundreds of thousands of retailers throughout the nation know that a credible job has been done in holding down wartime prices. They have helped hold them down. But the farsighted merchant is not indulging in unqualified bragging. He is mindful of the cost of price control and is gravely concerned lest this cost in the end outweigh any temporary material benefits which consumers may derive from the dictatorial decrees of government bureaus. He knows that America's grip on freedom has been weakened.

Parking Fee For State Forest Areas Has Been Established

Money To Be Used For Upkeep Of Parks; Seasonal Permits Available

To provide the personnel necessary to ensure that recreational areas in Maryland's state forests and parks will receive needed up-keep and be policed in a way to prevent the accumulation of unsightly trash, to bar vandalism, and to provide visitors freedom from overcrowding and disorder, the Commission of State Forests and Parks has established a daily parking fee of $5.00 for cars which visit these areas. This charge applies only to what may be termed the transient trade, that is, persons from Maryland and from other states who visit a recreational area not more than once or twice a year. Those who live near recreational areas and visit them frequently may obtain a seasonal permit for the nominal sum of $2.00. A permit good for a week may be had for $1.00. This schedule goes into effect June 1. For several years, small charges have been made for the use of outdoor fireplaces, shelters, and other special services.

Practically no provision is made in the budget of the Department of Forests and Parks, as submitted by the Governor to the recent Legislature, for park personnel. State Forester Joseph F. Kaylor points out, these publicly-owned areas of natural beauty are largely left to shift for themselves. In the circumstances, Kaylor says, the people of Maryland have a right to expect that the matter will receive proper attention.

The Commission of State Forests and Parks, Kaylor adds, was reluctant to establish an admission fee to recreational areas for the privilege of mere entry, though this is accepted practice in many other states, but instead decided on a parking charge. On practically all recreational areas, parking sites have been developed at considerable expense, with guard rails and water facilities, and must be kept in good order. In the opinion of the Commission, all this fully justifies a service charge.

Gillette Is Speaker

G. Marshall Gillette, vice-president of Northwestern Mining and Exchange company, Dulois, Penna., former general superintendent of Consolidated Coal company, Frostburg, gave the principal address.

Mr. Gillette was a member of the commission appointed by the late Governor Ritchie in 1922 to draft the mining laws of the state, other members being William Milnes Maloy, Baltimore, and Charles T. Clayton.

Mr. Gillette told of the many problems that confronted the committee in drafting the mining law for Maryland, but declared that over a long period of years it had proved to be workable, had been applied fairly and honestly, and still remains, with few changes, the mining law of the state. He spoke of the necessity of having laws and regulations that were fair to both operators and miners and stated that this was given much consideration when the Mining law was drafted. He said the United Mine Workers of America had been cooperative and helpful when the laws were written.

Dan Walker, son of W. D. Walker, of Kitzmiller, engineer in charge of the Fairmont station, Federal Bureau of Mines, spoke briefly concerning the benefits of the mining classes. He said that from now on the mine operator would be measured by his ability to cooperate with the miner. With hours of labor fixed, wages fixed, he said it was necessary to receive full cooperation of miners in production and safety. Safety measures are considered as vitally important in meeting competition with other industries.

J. J. Rutledge, of Annapolis, chief mine engineer of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, presided as toastmaster. Walter W. Dawson gave the address of welcome to the visiting miners.

Capt. Wooddell Gets Honorable Discharge From Army Air Corps

Spent 5 Years In Service, Two Years On Foreign Soil; To Study Dentistry

After five years in the service, Captain Joseph Hopwood Wooddell is now an ex-captain, having received an honorable discharge from the army air corps, at the separation center at Camp Beale, California.

Capt. Wooddell, at the time of his honorable discharge, was intelligence officer with the 5th operational training unit at Palm Springs Army Air Field, Palm Springs, California, and had completed two years of foreign duty at Natal, Brazil, on Ascension island, and other bases in the South Atlantic. He returned to the United States early in 1945.

Within five hours after Capt. Wooddell arrived at the separation center at Camp Beale he had been discharged and was on his way back to Palm Springs. However, he stopped at Los Angeles where he purchased an entire new civilian outfit and changed it immediately. When a soldier remarked that he wasted no time in changing he replied, "Well, after five years in uniform, I—" and a smile and slight shrug of his shoulders completed his sentence to the complete understanding of those present.

His hide of one month, the former Christine Yeager, of Oneida, N. Y., a first lieutenant in the Women's Army Corps, whom he met after going to his assignment at California, will use her husband's discharge in obtaining a similar release from the service. While the WAC officer's application is pending, her husband will remain in Palm Springs.

Capt. Wooddell will return to Oakland just as soon as his wife is released. He intends to study dentistry at Johns Hopkins university. He was commissioned an officer in July, 1942.

Memorial Day was generally observed throughout the county with special services at a number of cemeteries. At many other cemeteries relatives and friends came to lay flowers on graves of deceased to honor their memory.

At Oakland, the members of the American Legion and Knights of Pythias organizations joined in a program at the cemetery and before the county honor roll. A procession of local organizations and school children, headed by the Fire Department band, formed at the city hall and after marching through the main section of town, filed to the cemetery where the graves of deceased veterans and members of the lodge were decorated and a brief address delivered by Rev. George D. Birk, Lutheran pastor.

Rev. Birk stressed three ideas of Memorial Day, that its purpose was something alive, in that the ideals for which persons died were carried on; that the real meaning of liberty was something that had to be built, something we had to serve, not something that we could buy. Concerning the inscription on the tomb of the unknown soldier, Rev. Birk recalled Paul's missionary journey where he came upon an altar to "the unknown God." Paul showed the people that the "unknown God" was really Christ, who was a very personal God to them. He characterized the unknown soldier as one, although unknown in name, who had made a very personal contribution to people now living on the earth.

At the conclusion of services at the cemetery the group marched to the county honor roll on Third street where Delbert Davis, in a short message, dedicated the roll of the 2,000 individuals represented there, and also stressed the importance of those who continued to do their share on the home front.

Practically all places of business were closed throughout the day, or observed Sunday hours.

With Our Men In The Service

Air Force Men Congratulated

Among the 185,000 men and women of the Eighth Air Force congratulated on V-E Day by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who assumed command of the Eighth in January, 1944, is S. Sgt. Robert W. Lohr, 31, a member of the crash crew and five brigade in the 78th Fleighter Group somewhere in England, whose wife, Mrs. Virginia F. Lohr, lives in Oakland.

"I wish to extend my personal congratulations and my heartfelt appreciation to every one of you for the magnificent job you have done," Gen. Doolittle said in a message to all personnel.

The Eighth Air Force was the world's mightiest strategic bombing force. Its personnel of 185,000 was the equivalent of 12 infantry divisions, and it could send 21,000 airplanes in 2,000 four-engine bombers and 1,000 fighters over Germany at one time, a combat effort possible only through the support of tens of thousands of non-flying specialists.

Since August, 1942, when combat operations began, Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the Eighth dropped more than 700,000 tons of bombs on enemy targets. Fighter pilots shot down 5,250 Nazi planes and destroyed 4,250 others on the ground. Bomber gunners shot 6,000 German interceptors out of the air.

The Eighth dropped an average of a ton of bombs every minute of the last 12 months.

Chief Warrant Officer Gerald R. Inman, Kitzmiller, has arrived at Army Air Forces Redistribution Station in Miami Beach for reassignment processing following completion of a furlough. Previously he had served in Africa.

Medical examinations and classification interviews at this post will determine his new assignment. He will remain at the redistribution station about two weeks, much of which will be devoted to rest and recreation.

Chief Warrant Officer Inman was overseas 31 months in the Mediterranean theatre of operations, where he was an administrative officer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Inman. His wife, Mrs. Aileen Inman, resides in Kitzmiller.

Unusual for service troops, Corporal Jay C. Davis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay C. Davis, Sr., former residents here, is one of more than 100 officers and enlisted men of the 10th Air Service Group, entitled to battle participation credit for campaign "Germany."

Corporal Davis, at a troop carrier base in France, is qualified to wear a Bronze Service Star on his European Theatre of Operations ribbon, to indicate duty performed in a combat zone. He served near the front lines in Belgium and Holland, sometime during the period September 28, 1944, to March 17, 1945, in the reclamation of C-G-A gliders.

The engineless aircraft were reemployed in the successful airborne thrust across the Rhine, near Wesel.

Robert Roy Lewis, 31, chief radio man, USN, son of Mrs. May L. Lewis, Star Route, Oakland, is now on duty at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Tillamook, Ore. Lewis has served aboard the cruiser USS Tuscaloosa which participated in the actions at Casablanca, Normandy, and Southern France.

Lt. Mary K. Speicher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Speicher, Deer Park, was among the approximately 200 members of Class 5 of the Third Service Command Nurses Training Center graduated at the Quartermaster School at Camp Lee, Va., last Saturday.

Col. Max R. Walner, director of the Quartermaster Board, who was principal speaker at the exercises, hailed the service of the Army Nurse as "typical of the best in America and in humanity the world over."

Receives Promotion

Second Lieutenant Joseph L. Hooper, commander, husband of the former Loretta Ashley, Crellin, was promoted to First Lieutenant on May 19th. He is stationed at an air base in Foggia, Italy. He received his commission a year ago last November, at Camp Barksley, Texas.

Private Harold C. Resh, Grantsville, was one of 150 Marylanders who were scheduled to leave Bremerhaven, Germany, on May 28 for home and probably civilian life. All had 85 or more service points. These men were part of a group of 500 of the Blue and Gray Division—the 29th.

Corporal Robert J. Stanton, Army Air Corps, is now somewhere in New Guinea where he is a tail gunner on a B-24 bomber. He has already completed four missions, according to word received here by Mrs. Stanton, the former Miss Beryliline Fulk.

Corporal Doran Ellis, former Crellin resident, is in a hospital on two Japs, following an accident in which a flywheel on some piece of machine attacked his knee. Ellis has been in the Pacific area for many months.

Returns Home

Pfc. Harold Lewis, Jr., is spending a 30-day furlough with his wife, the former Alberta Cannon, in Crellin. He has been hospitalized in France and England for wounds received on January 27th and also for frozen feet. He returned to the States by plane along with several other wounded men and arrived in New York on May 17th. He has been awarded the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantryman's Badge, and the Bronze Star. He is to report back to Woodrow Wilson hospital, Staunton, Va. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lewis, live in Crellin.

Now In Austria

Cpl. Howard P. Adams, son of Mrs. Stella Adams, Crellin, is in Salzburg, Austria, according to a letter received recently, which was the first message from him since he was in a hospital as the result of wounds which he suffered March 18. His outfit, attached to the 7th Infantry, was the first one to go into Hitler's home in the mountains of Austria. Cpl. Adams did not learn of the death of his brother, Pfc. James Adams, which occurred March 2 in Luxembourg, until on May 20. The brothers are sons of the late Duncan Adams, late of Crellin.

Major Mitchell Franklin, who is now located in Germany with a quarter-master unit of the army, writes that in his travels through France, England and Germany he has not met anyone from Garrett county but still hopes, as they seem to be all over the world. He receives The Republican which "helps to be in touch with so many people I know back in good old Garrett county. I read every word in every column and just think how nice it would be to be back where the words are put together. Please give my best wishes to my friends in Oakland. I am well and mighty happy that your paper is reaching me."

Mrs. Ward Hinshaw was notified that her husband, Corporal Ward Hinshaw, who was seriously injured in action in Germany, having lost his left leg, had arrived in this country and was being placed in an army hospital in North Carolina.

Lt. (j.g.) Harry Lee Porter, now stationed in Washington, D. C., with the Navy Department, after serving for over two years in Hawaii, arrived in Oakland last Saturday to spend a fifteen-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Porter, south of town.

Mrs. Ruth Kahl heard last Friday from her eldest son, Sgt. William A. Kahl, U. S. Marine Corps, who has been a prisoner of the Japs since December 11, 1941, in Shanghai, China. Sgt. Kahl was stationed at the American embassy in Peking, China, in the regular service at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Corporal James H. Nordeck, who has been with an army unit on the Hawaiian islands for thirty-three months, arrived in Oakland on Monday morning to remain with relatives for a month or more. Nordeck was inducted on May 6, 1942, and after a brief training period of about ten weeks was sent overseas, never having had a furlough. He is a brother of Mrs. Richard O. Gleditsky, of Oakland. Three other brothers are serving in the armed forces, Gene, Max, and George. The latter, a private first class, who was wounded in action in Germany, is now in the Mayo General hospital, Galesburg, Ill., having landed in the United States last Thursday. Max is a navy lieutenant in the Pacific area, and Gene is an army private at Camp Wainwright, Alaska.

Pfc. Almona Broadwater, Grantsville hospital in Georgia after his furlough of 17 months. He fought in two major battles with an infantry division in France and Germany. He was awarded the Purple Heart medal and the Oak Leaf Cluster following being twice wounded. He will go to the general furlough after serving over-rough expires.

Howard Smouse, S. 2/c, Oakland, and Alvin Friend, S. 2/c, of Swanton, returned to Bainbridge Tuesday night following 9-day leaves with their respective parents.

GORMANIA ARMY NURSE TELLS OF "BELGIAN BULGE" FIGHTING

First Lieut. Gustava M. Schaeffer, army nurse corps, of Gorman, W. Va., recently wrote a letter to the editor of the Grant County Press, published at Petersburg, W. Va., in which she told of the fighting around the "Belgian Bulge."

Lieut. Schaeffer is a sister of A. V. Schaeffer, of Oakland, manager of the Orange Crush Bottling company. She is a daughter of the late John W. Schaeffer, of Garman.

In telling of the "strategic withdrawal" of her own hospital unit in the bulge just after the breakthrough, she stated:

"We had a very nice place in which to live in Ettlebrink, Luxembourg, in fact, the best we had had up to that time, and were very reluctant to move. I was on night duty at the time, and when one of our very young super-visions came into the ward all excited and stated we'd have to move that night, I thought it would eventually turn out to be a rumor. My ward was a large one and I had to work fast.

"Besides evacuating all those patients that night, the charts had to be written up, signed by the O.D. and sent to the office. When the noises started very early one morning and kept up for each consecutive morning, I was convinced that we would have to move.

"Nurses at a rule move by ambulances, at least in our unit they do. On Monday morning at 8 o'clock we very quietly got into our places and infiltrated by three. Our three ambulances took the lead and we felt a little fearful that some ambulance might get lost, and one was for a time. We only had a short distance to travel to our new destination which was Spa, but when we arrived at a bridge (now only two ambulances) we were told by the guards that they were going to blow up the bridge in 15 or 20 minutes to stop the German advance. We turned and proceeded to find our convoy after driving 175 miles that day (and it seemed as if we were just going around in one little circle). We ran across our convoy just outside of Huy. All were together except one ambulance load from my group; that one had gone on to Spa. However, the bridge was not blown up and the ambulance load returned to Huy that night. Our first echelon had gotten off the road and landed at St. Vith where they ran into German tanks. How our men escaped at that place I don't know, unless the Germans took them to be Jerries in G. I. clothing.

"I shall never forget the happy faces I saw that evening. We were all together and extremely fortunate to have all of our equipment. We set up at Huy in a school building—the next

Peacetime Military Conscription

To the Editor of The Republican.

It is reported that hearings on peacetime military conscription will begin on June 4.

I wish to again express my opinion as a peace-loving citizen, warning all peace-loving people to wake up and write or wire our President, Congressmen and Senators protesting against the bill. I have talked to many wide-awake young men, as well as old ones. The young generation is becoming tired of having their lives thrown away on a war which they do not want.

I must confess such an idea as a postwar draft of eighteen-year-olds seems sheer folly. Let's be prepared so no nation dare strike us again, and it will do wonders for the health of the nation, but two of their favorite slogans.

Why is it they resort to an old idea like military training to achieve their ends?

Take a look at the nations of Europe today. See what peacetime military training did for them. What happened to Hitler and his kind—how their military training helped Europe and will wreck the world if military men are allowed to run our nation.

The younger generation wants no wars and no old methods which lead to war.

We're not looking for safety of the United States of America alone any more—it's now the safety of a united world.

If the selective service chief wants a really important job after this war, let him draft youth into schools. Give youth a chance to understand the world in which they live, not to understand the fundamentals of killing men.

Uncle Sam is one of the "peace-loving" nations, but what if the others see his huge peacetime army as a threat to their security, and several nations combine against us?

I oppose the passage of peacetime military training because it is contrary to the Christian ideal of life, leads toward war through encouraging fear of an enemy, destroys our democratic life by placing military men in national leadership and hinders the formation of a world organization for peace. Peacetime conscription would say clearly to the nation of the world that America too has lost faith in democracy.

Calvin Coolidge, late President of the United States, said no amount of preparedness ever kept a country out of war or insured it victory when war came.

I have read some history. I know it is the ruling classes that make war upon one another, they do not the people. In all the history of this world, the people have never yet declared a war. Just so long as we teach the art of war, and keep military men in power we can expect war.

Who is it that wants peacetime conscription? Not the people, but military men, army officers who want to keep their rating after the war; big business, such as ship builders, who will insist on building up a large navy; airplane manufacturers will insist on a large air force.

In this modern age of fast transportation, the nations of the earth are close neighbors, thus it behooves us to learn and understand and live in peace with all races and colors.

The cat and dog are born natural enemies, but when they are brought together and understand each other, they will play and lie down together. Will human beings be dumb animals put into a cage?

Yours respectfully,

BERT C. REAM,
Swallow Falls, Md., May 28, 1945.

Poison-on-Paper Is Still Being Produced in This U.S.A., According to This Correspondent At Sang Run.

To the Editor of The Republican.

Germany is defeated, militarily, but here in the United States, where the German-American Bund, the German-American Folk Union, the German-American National Alliance, the German-American National Society, the German-American National League, and numerous other Nazi organizations were once permitted to function, we have not thoroughly squelched the presses that produce poison-on-paper today just as they did two, three, or four years ago.

Example: Harvey H. Springer's "Western Voice" is still turning out un-American columns in vast quantities. His work today, to be sure, is veiled and cleverly subtle. But this does not alter the fact that he once was—and still is—a close friend to some of the most notorious Hun bandits that ever flashed the swastika.

In the May 17 issue of "Western Voice," Springer gives much publicity to Gerald L. K. Smith. Who is Gerald L. K. Smith? The man best fitted to introduce this rabble-rousing character is, I believe, Fritz Kuhn, former Bundsfuehrer. Smith, according to Springer, dropped into the latter's office to chat and later to speak in a tabernacle under the sponsorship of the "Christian Youth for America." There was a time when Springer's "Western Voice" was most widely read in dirty little dark-alley offices—places where men had to know the password—spoken usually in German—to get in. Places where men gave the Nazi salute behind locked doors, and sang the Horst Wessel song in low tones. Places where the American First Committee held secret meetings. Later, however, the "Western Voice" has moved up into more respectable circles—a bad omen, if there ever was one.

In "Under Cover," on page 466, John Roy Carlson says Springer "was a staunch, Winrod-Fundamentalist." (Winrod, of course, was bolder than Springer, and made open trips to Berlin. Later he was nailed on sedition charges and it was learned that he was always well-heeled with money after each journey to Germany).

Gerald L. K. Smith, Springer's bird-of-feather friend, was one head of the nefarious Silver Shirt movement. He also published the "Cross and the Flag," which was finally forced out of the United States mails, and Smith was so fond of Father Coughlin, promoter of clerical fascism, and Francis Townsend, him and egg socialist, that he had his picture taken with his arms thrown around the two men. (Photo by Irving Halberman).

Dewey Short, who was a faithful subscriber to, and supporter of the "Western Voice," said, "Of all the Oriental people, the Japanese are the most nearly like us. . . . It is against these people that our war hawks are proposing that we fight a war. . . . The Japs don't want to fight. . . . They have gone to the length of clipping a special envoy over here to make another bid for peace." That statement was inserted in the Congressional Record on November 17, 1941. White House.

White House. The editor of the "Western Voice" and Kullgren's "America Speaks," Kullgren was later picked up on sedition charges. He spoke to the Japanese people, and he spoke to the American people. He spoke to the Japanese people, and he spoke to the American people. He spoke to the Japanese people, and he spoke to the American people.

WEDNESDAY — Heart of Tokyo was wiped out by American superforce, it was announced, including 51 square miles. Marines were battling Japs inside castle of Shuri on Okinawa, with ground forces making headway on west coast. Chinese widened the breach in the Jap lines in Southern China as swarms of American bombers hammered entire length of Jap line.

Yanks captured Wawa dam, northwest of Manila to complete control of water supply for that city. Lord Haw Haw, who broadcast for Nazis during the war with Germany, was wounded and captured by British. Japan shuffled its high command of naval forces in effort to put more punch into them.

Native Of Grantsville Honored In Nebraska

Dr. F. P. Dorsey, Sr., of Hartington, Nebraska, was honored at a testimonial dinner on Thursday, May 10, at Wayne, Neb., completing 50 years in the practice of medicine.

More than one hundred fifty physicians and their wives were present at the dinner.

Dr. Dorsey, a native of Grantsville, and brother of Daniel W. Dorsey, who resides at the Casselman Hotel, was born in 1867. At the age of 18 he taught school in Garrett county before he decided to study medicine. In 1890 he entered the University of Notre Dame and later studied at the University of Maryland where he studied for two years and was graduated from the medical school in Louisville, Ky., in 1895. He practiced a short time in Glenoe, Minn., with an older brother, the late Dr. Horatio Dorsey, and located at Hartington in 1896.

Dr. Dorsey was a captain in the medical corps in World War I.

In 1901 Dr. Dorsey was married to Miss Louise P. Lerch, of Sioux City. They are the parents of four sons: Frederick, in the U.S.N. at Berkeley, Calif.; James, of Omaha, Neb.; Donovan, Denver, Col.; and Dr. Francis, Jr., associated with his father, and one daughter, Mrs. Howard McCaughy, of Clarinda, Ia.

Dr. Dorsey is a member of Holy Trinity Catholic church and a fourth degree Knight of Columbus. He will be remembered by the older residents of Garrett county.

D. W. Dorsey was invited as a special guest at the dinner, but due to illhealth he was unable to attend the dinner.

Disagree On F. D. R.

But on the fourth major point referred to more often than any issue except establishment of world peace, there is disagreement between Republicans and Democrats, liberals and conservatives. One group, mostly Democrats, wants Truman to be like Roosevelt in his social philosophy, to "follow what Roosevelt has done," and to "stay liberal."

The other group wants Roosevelt's domestic policies altered. They want Truman to "get back to the Constitution," "give America back to the Americans," eliminate government bureaus, fire New Dealers. This program of "conservative" domestic policy is, in fact, named by Republicans more often than any other issue, as the thing they look for in Truman.

While the country's attention is focused on war issues, the creation of peace machinery, and international questions generally, the new President's honeymoon period promises to be quiet politically, because there is a wide public agreement on all those things. It is when attention returns to domestic issues, and conservative and liberal wings both demand the President's support for their cause, that the White House will likely have its difficult moments, politically.

Right now there can be little doubt of President Truman's popularity. Voters in the poll were asked:

"What is your opinion of President Truman?"

A large majority of both Democrats and Republicans expressed the opinion that he is a good man, sincere, honest, hard-working, who made a good start and has done well so far. Among Democrats 71 percent expressed this view, and another 10 percent indicated a qualified approval.

REINFORCE EARLY TO SAVE
MENDING

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" was never truer of anything than of keeping clothes in condition. Garments now being manufactured under difficult wartime conditions are inclined to show signs of wear and need reinforcement before wearing.

Seams are often narrow, loosely stitched, or crooked. On an inexpensive garment, such as a blouse dress, this can be remedied by restitching about 1/8 of an inch deeper than the original seams. For better garments, it is best to rip out and restitch faulty seams.

Loose thread ends should be pulled to the under side and tied securely before they are clipped. Sometimes the fastening can be made more secure by threading the loose end on a needle and taking a few over-and-over stitches.

On less carefully made garments, bindings are frequently stitched too near the edges in spots. Best remedy is to rip, move the binding in, and restitch, with care not to stretch the edge.

Loosely stitched hems can be gone over with a blind stitch that does not show on the right side. Pocket end can be strengthened with a few extra stitches by hand or machine. Many new garments have button or snap pockets which are not too satisfactory. Those can be ripped out and a zipper from an old garment sewed in its place.

Reinforce pockets with some extra stitches at the corners; better yet is a tape placed on the under side of the garment in line with the pocket top and stitched in place.

Buttonholes, buttons, snaps, and hooks especially need attention. Snaps, buttons, and hooks and eyes should be checked.

Among Republicans 71 percent expressed approval of the President in varying degrees. Actual disapproval of Truman amounted to only 4 percent in the case of the Democrats and 10 percent in the case of Republicans. The chief criticisms being that he is "too inexperienced for such a big job" and "too much mixed up with city bosses."

Big four statesmen at San Francisco were seeking harmony concerning veto power in the world organization.

While the country's attention is focused on war issues, the creation of peace machinery, and international questions generally, the new President's honeymoon period promises to be quiet politically, because there is a wide public agreement on all those things. It is when attention returns to domestic issues, and conservative and liberal wings both demand the President's support for their cause, that the White House will likely have its difficult moments, politically.

When your normally round Pneumatic Tire is placed under load . . . it settles down and flattens out, as shown on illustrations at right. This settling down and flattening out establishes the Loaded "Rolling Radius" of the tire.

New Potato Grown By Dr. Jehle Gives Two Crops a Year

Some Of The Tests Were Conducted In Garrett County

The Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Maryland has announced the development of a new variety of early white potato, which gives greater yields than any other varieties commonly grown in Maryland and enables Maryland farmers to grow two potato crops during a season without using stored seed of the previous year for planting the late crop.

Dr. R. A. Jehle, State plant pathologist, conducted the research in cooperation with Dr. F. J. Stevenson, senior geneticist of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The new development is a smooth, round, white potato with shallow purple eyes and a rich, cream colored flesh, it is reported. The seed can be harvested in July, treated with a chemical to break its dormancy and planted immediately.

Three-year tests have been conducted in Worcester, Howard and in Garrett counties. The new seedling produced an average of 170 bushels per acre, as against 124 for Irish Cobbler on the spring planting, and 128 bushels per acre for the seedling as against 124 for Dakota Red from late planting.

The new potato has not yet been named and seed is not yet available to growers.

The Urge to Learn

THROUGHOUT the County, and, in fact, almost anywhere in these United States during these few weeks, students are receiving diplomas signifying that they have completed one phase of learning on the ladder of education.

For some it will mean just a step, to be followed by many more. For others, it will mean the last step in that ladder. But in no case is it necessary that it be the last step of learning.

During these war times there will be some elementary students who will feel they must remain at home and work. Some will be forced to do that against their will. High school students who longed for college, will be called into the armed forces, temporarily ending their advancement on the education ladder.

Whatever the individual situation is, let there always remain the urge to learn. High school and college offer opportunities not available elsewhere, but the urge to learn is not confined to those who accept these opportunities of higher learning.

Wherever you find yourself at the beginning of the next school term, apply the will and urge to learn and there is no limit to the distance you will travel in life. Whatever the job, learn to do that job well, and more important jobs will follow.

The will to learn is not restricted to any age or any place. It lies within each individual. Those who have it will go far.

State Officials Inspect Garrett County Streams

Five-man Commission Gets First Hand Data On Trout Waters

Combining their regular meeting with an inspection tour, members of the Maryland Inland Fish and Game Commission made a two-day visit to Western Maryland Monday and Tuesday inspecting approximately twenty trout streams in Garrett county and holding their mid-summer business session Monday evening in the William-James hotel, Oakland.

The invitation to members of the commission to inspect trout streams in conjunction with their regular meeting was issued by Fulcher P. Smith, Western Maryland's representative on the commission, for the purpose of familiarizing other members of the state body with fish stocking needs, pollution and other important problems in Garrett and Allegheny counties.

See Actual Condition

Smith pointed out that the biggest problem in Western Maryland is the scarcity of fish in its streams.

One of the chief pollution problems in Garrett county, Smith said, is found in the Young river, which rises in Maryland and flows for a distance of about forty miles through Garrett county, thence into Pennsylvania and empties into the Monongahela river.

For the past twenty years nine waters have been polluting this stream to such an extent that it is no longer regarded as a trout habitat. Smith declared that the Young river was one of the finest trout streams in Western Maryland before the mining companies began polluting the river and killing the fish. He estimated that there are approximately thirty-five mines dumping into the river at the present time.

Smith's idea in having the commission inspect the streams was in response to persistent requests from sportsmen who have adopted the slogan "More Fish for Western Maryland." Following yesterday's tour he expressed the opinion that "a lot of good should come from it."

LeCompte Accompanies Group

Accompanying the commission on the inspection tour was E. Lee LeCompte, state game warden. All of the members of the commission were present, namely: Jonathan Longfellow, Salisbury; Gordon Fleet, Annapolis; Garner Denmead, Baltimore; James Gambrell, Frederick; and Smith, of Ellerslie.

Commission members and Mr. LeCompte were guests of the Allegheny-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association Tuesday night at Frostburg where they heard opinions that this section of the state was not receiving a fair share of trout being distributed in the state by agents of the commission.

Fred A. Crowe gave a detailed report on trout stocking in the state and criticized the unfair distribution under Frank Bentz, administrative assistant of the commission; and Albert Powell, state fish culturist. Crowe advocated placing a hatchery in this part of Maryland. A. Charles Stewart asked for a fair distribution of trout and that an effort be made to cut the cost of rearing trout.

Garner Denmead, Baltimore, chairman of the commission, declared if any favoritism was being shown and if Allegheny and Garrett were not getting their share, that the commission would see that they do get them. Gordon Fleet, Annapolis, favored more trout for this section and more rearing ponds.

With the 37th Infantry Division in the Philippines—Sergeant Carl Wolfe, the son of Mrs. Blanche Wolfe, Reese St., Oakland, holder of the Bronze Star following the New Georgia Campaign, has been awarded the Purple Heart and the Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster for his action during the Luzon Campaign.

As a squad leader in the combat engineers of the veteran 37th Division, Wolfe was in charge of a mine-clearing detail when a depth charge was detonated. He was treated for shock and concussion and returned to his unit when they ferried infantry troops across the Pasig river for the frontal attack on the strongly fortified walled city in Manila. With the war ended in Europe, his long and excellent record should stand him in good stead toward a trip home, according to the official dispatch from division headquarters.

Kempton Woman Is Drowned in Potomac

Suicide Verdict Given In Con- nection With Death of Mrs. Dewey Lewis

The body of Mrs. Dewey Lewis, about 50, of Kempton, was found drowned in the Potomac river near her home early last Thursday afternoon, May 31.

Dr. E. E. Sellars, of Oakland, acting Garrett county medical examiner, issued a verdict of death by suicide, according to Neil C. Fraley, state's attorney.

Authorities said the body was discovered by a daughter about 1:30 p. m. after members of the family began to search for Mrs. Lewis, who left her home about noon, apparently to go to a nearby store.

Mrs. Lewis' body was found in the shallow water of the Potomac river on the Maryland side of the stream. Her husband, authorities said, has been ill for some time with arthritis.

Fraley related that evidence indicated Mrs. Lewis walked to the river and slid down the bank. No reason for the suicide was given by him. Assisting in the investigation was J. S. Teats, deputy sheriff.

The husband and several children survive.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday afternoon from a church at Eglon, W. Va., with Rev. George C. Stratton, pastor, officiating. Interment was in the Texas church cemetery.

P-T A ACTIVE; IMPROVES CONDITIONS ABOUT OHS

Organization Centers Meetings on Discussions Giving Viewpoints of Three Groups

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Oakland High school has been very active this year and has improved many conditions around the school. In order to do this, they have held monthly meetings and several committees that were appointed have accomplished much.

The meetings this year were centered on discussion groups which presented problems from three standpoints: the teachers, parents, and students. Each question or suggestion presented was discussed and efforts were made to correct any difficulties. The association supported and worked to pass the bill for a new school building and a committee was appointed which will further this purpose this summer. They also backed the twelve-year school system, teachers salary increase, and the plan of fewer students in the class.

Obtains Book Shelves
By the suggestion of the students, the P-T. A. helped to obtain book shelves in the classrooms, blackboards were improved, more reference books were bought, and a janitress was obtained to help overcome the unsanitary conditions of the school.

A committee was appointed to work on a lunch program, but because of handicaps this program could not be based on a serviceable plan. It is hoped

Sgt. Elmer E. Tasker is spending a 30-day furlough with his wife and other members of his family. Sgt. Tasker just recently returned from Germany where he fought with Gen. Patton's third army, 95th division. He was awarded the combat infantryman's badge, the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star. He is the son of Richard Tasker, formerly of Vinex. Upon his return to duty he will report to a camp in North Carolina. Sgt. Tasker has been in service three years.

Lt. (Jr.) William W. Grant, now stationed in Washington, D. C., spent the week-end here with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Grant.

Pvt. Steve Coffey, who has spent a year in the south Pacific area in a paratrooper regiment, is home on a 31-day furlough. Pvt. Coffey, with headquarters in New Guinea, has three stars signifying participation in three major engagements, and a presidential citation for two of them. He was a part of the Philippine liberation army. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coffey, Alder street.

Pfc. Daniel Hinchbaugh, army air corps, stationed at Santa Maria, Cal., is here for fifteen days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hinchbaugh.

O. H. S. IN WAR

Oakland High School officially began its campaign to sell war bonds and stamps on November 22, when the Sixth War Loan Drive got under way, with the goal in mind of purchasing a jeep which would cost the sum of one thousand, one hundred sixty-five dollars. Since then, the sales have risen to the four thousand mark and the purchase of nine jeeps have been the result.

In the month of December, three thousand four hundred ninety-five dollars made possible the purchase of three jeeps. The total from January to May was four thousand, two hundred thirty-eight dollars in stamps. This, however, brings the sum of purchases up to $4,286.00 and a total of nine jeeps secured.

In acknowledgment of these purchases, nine plaques bearing upon them the time the purchase was made, are six inches square, red, white and the object bought, and the purchaser, blue, and are made of paper.

Fight With a Nazi Plane Is Described

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England—Rammed by a wildly careening German fighter that inflicted a cut like a giant can-opener, an eighth air force B-17 Flying Fortress on which Technical Sergeant Cecil W. Minard, 22, of Deer Park, was engineer and top turret gunner, got back to friendly territory safely by playing a grim game of hide-and-seek in the clouds with stalking enemy planes.

The bomber was part of a formation out to get a Nazi airfield when five Messerschmitt 109's attacked.

One of the Germans darted into the formation with his wing guns winking flame and appeared to be headed for a plane under the Marylander's Fortress when Sgt. Minard and the ball turret, waist and tail gunners opened up on him.

"We were holding our triggers down until the moment he hit," said the flyer.

In a fraction of a second this happened: the Messerschmitt knocked the left waist gun back into the plane into the lap of the gunner, who was thrown to the floor; a six-foot long, foot-wide gash was torn in the fuselage down to the ball turret; the turret was smashed and crumpled and the arm of the gunner inside was broken in three places, his only injury; three feet of the left wing was torn off where it joined the body of the plane.

The broken Messerschmitt hurtled under the bomber and came up under the engines on the right wing. It struck the turbo-supercharger under the inboard engine and then ran into the propeller of the outboard engine. One blade of the propeller snapped off, but the Messerschmitt kept going to a point ahead and to the right of the bomber, hung there poised for an instant and then disintegrated, falling apart in a cloud of debris.

"With those fighters around we didn't want to leave the formation," said Sgt. Minard. "We couldn't keep up with one engine out, however. The bombardier let us the bombs to lighten the plane and then we started for a field in France where there was a hospital where the ball turret man could be treated."

As the crippled B-17 turned back, four Messerschmitts took up the trail. The Fortress sought concealment in the clouds. Two of the Germans broke off the chase, but the others hung on, dropping back when the bomber hid in order not to lose the plane when it emerged from the clouds.

"They would jump us every time we came out, but then we'd find another cloud," said Sgt. Minard. "Finally they gave up."

After landing at the emergency field in France, the crew stayed overnight returning to England the following day. In the landing edge of their wing a large hole was discovered and in it was the oxygen bottle of the German pilot who had rammed them. On the side of their bomber, red and blue paint marked the point of impact.

Sgt. Minard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Minard, of Deer Park. A veteran of more than 25 bombing attacks with the 490th Bomb. Group, he holds the air medal with three oak leaf clusters for "meritorious achievement" displayed in the air over Nazi Europe.

Before entering the AAF in February, 1943, the airman was employed in the procurement division in Washington.

OPA Order in Effect Only Temporarily

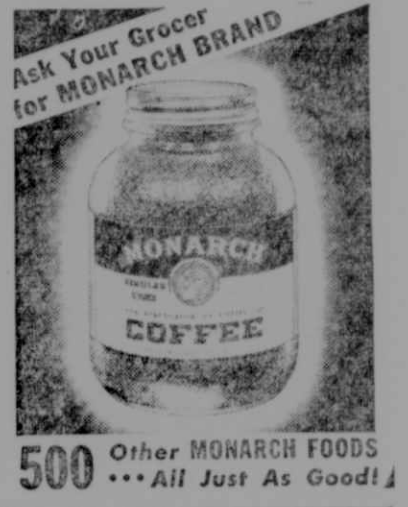

In accordance with instructions received from the District Office of Price Administration, the local War Price and Rationing Board—through its Chairman Walter W. Dawson—announced this morning that the issuance of sugar for home canning purposes has been temporarily discontinued. The order became effective as of midnight on May 21 and will continue until further instructions are received from the district office, Mr. Dawson stated.

Although the actual issuance of coupons for sugar purchases has been temporarily discontinued, applications can be obtained and filed in accordance with present regulations. All questions on the applications must be answered, names of the family unit listed, and the spare stamp No. 13 from each No. 4 War Ration Book in the family attached thereto. The person completing the application must certify that the sugar so obtained will not be used for any other purpose.

The chairman further emphasized the necessity of consumers and merchants taking better care of present war ration books 3 and 4, stating that many applications were being received at the local office for replacement of books because of mutilation. Consumers are warned that such replacement cannot be immediately approved and for this reason they will suffer inconvenience and hardship until the application is approved. Merchants also are urged to take more care in removing stamps from books and see that only the valid ones are removed.

55 Years Young
...and still growing

On June 6, the Woodmen Society became 55 years YOUNG.

Woodmen are proud of their Society's record of growth through service. The hope of its founders in 1890 that the Society would provide sound fraternal insurance protection, plus the many benefits of fraternalism to scores of thousands of members is a "dream come true."

Today, several hundred thousand members of some 6,000 local Woodmen Camps hold nearly 400 million dollars of Woodmen insurance protection. Their number is still growing, the Society enjoying its greatest growth in 25 years in 1944, its assets, exceeding 145 million dollars, make it the world's financially strongest fraternal beneficiary society and amply safeguard the insurance protection held by its members.

There is a type of Woodmen Life Insurance Certificate that exactly meets the needs of your plans for building your own or your family's future financial security. Let the local Woodmen Representative tell you about it and the many other benefits you receive as a member of the Woodmen Society.

17 GET ATHLETIC "O'S" AS REGULATIONS RELAX

Dismissing several strict rules in relation to athletic letters, seventeen persons are to receive these awards in the final assembly of the year. Disregarding such rules as having to play in 75 percent of the total time in all games, which was judged as entirely too strict, coaches O. A. Watson and Ruth M. Field made the following recommendations:

For their second year services, George Kahl and Robert Bosley will receive letters containing two service stripes. Henry Trickett, Lloyd Liller, Norman Friend, Thomas Jones, and Winston Teets will receive theirs for the first time. Leo Gower will also be awarded a manager's letter.

Amazons who will receive letters and who will receive them for the first time are: Phyllis Willard, Marion Field, Mary Fraley, Eloise Cook, Nina Fauber, Pauline Fauber, Martha Towler, Rita Bittle, Ernestine Wilt, and Bettie Speicher.

These letters are marked "O's" with a chorille covering on a background of white Swiss embroidery. A winged basketball is placed in the upper right hand corner; in the lower left are stripes signifying the number of years on the team.

Having received five hundred points and pending the approval of the Student Council, John Foster, Mary Wilt, Thomas Jones, Herbert Leighton, Lynn Lewis and Jack Liller will receive scholastic letters.

Having recently earned letters, and then gaining two hundred more points, Helen Mae Moore and Thomas Jones are to be presented with bars. The Oakland High team.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HANCOCK L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. of the Sunday School Teachers of Chicago.
Revised by Western Conference Union.

Lesson for June 10

THE MINISTRY OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:14, 15; Luke 4:18, 19; Acts 13:47, 48.
GOLDEN TEXT—1st Cor. 1:26, 27.
The theme of this lesson is that Jesus came to bring the good news of the kingdom of God to the poor.

The dawn of a new day had come! The long-promised and expected Messiah came to break the 400 years of silence by His personal presence. We learn of His coming, His life and ministry, His death and resurrection, and find the promise of His coming again in the four Gospels. There are our complete lessons for this Sunday, but we cannot review them in their entirety in our limited space.

Our Scripture references speak of His ministry in presenting the good news of the gospel to needy mankind.

I. The Good News Preached (Mark 1:14, 15).

Jesus always honored preaching as the primary and the effective means of spreading the good news of the gospel.

The forerunner, John the Baptist, had borne his witness, Jesus had come, had been baptized, and as John was cast into prison, He began to preach, "Repent ye and believe the gospel." The key verse of Mark is 10:45: "For even the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister." The characteristic words are "straightway," "forthwith," and "immediately." The Greek word thus translated appears about forty times in the book.

The Servant of God went quickly about the Father's business, Christians can say the same for ourselves.

II. The Good News Practiced (Luke 4:18, 19).

The daily ministry of Jesus as He lived here on earth is summarized in the prophecy of Isaiah which was given by Isaiah the prophet. As we read these words, we realize that we who profess to follow Him need to learn more of His spirit of tender and loving service to others.

It is significant and appropriate that Jesus' declaration of Himself as the fulfillment of Isaiah 61:1, 2 was made in the synagogue on the Sabbath day. He met with the people in the house and at the time set apart for God's worship. He opposed spiritual deadness, the misinterpretation of the truth, the distortion of religious principles, but He was not, as some would have us believe, a religious free lance who despised the established worship of His people.

Having been prepared by the thirty years of privacy, and more particularly by the baptism and the temptation in the wilderness, He appeared at the synagogue in Nazareth to declare Himself as the fulfillment of prophecy.

Those who teach that Jesus was only a young Jewish teacher with a new philosophy of life have evidently not read the Scriptures. He knew Himself to be God's Son come into the world to bring the good news of salvation by His own blood, to liberate sin-captive, blinded and bruised humanity. He is the Saviour.

Look at Isaiah 61:1, 2 and note that Jesus stopped reading before the end of the sentence. The day of vengeance of our God will come when Christ returns. This is the day of grace. Sinners are urged to accept God's love now, and thus to escape the terrible day of judgment which is to come.

III. The Good News Prepared (Mark 6:27a, 28, 31).

Jesus preached the gospel of the kingdom. He went about doing good, but always He knew Himself to be the Christ, the one who was to die for the sins of the world and to arise again for the justification of those who put their trust in Him.

Even those who deny to our Christ the recognition of His deity, and the devotion of life to His just, diligent, must, if they are at all intelligent, admit that no man ever lived who has made such an impact on human history. Even now, unbelieving men speak of Him as the founder of Christianity, a mighty leader, a wonderful example, or an unequalled teacher.

It is not enough that we stand with the mass of humanity who may thus admire Him, but who do not count Him as Saviour and Lord. The question comes to us as it did to the disciples, "Whom say ye that I am?" "Thou art the Christ"—this alone suffices as the foundation for Christian testimony and conduct.

Although Jesus was not yet ready to have His Messiahship proclaimed to the public, He was prepared to teach His disciples concerning not only that important truth, but of His rejection and death.

Note the divine "must" (v. 31). While it is true that wicked men showed their hostility toward our God and His Christ by hating Him on Calvary's cross, yet it was to die for our sins that He came into the world. The cross has rightly come to represent God's love to the world rather than man's hostility to God.

If it is humanly possible your electric utility will hold the price line, and work for even lower rates, as higher sales volume is achieved.

WAR LOAN

Bathtub Administration?

A BILL was recently introduced in Congress to establish a Rural Telephone Administration, on the theory that not a sufficient number of farmers have telephones. There was the minor item of $100,000,000 for annual expenditures by the new RTA which would be set up with highly-paid appointed officials permanently on the taxpayers' necks.

While no "survey" has been made, it is likely that there are more farmers without modern bathtubs and patent toilets than there are without telephones. Therefore, it would seem reasonable to suggest that a Rural Bathtub and Toilet Administration be established, with inspectors to check all the farm houses. A project of this kind could spend hundreds of millions of dollars a year of the taxpayers' money instead of a mere hundred million. Of course, the United States has more telephones, bathtubs and toilets than all the rest of the world, which indicates that none of the industries involved have been sleeping at the switch, and they probably will move faster after the war to see that their services and products reach the maximum number of people, than would any government bureau.

This is just part of the general program of those who would socialize American industry. A telephone in every farm house, electricity in every spot, a subsidy for this and that, a government loan for almost any excuse, whether needed or not, is good bait to win public approval of Federal spending which slowly but surely curbs individual incentive, opportunity and ultimately, liberty itself.

Baptist Group Hears Talk By Missionary

Rev. Edwin Saylor Named Moderator at Mt. Lake Session of Western District Association

One of the principal speakers at the 66th annual session of the Western District Baptist Association of Maryland, which closed a two-day session Friday night in the Mt. Lake Baptist Church, was the Rev. Robert L. Bausum, who recently returned from Missionary work in China extending over a period of 25 years.

A Cumberland minister, the Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was elected moderator of the association for the ensuing year.

In two separate addresses the Rev. Bausum related in summary his missionary experiences, dwelling particularly upon the years since the war broke out in the Pacific. His headquarters were in Kweilin in Kwangsi province. Upon the arrival of a unit of the Army Flying Forces in that section he took over the duties of chaplain at the base.

Flew Over Himalayas
Returning to this country, the Rev. Bausum, his wife and three children, flew out of the Far East over the Himalaya mountains.

Other speakers at the session, which carried a "Victory Through Christ" theme, included Dr. William J. Crowder, field secretary, Baltimore; the Rev. Roger I. Berghauer, assistant to the general secretary, Baltimore; the Rev. William C. Royal, of Frederick; Mrs. Samuel R. Barnes, corresponding secretary of the Women's Missionary Union; and the Rev. William B. Orndorff, of Westernport.

William P. Copeland, of Cumberland, who was elected secretary and treasurer of the association for the twenty-first successive time presented a review of the association's work, showing among other things that the association's ten member churches comprise a membership of 2,126, an increase of 92 over last year; and 12 Sunday Schools with an enrollment of 2,093.

Helps In Saving Life Of Fighter Pilot Caught In Blazing Plane

An eighth Air Force Fighter Station, England—Staff Sergeant Robert W. Lohr, 29, of Second street, Oakland, is one of eleven members of an Eighth Air Force fire-fighting crash crew which was recently commended for saving the life of a P-51 Mustang pilot imprisoned in his blazing plane after crashing on a combat mission take-off.

The commendation was signed by Colonel John D. Landers, of Joshua Group. The Mustang was about 20 feet off the ground when it ran into turbulent air from another plane's propeller and crashed. The fire crew stationed at the control tower for such emergencies, raced to the scene.

When they arrived, both engine and cockpit were enveloped in flames. The aircraft was carrying a full load of ammunition and gasoline, including external fuel tanks, which added to the danger. The pilot, overcome by the heat, and trapped inside by a jammed canopy, was in a state of collapse.

The crew played foam on the flames around the cockpit, and when the fire was partially under control, S. Sgt. Lohr rushed forward and pulled the canopy's emergency release and the pilot was pulled out. The entire action, from crash to rescue, took about four minutes.

"Because of the smooth-functioning methods employed by this competent crew," the commendation said, "the fire consuming the aircraft was quickly and promptly brought under control; and the life of the pilot, who was helplessly imprisoned in the blazing inferno, was saved."

"The high efficiency of these men as a unit was superior; and the team spirit and cooperative action exhibited by this crash crew is in keeping with the highest traditions of the Army Air Forces of the United States."

S. Sgt. Lohr was educated at Oakland High school and was employed by the water department of the town before entering the army in March, 1943. He is the station fire chief. His wife, Mrs. Virginia F. Lohr, lives in Oakland, and his mother, Mrs. D. W. Root, lives at 824 Shriver Ave., Cumberland.

Wittenberg College Confers D.D. Degree Upon Rev. A. K. Jones

Was One Of Several Honored At Centennial Celebration In Ohio, Tuesday

Rev. A. K. Jones, pastor of the Red House Lutheran Parish, was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, at the commencement exercises of Wittenberg College and Seminary, at Springfield, Ohio, on Tuesday, June 12, being one of several chosen for this special recognition during its centennial celebration.

Rev. Jones was notified by Dr. Ross E. Tulloss, president of the college last December, following a meeting of the Wittenberg Board of Directors acting upon the recommendation of the joint faculty of the college and seminary, at which time it was unanimously voted to confer the honorary degree. President Tulloss wrote: "We are cognizant of your personal ability and of the quality of the service which you are rendering. In this proposed action, we are seeking to bestow a recognition of the faithfulness and efficiency of your service, and perhaps in some measure to aid you in that work."

Rev. Jones has served the Red House Lutheran Parish since July 1, 1932, having been called to this rural field from Rossford, Pa. Previous to entering Wittenberg Seminary, from which he was graduated in May, 1914, he was employed in and around the coal mines, having begun this work at the age of twelve. Later he enrolled at Mt. Union College, Alliance, Ohio, for preparatory business and engineering courses. Always active in church work he yielded to the plea of his pastor, the Rev. G. K. Allen, of Havreville, Pa., to prepare for the Gospel Ministry.

Other parishes served during his ministry were Trinity Church, Kalamazoo, Mich., where a new building was erected and dedicated; Rockwood parish, consisting of three congregations in Somerset county, Pa., and in Ohio where he was among the first pastors to organize work day church schools, a service he has continued at his Red House parish.

Until recently Rev. Jones was chairman of the Examining Committee, Lutheran Synod of West Virginia, since 1934; chairman of the Ministerial Education committee since 1939; trustee of Oosterlinck Home for Children, Springfield, Ohio, since 1940; president of the Eastern Conference of the West Virginia synod for three years, and president of the merged conferences at present. He is now serving his second term as president of the Mt. Top Ministers' Association of this county. He is a charter member of the Garrett County Historical Society and published the historical souvenir of St. John's Lutheran church during the sesqui-centennial celebration of that congregation in 1940.

Rev. and Mrs. Jones, accompanied by Miss Leona Dodge and Miss Catherine Knepp, of Red House, left Saturday morning to attend the celebration. Wittenberg college was established in 1845 by Ezra Keller, before the country had a telegraph line and when railroads ran no further west than Buffalo, N. Y.

Kitzmiller Man Is Found Dead Along Railroad

W. F. Davis, 38, Killed After Falling Beneath Moving Train

A man identified from papers and cards he carried as Wesley Franklin Davis, 38, of Kitzmiller, was found dead along the Western Maryland railway tracks at Seymour, near Pinto, Sunday morning, and Dr. Linne H. Corson, deputy county medical examiner, said the man was killed instantly when he was run over by a train late Saturday night.

Definite information as to the man's death was lacking, but Capt. H. B. Clark, of the Western Maryland police, said he surmised that Davis fell from an eastbound freight train and was crushed beneath its wheels.

Body Badly Mangled
Dr. Corson, who said he believes Davis died at 10:30 p. m. Saturday, pointed out that Davis's body was badly mangled and mutilated. Parts of the body were found two rail lengths from where the accident occurred.

Capt. Clark said Davis carried a coal miner's card and apparently hopped the freight train in the vicinity of Vindex.

The body of Davis was discovered about 8 a. m. yesterday by John W. Smith, operator of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's McKenzies tower, near Pinto. B. & O. officials said Smith, who resides at Cresaptown, was on his way home after working the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift when he noticed the body.

Unemployed Coal Miner
He was a son of Benjamin Franklin and Sissy May Carnell Davis, of Kitzmiller. He was an unemployed coal miner.

Surviving besides his parents are two brothers, Charles W. Davis, at home; Pvt. Carl J. Davis, serving with the army in Germany; and four sisters.

Playground To Open July 1st For Season

The city playground, at the municipal property at the north edge of town, will be opened for the summer, beginning July 1st, it was announced by the playground committee of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Lions committee. The plan will be similar to that of last year and Miss Ruth Field, Oakland High instructor, will again be in charge.

Hours will be from 9 to 4 o'clock. The Lions club last year supervised the erection of some playground equipment and these will be available again. Tournaments and competitive games will be on the program.

Plans for reopening the playground under supervision were discussed at a meeting of the committee on Monday evening, following the regular meeting of the club.

Overseas Subscribers Must Send Requests

The Navy has requested of the Postal Department, that, in order to conserve shipping space and to prevent non-essential mailings, newspapers and magazines be sent only when specifically requested by the addressees.

Publishers, after July 1, are required to present for examination of the postmasters, requests initiated by the addressees for subscriptions or renewals of subscriptions from overseas personnel of the Navy, Marine corps and Coast Guard.

Requests may be sent to the parents but parents must then bring in the request to this office for filing.

The new order allows subscriptions which were in effect prior to July 1, to continue to be sent until their expiration, according to Joseph Stanton, assistant postmaster of the Oakland office, but they must be stamped "mailed in conformity with P. O. D. order No. 27851."

Requests have been necessary for newspapers going to army APO addresses for some time.

New Type Mallet Hauls Passenger Train on B. & O.

Eliminates Helper Engines, Extra Crews On Third Division

Mallet type locomotives, heretofore used exclusively in hauling freight trains, are now being used with success in the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's passenger service between Cumberland and Grafton, W. Va., it was revealed Tuesday by railroad officials.

One of the giant locomotives—No. 7620—has been taking train No. 29 express on its westward journey from Cumberland to Grafton and on return trip east brings passenger train No. 12 here.

The biggest advantage in using the mallet type engines is the fact that no helper engines or additional crews are required on the steep mountain grades on the Third division.

Heretofore two helper locomotives and crews were required out of Keyser for the journey up the Seventeen-mile grade while another helper and crew was a necessity at M. & K. Junction. All this additional motive and manpower has been eliminated with the introduction of the mallet type locomotives into the passenger and express service. The powerful engines have been pulling fifteen passenger cars up the Seventeen-mile grade without the use of a helper.

The 7600 type of locomotive is capable of maintaining a speed of sixty miles an hour.

Tests have proved so successful that there is an indication more of the new locomotives will be pressed into the passenger service.

There are twenty-two 7600's now in the B. & O. service, most of which are used in hauling freight. Two of the ten recently ordered built at the Baldwin Locomotive Works are now in service—7620 and 7621.

DIARY OF THE WAR

FRIDAY—Yanks advanced on Okinawa in spite of stiffened Japanese resistance. Yanks had already killed 66,324 Japs on Okinawa and nearby islands. Naha airfield was being put in shape. Chinese troops launched attacks against Japs in Fukien province. Osaka was burning after big raid by 450 B-29's. Gen. Patton returned home. Gen. Bradley was named to succeed Hines as head of the Veterans' bureau. Seeray was lifted from Navy's new fighter plane, most powerful fighter and fighter-bomber yet produced for Navy, faster than anything Japs can put in air.

SATURDAY—Sixty-seven Jap planes were destroyed off Okinawa as new suicide raids were made on U. S. ships. Japs held 22 of Okinawa's 485 square miles. Allied offensive in China pushed into Luichow suburbs isolating about 200,000 Jap troops in southeast Asia. U. S. casualties rose to 1,012,949. Halsey's third fleet planes bombed and strafed Japan. Yanks continued heavy pounding of Borneo bases.

SUNDAY—Tokyo reported another Allied landing near Borneo and Japs claimed a huge convoy was pounding the island. Steady advances being made on Philippine fronts. Japs in South China were retreating into Indo-China. Chinese confidence was rising as the escape route for Japs was being narrowed. Japs were counter-attacking in some areas. Anglo-American and Yugoslav agreement settled Trieste question, giving Allied needed railroads.

MONDAY—Army opened heavy attack on Japs remaining on Okinawa. Jap resistance was fierce. Strong Chinese assault forces invaded Luichow, former U. S. airbase city, breaking through outer defenses. Bombers and light naval units attacked Japs on Borneo. Seven hundred superforts were being massed to bomb Japs. In meantime five factory and military targets were pounded by B-29's. Gen. Eisenhower received Russia's highest award, the Julev order of victory and said "Allies are going to have peace even if we have to fight it."

TUESDAY—Four U. S. warships were lost off Okinawa with 469 men killed, wounded or missing. Australians landed on four points on British north Borneo, covered by Australian and American warships and planes. Capture of Borneo would solve oil problem for Allies. Buckner called on Japs on Okinawa to surrender. Americans made substantial gains all along southern front. An all-out drive on north Luzon was planned by Yanks.

The army proposed to spend 39 billion fighting Japan in the year beginning July 1. Chinese advanced 15 miles through defenses around Kweilin.

WEDNESDAY—Yanks were using ropes to scale vital heights in southern Okinawa. They seized both ends of escarpment and beat off Jap counterattacks. Liberator bombers entered aerial action against Japs, indicating stepped-up air offensive. Americans resumed advance in northeastern Luzon where last major battle of Philippines may be fought. Air activity was cutting into Japan's vanishing sea and air power. Australians gained four miles in drive to take capital of Borneo. Chinese troops swept 31 miles up China's east coast in drive to clear Jap forces from mainland defenses opposite Okinawa.

THURSDAY—Marines were smashing Jap pocket on Oroku peninsula on Okinawa. Australians took Brunai airfield on Borneo and capture of Borneo's capital was imminent. Chinese troops reoccupied a small port on China's east coast in drive on Wenchow. It was revealed 1,554 American merchant ships were destroyed in war, and that 3,694 American soldiers were lost in attacks on U. S. troopships.

Japan is still powerful. A hard, bitter struggle lies ahead for our fighting men. There must be no let-down at home in the effort to supply them with everything they need for the job before them.

Much telephone service will yet be used in the production and shipping of arms and supplies. Enormous quantities of telephone equipment and wire must still go to battle fronts.

The burden on the telephone system will remain heavy and it may be some time, even after final victory, before we can supply service to all who are waiting for it.

"HOW'D THE UMP GET IN THE GAME?"

WHETHER it's baseball or business, Americans expect fair play all the way.

In baseball, the umpire sees to it that the game is played according to the rules. But he is not a player.

In business, government should be the umpire who enforces fair rules.

But when government goes into business and competes with its own citizens, the American tradition of fair play is set aside. The umpire then becomes a player, and he enjoys advantages that are denied to all the other players.

For example, government and municipal powerplants are not required to pay federal taxes; often get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

Maybe you run a store or service station or beauty shop. Would you like to have a next-door competitor who has little or no rent, or taxes, or interest to pay, and who is kept in business partly by your tax money?

Fortunately for America today, over 80% of the tremendous electric power in this country is produced by tax-paying, self-supporting electric light and power companies, owned and operated by several million folks like you.

These business-managed companies are a big reason why there is enough electricity to meet even the gigantic demands of war—and why, when most things cost more, electricity is still delivered at low pre-war prices.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By H. M. D. LINDQUIST, D. D.
Of the Board, Bible Institute of Chicago,
Baltimore, Md. 1934-1935

Lesson for June 17

Lesson subject and Scripture texts are given, and the following are suggested for the lesson.

THE CHURCH BEGINS ITS WORK

GENESIS 1:1-5; MATTHEW 28:18-20

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be witnesses unto me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8

The church of Jesus Christ, glorious in spite of her failings, is the greatest institution known to this world. That is true because while it is in this world, the church is not of the world, but of God. He established the church to be the spot of believers to do His work in the world. For more than 19 centuries the Christian church has served Him with varying degrees of consecration and usefulness.

The beginning of the work of the church is of special interest, for such a study will show whether we today are following in the right path. We find in our lesson that the early church was distinguished by:

1. Obedience to God (vv. 29-32).

The disciples filled with the Holy Spirit were bold in declaring the gospel and in proclaiming their risen Lord. Realizing that the message was winning the people, the leaders of the church administered them not to speak in the name of Christ (Acts 4:18). When they continued, the priests threw them into prison, but an angel set them free (Acts 5:19).

When they were again apprehended and accused of disobeying the command, the high priest, Peter and the others responded by pointing out that they were under a higher command, that of God Himself. Him they would obey, come what may.

Who will deny that we need a renewal of that spirit in the church today? We need to lose our fear of men and their little authority, and regain a larger measure of obedience to God.

2. A Convicting Message (v. 33).

When God's Word is preached with complete obedience to Him, something is sure to happen. Men and women will be convicted of their sin. They will be cut to the heart.

That conviction will show itself in one of two ways. Some will be repentant and will cry out with the sinner at Philippi, "What must I do to be saved?" (Acts 16:30). Turning to Christ, they will find deliverance from sin.

Others will harden themselves in their wicked ways and become even more bitter in their hatred of Christ and the church. In our lesson we find them taking counsel to kill the disciples. Knowing themselves to be wrong and seeing that God's work revealed their sin, but not being willing to give it up, they tried to destroy the witness against them.

We see that same spirit operative today. To be sure, it does not usually show itself in such a physical action as physical killing, although the day when that may happen again may not be far away.

In our cultivated time, it is revealed in a scholarly attack upon God's Word, an undermining of the faith of our young people in schools or colleges, or a ridiculing of those who wish to live a separated, consecrated life.

3. No Compromise (vv. 34, 35, 36-40).

A wise man, Gamaliel, presented what we would call a program of appeasement. He urged that they wait and see what would happen. At first glance his idea seems to be most commendable, and of course it did save the lives of the disciples at the moment. But it was essentially a "do-nothing" policy of compromise. If he believed in what the disciples were doing, he should have come out boldly on their side.

Notice that the believers had no part in this scheme. They listened, but did not give assent. They took the beating and went right out and preached the gospel again. What a fine example for us to follow! Those who are alert to the real problems of the church today recognize that the willingness to compromise with the world, the flesh, and (as it seems at times) the devil himself for the sake of peace, is destroying the real ministry of the church.

4. Absolute Fearlessness (vv. 40, 42).

The early church was a very small group of believers with no position of influence or power in the world. Humanly speaking, it would have been expedient for them to heed the admonition now twice given (compare Acts 4:18) and confine their testimony to a private witness.

But they had hearts which were aflame with the fire of God, a commission to take the good news of God's saving grace to all men, and the assurance of God's presence they were absolutely fearless.

The world admires true courage not only on the battlefield, but in the pulpit.

The criticism which men in the armed services make of the church centers at this point, namely, that the church has been too timid about giving out the Word of God, about really believing and practicing it.

Space in pulpits and churches will be slashed beginning in August, lasting until next March, to give more space to moving troops from eastern ports to western embarkation points.

MT. LAKE PARK

As I lie on the beach,
Hear the breakers roar—
As I lie on the beach,
There's a feeling of horror!

There's a feeling of horror!
That washes their clean
There are boys in blue
Not out of their teens,
Ripped and gaily dressed, the deep,<
Blown to a smithereens, gored in their sleep;
Murdered by demons, forced into the Gray
Words of oppression, wolves after prey:
These are not men but monsters from hell,
Led by a vampire blood-dropper to kill!

As I lie on the beach,
Hear the breakers roar—
These men of false glory
Are destined to fall!

The above lines were sent to Mrs. Josephine Johnson, of the Park, by her son, M. Thomas Johnson, who has been overseas a year and a half. He is attached to the adjutant general's staff, Johnson is a grandson of C. W. Burk, of the Park.

Correction

It was stated in this column on May 24 that a group of five boys went to Baltimore for service in the Merchant Marine but that only one passed his physical, Donald Friend. Among the others named in the group was Paul DeWitt. This was an error as DeWitt did not go to Baltimore for that purpose and did not undergo any physical examination.

Improvements Noted

The club room at the Recreation Center has been undergoing a very thorough cleaning and renovating under the supervision of Mrs. W. B. Love and her co-workers, and we really do not have to say that the kitchen attached to the club rooms has been made workable and many other improvements are planned.

It is good to see some folks taking an interest in this center. The library, a busy place on Saturdays with Mrs. Dorothy Breck in charge, a number of new books have been added and there is really a fine selection of all sorts to choose from.

Some of the young folks have been engaged in clearing the tennis courts, temporarily and play on them. These courts will, it is understood as soon as weather permits, be put in first class condition.

The Park is filling rapidly. Practically all cottages have been taken and a number of new looks have been added and there is really a fine selection of all sorts to choose from.

Da's na fijn, zunne!...Have a Coca-Cola

(SAY, THAT'S GREAT!)

...an American custom lands in Brussels

In Flemish, it's vreundelijkheid. In American, it's the plain, everyday word friendliness. Everywhere your Yankee doughboy goes, it comes from his heart in a good old home-town phrase, Have a Coke. Friendliness is bred in his bone and it bubbles out—like the bubbling goodness of Coca-Cola itself. Yes, the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coke becomes an ambassador of good will... the old home spirit carried across the seas.

You naturally hear Coca-Cola called by its friendly abbreviation Coke. Both mean the quality product of The Coca-Cola Company.

He Got What He Wanted.

WE WERE impressed the other day when reading the opinions of a widely-known public figure on the question of compulsory military training during peacetime.

"Therefore we . . . stand for compulsory military service for every man (he said). If a state is not worth that, then away with it! Then you must not complain if you are enslaved. But if you believe that you must be free, then you must learn to recognize that no one gives you freedom save only your own sword.

"It is clear to anyone who even stops to think that in case of a coming war the entire nation would have to take up arms, that therefore millions would be driven toward the enemy with bad, insufficient or half-finished training. One must nevertheless not forget that the shortage of trained soldiers could easily lead, at the beginning of a war, to losing that war.

"The army educates them only to be reliable, decent members of the community, men who in the hour of need and danger will feel themselves united in loyalty with the nation; and should fate confront them with the sternest ordeal, will defend the freedom of their people with bravery and honor."

The arguments are good ones, and no wonder, since they come from an old master of the public platform—Adolf Hitler. He voiced them between 1923 and 1935, in "Mein Kampf" and "My New Order."

He had a certain success with them, too, introducing peacetime compulsory military training in Germany ten years ago this winter.—Editorial from Des Moines Tribune.

Bloomington Soldier Dies in Jap Sinking

A prisoner of the Japs since the fall of Corregidor in May, 1942, Sgt. Harold W. Kitzmiller, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Kitzmiller, of near Bloomington, is presumed to have lost his life in the sinking of a prison ship in the South China Sea on October 24, 1944, according to a letter received this week by his parents from the War Department.

More Fuel Mileage After War Promised

Dealers Informed On Possibility Of Post-War Gasoline Products

Quick getaway and increased power output or greater fuel mileage will be the principal advantages derived from adapting aviation super-fuels to automobiles, E. S. Diggins, of Baltimore, division manager of Esso Marketers, informed dealers in this area in a special V-E day report on post-war products.

Mr. Diggins asserted that even though automobiles could not efficiently use aviation super-fuels, these fuels will permit the making of the finest gasoline ever produced for use in automobiles.

The company post-war products will be made when the war is "decisively won" and gasoline rationing lifted.

Among facilities to be turned to immediate peacetime use by Esso Marketers in producing post-war products he listed:

1. Eight plants now producing super 100-octane aviation gasoline;
2. The first full scale airplane engine testing laboratory in the world, at Bayway, New Jersey, now exploring new limits of aviation fuel;
3. Over 1,500 scientists constantly on petroleum research.

With Our Men In The Service

Carrying supplies through the mountains of Luzon at night brings a double hazard. Cpl. Clyde W. Knowles of Oakland, and his anti-tank platoon of the 98th Division found out recently.

Because of the Japs' frequent night infiltration, Yank carrying parties are in danger of being fired upon by their own men when they move under cover of darkness.

When the guards and carriers identify themselves to the Yanks, they at once give away their own position to the surrounding Nips, and frequently must fight their way through the darkness back to their base.

Cpl. Knowles is the son of Mrs. W. E. Knowles, whose residence is at Meadows of Dan, Va. He holds the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with three battle stars, and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon.

Staff Sergeant Carlton B. Semblower, formerly of Mt. Lake Park, is among recent arrivals at the army crew training base at Avon Park, Fla., for a new assignment.

Church services next Sunday morning at both Guey and Red House. In the Gospel for the day Jesus asks the question: "Can the blind lead the blind?" Regardless of one's ability, or lack of it, our Lord expects His followers to be alert, wide awake and clear-headed in the conflict against the forces of evil.

This is the purpose of our Sunday Schools and Vacation Bible Schools. The tenth Bible School opens next Monday morning at St. John's church for all children and young people in this and surrounding communities.

Plenty of cars are available. We have new courses for some of the groups, and young people up to the age of twenty will be specially interested in the work provided for them. Married folks may enroll also for this important training in the art of living.

Writes From The Philippines

6 June, 1945.
Philippine Area.

To the Editor of The Republican:
Dear Sir:—It occurred to me this evening after reading The Republican of March —, that I would drop you a few lines to let you know it is a great thing to receive The Republican.

Although my parents sent me the paper right along, a friend and past neighbor of ours—Mrs. Mary Martin, of Mountain Lake Park—subscribed for me.
It gives me great pleasure to read the news of Garrett county away out here in this part of the world. I attended Oakland High and graduated with the class of '42. It seems as though it has been years since OHS days, but those memories linger on and out here you remember them much—much more clearly.

It was great news to us upon hearing of Germany's surrender, but it surely isn't over out here yet. We can only hope for the day to soon come when these rats will be exterminated for keeps.

We (our ship) have not done so terribly much in the way of direct fighting with the Japs, but we have been doing things that must be done. Our ship participated in the invasion of Lingayen Gulf, which we deem was a very great part in this war. I can assure you that we were just a pea in a pod there, but we didn't fare too well. That is all I am permitted to say. Since then we have done some very vital things, although they may seem trivial.

My two brothers who are in the Army, E. A. Kenneth H. Tichenor and Sgt. Fred W., are also overseas—Fred in England and Ken in Italy.

I only wish that some of the people in Garrett county could see what the Japs have done to one of the largest cities here. I am sure after they saw the ruins they would do twice as much as they are now doing to aid the war, although they are working hard.

We all have only one hope, and that is to get back home to stay, and so we are fighting as hard as possible to get this dirty mess over with and get to our homes.

Once again I'll say The Republican is a great paper from a great county. To all of Garrett county and my friends, I say, "Hello, and the best regards to them."

Sincerely,
ARTHUR C. TICHENOR, F. L.

Sgt. Darrell DeWitt Writes From England

6 June, 1945.

Sgt. Darrell G. DeWitt, of Oakland, who has been with a fighter squadron of the eighth air force, in England, tells some of his experiences in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. DeWitt, formerly of Oakland, now residing in Rowlesburg, W. Va. Sgt. DeWitt enlisted in the air corps June 2, 1942, and left for overseas duty in the month of November, 1943.

With some of the censorship rules lifted, Sgt. DeWitt told of his trip across and air attacks while at his base in England.

Parts of the letter written May 23, follow:

"We boarded the Queen Elizabeth at 1:30 a. m., from Camp Shank, N. Y., about ten miles from New York City. Our small steamer had 16 bunks in it. We had a load of 20,000 men and equipment. When about 100 miles off Bermuda we headed north. The Queen Elizabeth could outrun any other ship on the water and there were no escorts. We changed course every seven minutes to shake off subs. We came to a lay not far from Glasgow where there were battle ships, aircraft carriers, subs and boats of all descriptions. It was quite a sight. En route to England we looked for bombed-out towns but were too far north. The next day in England we would come through a town and half of it would be blown down. I felt for the first time why we had entered the war—that wasn't going to happen back home.

Arriving at our base the Engineers came in to ask us what the States were still like and kidded us about raids. There was an air raid alarm that night when they bombed London. On the third night I went to Colchester and got caught in a bombing raid. I saw one dogfight right over my head and six Jerries shot down. Bombs were landing all over the place and don't think I wasn't scared. We stayed at that base for about two months with three and four raids a night. We then moved to a base near the coast and all planes passed right over us.

We began operations February 11 and started missions over France. One night the Jerries started strafing. Jerry shot the top out of the mess hall with 20 mm cannon and sprayed the field. From then on all lights went out at the first sound of an air raid alarm.

Buzz bombs were our next big nuisance. The first ones ever to hit England passed over us at tree top level. We didn't know what they were as the engines sounded so darn funny and the fire came out of the tails. The next day the news enlightened us. They would shake the whole country with their war and when they blew us they would knock us out of bed. They sent ack-ack troops to our base to knock them down before they could go inland and do much more damage which made it that much worse for us as they would either blow up in the air or fall all around us. When they were firing at the buzz bombs the whirring would whistle over our heads. When they blew up they would light up the whole country."

DIARY OF THE WAR

port, north Borneo capital. Center of Jap line on Okinawa was cracked and highest hill on island fell to Yanks. Ten thousand Japs were making last stand in small area. American beach land on Japan was scheduled to reach two million tons a year by July 1. Americans made five-mile gain in north Luzon. Chinese reached Lichow and Ishan, key strongholds held by Japs. Russians were preparing to try Polish leaders soon. German prisoners of war were being released at rate of 9,000 per day. Three U. S. armies were scheduled to stay in Europe.

SATURDAY—Jap's port of Osaka was in flames from possible knockout blow by 529 superforts. Five cities were on knockout list with Yokohama and Kobe already considered "zone." Tokyo and Nagoya still had a few more targets to be bombed. Japs were fleeing from Wenchow in China which was under hot fire. Ohio troops made spectacular advance on Luzon, gaining 22 miles in one day. Australians cleared Labana island and captured third airfield on Borneo. Von Ribbentrop was captured in Germany and was being questioned. Luckner predicted end of Okinawa campaign within a week. It was disclosed German U-boats had closed his U. S. ports in 1942 and 1943, for temporary periods.

SUNDAY—Aussies were driving in to Sarawak on Borneo and Japs said the refining center of Balikpapan was menaced by an Allied fleet. Later it was 500 miles across island, on east coast, 300 miles south of Australian-occupied Tarakan. Troops and tanks drove over last three Jap-held heights on Okinawa and were crowding Japs to edge of cliffs. Americans pushed northward through Cagayan valley on Luzon and were racing against time as typhoon season was almost due. Cavos and pillboxes were being cleared out on Mindanao island of Philippines. Chinese were pushing near Lichow and Wenchow.

MONDAY—About 450 Superforts

bombed four Jap cities, centering on small ship war industries. Japs told their people the inevitable loss of Okinawa would mean launching great aerial offensive against mainland and an early invasion. Enemy losses in Philippines now totaled 402,963 with American troops casualties around 50,000. Americans reached valley town of Cagayan on Luzon 132 miles south of Jap port of Aparri. Nimitz said 89,450 Japs had been killed on Okinawa and 1,680 taken prisoner. Retreating Yanks were confident Japs were near defeat from American air power and artillery. Eighty-sixth division reached port from Europe and will be sent to Pacific after furloughs. Chinese made 25-mile gain and blocked two Jap counter-attacks around Lichow.

THE NEW CHURCH IN THE

LESSON TEXT—Timothy 6:16-18; 1 Peter
4:2-10
GOLDEN TEXT—Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and his righteousness—Matthew 6:33

The church is world-wide in its ministry. Its first experiences of both advance and attack were in Jerusalem, but in due time the Lord pressed its members out into the Gentile world to preach the gospel. These believers had to meet the challenge of a pagan world, rich, powerful, and steeped in age-old philosophies which ran counter to the teaching of Jesus Christ.

The story of how the church met that situation and came through victorious is one of the most thrilling and important sections of world history. We catch but a few glimpses of that time in the writings of Paul and Peter which make up our lesson today, but even these are full of instruction and inspiration. The church appears here as it went on:

1. Fighting the Good Fight of Faith (1 Tim. 6:11-16).

In the letter to Timothy, the Holy Spirit used Paul to instruct the early church regarding its life in the midst of an unbelieving world. In the verses immediately preceding our lesson we find a solemn warning against the wrong attitude of heart toward worldly possessions, "Godliness with contentment" is declared to be great gain.

But there is more to Christianity than inward graces, for that must show itself in daily fighting "the good fight of faith." That is done in three ways:

1. By godly living (v. 11). Believers are to flee those things which hinder spiritual progress, and give themselves to the cultivation of graces of a true Christian life.

Space does not permit discussion of these fine virtues of the faithful follower of Christ, but note how tremendously effective they could be (yes, and are today) against paganism. It is so true that the best argument for Christianity is a Christian, but he must be a real one.

2. In holy warfare (v. 12). Living for Christ is not accomplished by sitting in a spiritual rocking chair while the enemy is on the attack. No indeed. There is a good fight to be waged, both personally and as a body of believers.

"The Son of God goes forth to war" against evil in our day. "Who follows in His train?" Thank God, there are those who are on the battle line for God, but they need reinforcements. Who will volunteer today?

3. With blessed expectation (v. 13-16). The soldier is ready to bear the "blood, sweat, and tears" of deadly conflict because he looks for victory. The soldier of Christ has a sure hope, for he follows Jesus Christ, already victorious over death, and one day soon to appear again as King of Kings and Lord of lords.

In view of that expectation, the Christian is to live a consistent, clean and irreproachable life. And why not? If we look for the glorious and blessed and only Potentate, should we not be ready?

II. Meeting the Fiery Trial of Persecution (1 Pet. 4:12-16).

As Peter comforted the sorely tried believers in the early church, he urged them to meet their persecutions:

1. Without confusion (v. 12). We should expect trials in this world; yes, severe, fiery trials. Such things are common to all mankind, and the Christian should not expect to escape.

To them, such trials are real tests of their faith, an opportunity to show to the unbelieving world that God is able to deliver those who put their trust in Him!

To be forewarned is to be forearmed. "Think it not strange concerning the fiery trial."

2. With exceeding joy (v. 13-15). The believer is not to be ashamed of the troubles he bears for Christ's sake. A glory rests upon the one who is privileged to be a "partaker of Christ's suffering" (v. 14) as he stands with Him who was "a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief" (Isa. 53:3).

Note that the believer is not to do anything which would justify others in making him suffer. It is a disgrace, a shame, which injures the cause of Christ, when a believer has to suffer because he has broken the law, or because he is "a busybody" (R. V. "meddler") in other men's matters.

3. For the glory of God (v. 16). The entire life of the believer should be lived for God's glory. If, then, he is called to pass through trials or to be persecuted for his faith, that, too, is something to be so borne as to glorify God.

The follower of Christ does not hang his head in shame as the difficulties of life come upon him. He trusts God, and by his power and grace in the midst of difficult circumstances, declares to all the world that God is able to deliver.

Recently Liberated From German Prison CampsPFC. JOHN E. CASTLOW*S SGT. HAROLD GLENN SCHELL

Garrett county soldiers, who were prisoners of war of the German government, are being released rapidly, the liberation of two more having been announced this week.

Pvt. Paul J. Jordan, who has been a prisoner of the Germans since February 17, 1943, when he was captured in Africa while engaged in his work with a medical detachment, is now back in the States, his mother, Mrs. Mary Jordan, of Mount Airy, N. C., and former resident here, has been informed. He arrived in Oakland yesterday morning.

Jordan was inducted July 14, 1941. He was one of the first from this county to be captured by the Germans. Mrs. John E. Castlow, Liberty street, was notified this week that her husband was back in the States and now at Camp Patrick Henry, Virginia, after having been liberated from a German prison camp recently. Pfc. Castlow became a prisoner in September, 1944, in France, during the second invasion after having served in Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Schell, of near Oakland, received word about two weeks ago that their son, S Sgt. Harold Glenn Schell, had been liberated and was enroute to his home. Schell enlisted in the army air force on January 12, 1942. He was a gunner on a flying fortress and was reported missing in action over Germany on April 11, 1944.

Official government reports released this week also carried the names of S Sgt. Chauncey M. Friend,

PRIVATE PAUL JORDAN

Jr., of Friendsville, and T 4 Elliott C. Bell, son of Mrs. Laura V. Bell, Kitzmiller, as having been released recently.

John Brown, of Deer Park, was notified this week that his son, S Sgt. Charles Brown, was being returned to the United States.

Tech. Sgt. Joseph E. Markley, of Kitzmiller, returned to his home last week after fourteen months as a prisoner of war of the Germans. The flier, who was shot down over Austria, was accompanied from Washington by his wife, Mrs. Wilma Evans Markley, and his sister, Miss Betty Markley.

NEW GERMANY

The young people of the community met at the church last Friday evening for their third gathering. Miss Mabel Broadwater was the leader. Rev. Rufus Culbreath, from North Carolina, who was vacationing in one of the cabins in the State forest, was the guest speaker. His topic was, "Obtaining Spiritual Greatness."

Preparations are being made for the annual Children's Day service on July 1st at the Reformed church.

Patsy Duvet has returned home following a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rice at Frostburg.

Mrs. M. E. Martin and daughter Maxine, Betty Jo Otto, Mrs. Lorraine Otto and daughter Helen Joanne, and T Sgt. William J. Martin, Scott Field, Ill., attended the funeral of the late John W. Savage at Knapp's Meadow, near Lonaconing, on Wednesday.

Recent visitors at the S. L. Otto home were Mr. and Mrs. S. Moon, Salisbury, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moore and son, Chambersburg, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Otto and son, of Baltimore.

William J. Gray, who has been employed for the past several months at Minneapolis, Minn., has returned to his home here.

The Girls' 4-H club will meet this Friday afternoon at the home of Nellie Wiley. Following the meeting the members and guests will have a picnic supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Robinson and family, of Frostburg, and Parker Warnick, of Elbow, were guests on Sunday at the Willie Warnick home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Logsdon, of Barton, spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. C. B. Beachy.

T Sgt. William J. Martin is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Martin. He is located at Frostburg, Md., where he is an instructor in radio.

Pot soaking—If cooking pots and pans or dishes not done immediately are to be washed quickly, a bit of soaking might speed up the job. Cooking utensils in which milk, eggs, or starchy foods have been prepared should be filled with cold water—hot water on these foods has a tendency to cook the food on the pan and thus make it more difficult to remove. Hot water, however, is best for utensils in which sugary foods like syrups and kins have been cooked. Sugar dissolves faster in hot than in cold water.

A time-saving way to keep silverware bright is to have a little aluminum pan filled with hot soda water near the dishpan and put into it any silver tarnished with egg or other food.

Jar rings—A recent study made by the Bureau of Home Economics, the War Food Administration, and two state colleges, gives us the following report on 1945 jar rings:

1. Though still made of synthetic rubber, new jar rings are superior to those of 1943 and 1944. Home canners are advised to continue last year's recommended practice of boiling rings 10 minutes in one quart of water containing one tablespoon of soda for each dozen rings and then rinsing in boiling water.

2. Black, brown, and red rings proved equally satisfactory. Color has no practical bearing on quality.

3. All rings had satisfactory sealing quality.

4. All jar rings in their cartons have a characteristic odor, but this does not necessarily give a flavor to the foods canned. Smelling new rings is not a reliable test of whether they will impart off-flavors to foods. The soda water boiling helps to keep such odors from foods.

Will that be your Victory Garden theme song? It needn't be. You planted your Victory Garden for the benefit of your family. Be sure insect pests do not rob them.

Apply Watkins Cryolite Insect Dust early and kill the bugs while they are young and tender. Cryolite is recommended by many State Agricultural Experiment Stations as the practical way of controlling most chewing insect pests. It's easy to apply, does an effective, lasting job.

IN MEMORIAM

In remembrance of our son
LIEUT. CLYDE R. CUSTER, who died in action overseas

Dear Clyde went away to a land up there
With other Rangers of the air;
His heart was brave, he was unafraid
For his was the soul of which heroes are made.

With tears in his eyes as he left he said, "Don't say goodbye, Mom!"
So July 1, 1944, he took his flight to the land on high.

With his crew of five dear boys, whom he loved so well,
And some glad day we can say, "Good morning!" in the sky.

Clyde was loved on earth, but needed up there,
His youth, his laughter, his joking to share
With those who on earth, were filled with care;
In a world where sadness is everywhere.

The welcome in heaven was ringing that day
With the voices of six dear lads who flew away
Into the skies, like song birds do,
And there they are making a heaven for me, and for you.

But heaven would not be a garden fair
If only the sick and the aged were there;
So we pray, "Dear God, sustain and comfort us
Until the peace Clyde fought for and died, comes true."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT.

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Washington, June 16. THE "Magna Carta" boys seem to be overdoing it just a little. For one thing, they are becoming so numerous that confusion is spreading among them and the need for co-ordination is apparent. For another, they are becoming so skillful that listening to them is not easy—is even slightly painful.

AT THE MOMENT, there are at least three distinct Magna Carta groups and proposals. Mr. Henry Wallace recently burst forth with what he labeled a "Magna Carta for Little Business." Much of the substance of the Wallace proposals, it is claimed, had been previously prepared by and under his predecessor, Mr. Jesse Jones. The chief difference, so it is said, is that Mr. Jones had not thought about calling these proposals a Magna Carta and had not cut loose all restraint upon the loans of public funds.

THEN, Senators Wagner and Murray have a Magna Carta (so labeled by their press agents) in the much advertised "full employment" 60,000,000 job bill. This is being vigorously promoted by Mrs. Roosevelt in her daily column strongly advocated by the radical press of New York and persuasively presented by various of the New Deal propagandists. The wicked conservatives, generally, regard the bill in its pristine form as impracticable and unnecessary, as opening the door for unlimited governmental expenditures and as advancing firmly in the socialistic direction.

ADVOCATES of the bill believe that, following the war's end, there will be a vast unemployment, to meet which private industry will be wholly inadequate. In consequence, the Government will have to step in, create jobs through public works, advancing large funds for business expansion, etc. Its opponents insist first, that there will be no widespread unemployment; that such unemployment as exists will be due largely to shifting and reconversion but will not be prolonged; that it will not exceed two and one-half million which is normal; that there is sure to be from five to seven years of great prosperity following the war; that there will be more jobs than there are men to fill them; that no legislation will be necessary. Proponents of this particular Magna Carta regard those who oppose it as reactionary tools of Big Business, while the dissenters look upon its more bellicose backers as composed mostly of crack pots and radicals.

BUT THESE are not all the Magna Cartas. A few days ago another was announced. This time it is called "a new economic Magna Carta for the Common Man everywhere." It is said to be labor's program for postwar employment and to have been drafted by the National Planning Association.

But it develops that this really is a CIO plan, drafted largely by Mr. Clinton Golden, who is chairman of the NPA, and a right-hand man of Mr. Philip Murray. Describing this Magna Carta, an enthusiastic publication declares that "basically, it is a fiscal program comparable with tax plans published last year by the Committee for Economic Development and the Messrs. Beardsley Ruml and H. Christian Sonne." "But," it is added, "this plan (the Magna Carta) is far more able and realistic than even these comparatively liberal business plans."

THERE ARE several other minor Magna Cartas lurking around, but the three above mentioned, are the conspicuous ones. Concerning them it is interesting to note, that while they have been separately launched, separately sponsored and separately promoted, they are nevertheless linked by two things. One is the character of their support, which is practically identical. Each one of these Magna Carta groups is for the other Magna Cartas. In other words, they are all for one and one for all. They could, of course, combine and save promotion and publicity expense. But that is not regarded as desirable at all—quite the reverse.

THE OTHER thing is that, though they do not say so flatly, the plan of each of these Magna Cartas is founded upon the free and unlimited expenditure of Federal funds. Each will cost a great deal of Government money. And, besides enthusiastic support from all our professional "liberal" publicists, they all have two other points in common—(1) none of them knows even approximately how much money their plan will cost; (2) none of them knows—or even suggests—where the money is to come from. But, to the Magna Carta boys, those are just details.

Protection Against Typhoid Is Advised

Warm Weather, Vacation Season, Etc., Usually Accompanied By Increase In Disease

"Protection against typhoid fever is in order now, at the beginning of the vacation season," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, reminds Marylanders who are planning to enjoy outdoor activities during the summer months. "Warm weather—with its emphasis upon camping, swimming and picnics in the country—is usually accompanied by a seasonal increase in reported cases of this disease.

"Immunization against typhoid fever can be acquired easily and safely through 'shots' given by a private physician or health officer. These inoculations, usually given at intervals of one week, are customary. The immunity conferred ordinarily lasts about three years, which means that the treatment should be repeated every third year for continuous protection. Since it takes time for the immunity to become thoroughly established, persons who have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever since 1942 are advised to go to their physicians for immunization somewhat in advance of their outdoor vacations.

"Community measures to safeguard food and milk and provide safe water supplies have greatly reduced the incidence of typhoid fever in recent years. The value of improved sanitation is known, because it is an established fact that every case results from consuming food milk or water contaminated with human excreta bearing the disease-producing germ—discharges from an ill patient or from an apparently normal carrier who has recovered from the disease but continues to discharge its germs. Supervision of known carriers has also helped to prevent the spread of this disease.

"The success of these control measures should not, however, give residents of this State the false impression that personal immunization is no longer desirable," Dr. Riley warns.

"The remote and secluded spots sought for picnics and camping trips are often far from safe food and milk or approved water supplies. Water that looks clear and clean may be dangerous to drink deliberately or to swallow while swimming. Even in more closely supervised areas, and in spite of precautions, there is danger of infection from some unsuspected source. Inoculation is strongly recommended for those who want to participate in the season's outdoor pleasures secure from the threat of typhoid fever."

MT. LAKE PARK

A Cooling Spot Here

Scores of children and grown-ups were getting "cooled off" in the lake at Mountain Lake Park Sunday, for the weather was hot, which brings us to the query, "Why doesn't someone make this lake a real place?"

In the winter it's an ideal skating spot. So much could be done, not only to benefit the owners, but to add to the few Park attractions. Seems like there is a powerful lot of "real things" going to waste in our midst.

Nature has given us a great deal but she doesn't just throw her gifts away. She imposes certain tasks when she presents opportunities.

It's very easy to become "lazy pets and luxurious darlings" when we have so much given us. There are times when one thinks that only the camp meeting folks appreciate this mountain top. At least all of their followers combine a seriousness and piety in their contemplation of religion with the joy of our natural beauties—in other words they are alive to the charms and loveliness of nature as we have it here.

Perhaps we have taken too much for granted.

Instrument for Peace . . .

PRESIDENT TRUMAN brought an historic assemblage of fifty United Nations to a close on Tuesday with the declaration that it had "created a great instrument for peace and security and human progress in the world." But now the world must use it, the President said, otherwise: "We shall betray all those who have died in order that we might meet here in freedom and safety to create it."

Throughout his address ran the theme that the charter of the new world league is only an instrument, a machine that was built from universal desires that never again shall the world be engulfed in war. It isn't perfect, Mr. Truman said, and there must be a will among nations to use it well. But like the American Constitution, the President asserted, it can be improved through the years.

"Upon all of us, in all our countries," the President said, "is now laid the duty of transforming into action these words which you have written. Upon our decisive action rests the hope of those who have fallen, those now living, those yet unborn—the hope for a world of free countries—with decent standards of living—which will work and cooperate in a friendly civilized community of nations. This new structure of peace is rising upon strong foundations."

"Let us not fail to grasp this supreme chance to establish a world-wide rule of reason—to create an enduring peace under the guidance of God."

"With this new charter," Mr. Truman said, "the world can start looking ahead toward a time when all worthy humans may live decently as free people."

Each individual in Oakland, in Garrett County, in the United States and in the world, has a personal responsibility in seeing that such a document becomes workable. With united effort, it can be done.

Season For Fishing In Deep Creek Opens Sunday, July First

District Game Warden Ruge Directs Attention To A Number Of Regulations

With the approach of open season on all species of fish in Deep Creek Lake, beginning July 1, and continuing several months, Francis Ruge, district game warden, called attention to a number of regulations.

Fishing for trout in Deep Creek Lake is lawful only until July 15 when the trout season closes throughout the state. Trout must be at least 7 inches in length and the creel limit is 10 per day.

Bass must be 10 inches in length, yellow perch 8, and crappies 7. There is no creel limit for yellow perch, bass, or crappie. This is the first year in which a size limit has been placed on crappie.

Fishermen are allowed no more than two rods, hooks and lines, and no more than two hooks on any line.

There are no night restrictions on fishing in Deep Creek Lake. Mr. Ruge called attention to the law specifying it to be unlawful for motor boats to operate at high speed nearer than 175 feet from a canoe or rowboat.

He said there were a large number of people around the lake this summer and that prospects for a successful fishing season were bright. Fishing licenses are obtainable from Mrs. Hershberger, in Grantsville; at Rainbow Inn, along the lake, or from the clerk of the Circuit Court, Court House, Oakland. State-wide license is $1.50, out of state $5.00. There is a special 3-day license for $1.75 for out-of-state fishermen.

Five Arrests Made
Mr. Ruge said five arrests had been made, four of them charged with fishing in Deep Creek Lake out of season. They were: Galen Harvey and Charles Wilhelm, Kitzmiller; Chalmers Detrick, Friendsville; and Joseph Duckworth, Deer Park. All were fined $10 and costs by county magistrates. William Upole, Deer Park, was also fined $10 and costs for fishing without a license. Arrests were made by Ruge, Wayne DeWitt and Carl Kivner, deputy game wardens.

Fifty Nations Sign World Peace Charter

Conference At San Francisco Ends After Sixty-Three Days In Session

Statesmen of fifty nations united in a will for peace signed a charter for a new world order on Tuesday and brought to a close a momentous international conference at San Francisco.

In sixty-three days of deliberations delegations of fifty countries had forged an instrument for keeping the world of the future free of war.

Before scattering for their homes, they took an admonition from President Truman to act now to make the charter "a living thing," to seek immediate ratification of this new constitution for a world organization by the governments which sent them.

It is a document whose core creates a compact security council of eleven members, five great nations and six lesser ones, to which has been assigned the primary responsibility for preserving world security by peaceful methods and, if necessary, by force of arms.

But all nations will be represented in a general assembly where they may bring the voice of public opinion to bear on almost any international issue.

VOLUME 69.

OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND, JUNE 28, 1945.

NUMBER 18.

War Veterans Will Receive Much Help Upon Returning To Role of a Civilian

Service Committees Have Been Set Up In Every County To Work With State Organizations

Discharged war veterans of Garrett County are going to have no run-around of red tape when they decide to return to a role in civilian life, whether it be taking back their old job, getting a new one or taking up a training course or advanced education. Milburn W. Mann, chairman of the County Veterans Service Committee, said this week.

Veterans Service Committees have been set up in every county in Maryland with Selective Service, the Veterans Administration and the War Manpower Commission coordinating their agencies to see that the returned vet is given every opportunity to decide his future course and to be helped into the role he desires to follow. With these agencies every other organization interested in the welfare of the returned veterans is cooperating so that the particular functions of each are readily available for any man or woman who needs their particular type of aid and service.

The veteran, as soon as he returns home, reports to his draft board and when he desires to resume work, is returned to his old job if he wants to take it. He has 90 days to exercise legal right under Section 8 of the Selective Service Act. In case of a legal suit to reclaim his old job, the responsibility rests with Selective Service.

In order to be eligible for re-employment, a veteran must have completed the period of his military service to the satisfaction of those over him and in all cases his discharge must be honorable.

The only cases in which an employer does not have to give the veteran his old job are those in which the former employee has become physically, morally or mentally unfit, or when the employer's business has undergone changes that would make the rehiring of the veteran harsh or unreasonable, or when the job was temporary or when separated from job prior to May 1, 1940, or when separated not for the purpose of going into the Armed Forces.

Dairy Development Concludes One Project

Members of the Dairy Development committee, previously organized in 1944 for the purpose of improving the dairy industry, held a meeting last Friday evening for the purpose of marking up the completion of one project inaugurated by the committee.

Last year 11 registered bulls were purchased and turned over to eleven farm boys to raise as a project. According to Frank Kley, chairman of the committee, all but two of the projects were completed. One bull died and the other did not develop into a breeder. The other nine bulls were purchased by the fathers of the farm boys who were enrolled in the project.

Gradual improvement of the herds in this area is expected as a result of the project. John H. Carter, county agent, said there were from 75 to 100 purebred bulls already owned by farmers of the county that were being used for improvement of numerous dairy herds.

The committee will continue its activity and Howard White was named as secretary, replacing Grover Sneed, who was transferred by the Carnation company last year.

Prior to adjourning, the committee also discussed the closing of the production record project, which included actual production records of dairy herds in the Oakland milk shed area for Carnation. Winners in the area are to be announced and prizes awarded at a dinner meeting which is being planned.

Awarded Silver Star

Capt. Robert L. Martin, Jr., former manager of the Carnation Company's receiving station in Oakland, was recently awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action in connection with military operations against the enemy on January 16, 1945, in Belgium.

The citation explains: "After his company had driven across the Salm river to Braunlauf, Captain Martin discovered a gap of 1,000 yards between his company and the unit on his left. He went out on a personal reconnaissance under heavy artillery and mortar fire, contacted the adjacent unit and made it possible to close the gap. During this reconnaissance he was stopped by an enemy machinegun nest but with indomitable courage, he outflanked this strong point, attacked it and captured the three gunners and went on to complete his mission."

Capt. Martin was a member of the ninth army and entered service from Hillsville, Va. He is now a patient in McGuire hospital, Richmond, Va., and recently wrote to H. C. Riggs to say that he expected a long furlough soon and would be in Oakland to visit his friends. He underwent a second operation May 25 and is on his feet again. The doctor joined a nerve which may make it possible for him to regain the use of his hand.

Ralph Rodeheaver Awarded Bronze Star

At a recent military ceremony held in Germany, Pfc. Ralph Rodeheaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rodeheaver, was presented the bronze star.

His citation read in part: "For heroic achievement in action on April 7, 1945, in the vicinity of Eschelbach, Germany. While driving his vehicle loaded with ammunition and a machine gun for his platoon Pfc. Rodeheaver was under constant machine gun and mortar fire while bringing his company to the vicinity of Eschelbach. He continued on his mission although his vehicle was hit several times by enemy fire. The courage displayed by Pfc. Rodeheaver was an inspiration to all who witnessed his actions and contributed greatly to the success of the attack."

Tokyo boasted lifting at least twenty vessels including two battleships. American planes from Okinawa, two Jima and Marianas attacked Jap mainland targets. HOWLS OF FURY

Washington, June 23.

Recent developments have made two important things clearer than before. One is that the labor unions are really unregulated by law; that the laws which apply to other groups do not apply to them; that the special laws supposed to apply to them are ineffectual, entirely pushed aside and ignored.

The second is that no relief from this condition can be expected from the Supreme Court. The radical majority of that court made this plain last week when in a 5-4 decision it said that a labor union may not be sued under the anti-trust laws for the destruction of an employer's business. In this case a man's business was completely ruined by union action in refusing to permit employees of the firm to become members of the union, or members of the union to work for the firm. Unable to get workers, the business died. The court said the firm had no redress.

Equally striking is the absurd futility of the Connally-Smith "anti-strike" law. Under it the union can claim that a strike is legal if it is "unauthorized." In brief, the act is a joke. For example, the recent New York bus line "slowdown", which caused vast inconvenience to the public, was "unauthorized." Therefore, the act did not apply. At the same time, in Akron, a more serious strike interfering with war production in the five plants of the Goodyear Rubber Company, was avowedly an "authorized" strike. But that was legal because a favorable poll of workers had been taken on the question of interrupting war work by a strike if their demands were not granted. Hence, the "authorized" strike became as legal as the "unauthorized" strike. Consider these things—the illness of the Connally-Smith Act which sanctions both "authorized" and "unauthorized" strikes; the freedom of labor agencies, such as the PAC, from the accounting to which other political agencies are subjected; the one-sided Wagner Act which puts the employer at a hopeless disadvantage—consider these things, and it seems impossible to contend that justice prevails in the land or that all of us are equally subject to the law.

The remedy, of course, is in the hands of Congress. A new President, whose political debt to the CIO is not nearly so great as was Mr. Roosevelt's, has now taken over. A few days ago three senators—one a Democrat and two Republicans—sponsored a bill which is the first real attempt in ten years to correct the glaring injustice of the Wagner Act and put labor-industrial relations on a decent plane. The principles of the Wagner Act are preserved. The right of collective bargaining and the right to strike are retained. But the utter helplessness of the employer is relieved and the power of the unions to dictate is decreased.

No fair-minded man can say that under the proposed bill any of the "rights of labor" are lessened. Yet, what has happened? Immediately, the labor spokesmen howl with fury. "The bill," they say, "is a bill to enslave

A DECLARATION OF INTERDEPENDENCE

By RUTH TAYLOR

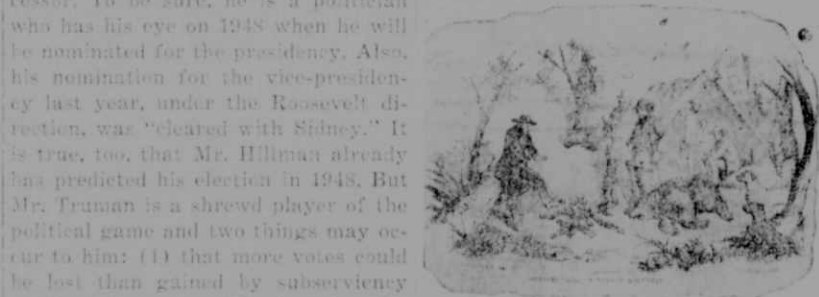

Only the savage lives by himself and for himself. Civilization demands cooperative living. Each gain made, each step forward that makes life easier or more secure implies the working together of the many for the benefit of all.

This is not an altruistic attitude. It is plain horse sense. It is intelligent self-interest to recognize our interdependence one upon the other. We became a nation when Thirteen Sovereign States accepted their interdependence and gave up some of their cherished privileges to establish a Bill of Rights for all.

We have fought a long war at a high cost in young lives because after the last war we did not recognize our responsibility—our dependence upon others; because we did not see that domestic prosperity to a very great degree was dependent upon world prosperity; because at home we did not realize that all groups must be prosperous if our economy was to be healthy.

We have learned an expensive lesson—that God be thanked, we have learned it, and even in the midst of turmoil there are those who have been looking ahead and planning for the peace to come.

To be sure, there are those self-minded critics who say that "planning" is a Fascist or Communist ideology, destructive of rugged individualism. Yet how far would that rugged individualist, the frontiersman, have gone in the wilderness without careful planning, without cautious preparation? He would have been scalped long before he reached the nearest settlement.

"Planning" is no foreign ideology. The Declaration of Interdependence is as American as the Declaration of Independence.

What is the Declaration of Interdependence? It is a joint statement by the Agricultural, Business and Labor Committees on National Policy of the National Planning Association. In the words of Hans Christian Borge, Chairman of the Executive Committee: "This declaration is a creed of faith in democracy. It is the conscious attempt of groups to analyze their common needs and to seek mutual agreement on their common problems; to, in self-interest, put selfishness for the good of the nation as a whole. National planning is the democracy planning. This is why we believe it will show us the way to a peaceful and prosperous world."

Black Markets Traced As Far Back As 1779

Black markets in Revolutionary War days?

A proclamation issued by the Supreme Executive Council in Philadelphia on January 18, 1779, said in part:

"The forestalling of the markets and engrossing great quantities of articles of usual consumption hath a manifest tendency to enhance prices—but when such prices are extended to bread and other necessaries of life they become distressing and ruinous to the industrious poor, and most heinous criminal."

"In order, therefore, to prevent as much as possible the inhabitants of this State from unwarily falling into such dangerous and illegal practices, we do hereby know that we have caused prosecution to be commenced against some persons charged with the above offense."

The destiny of this world seems to be in the balances in our day with wicked men ruthlessly trying to destroy that which is good and upright. We are deeply concerned in our hearts that the right should triumph and that a just and righteous peace should come.

In such a day it is good to remind ourselves, as we will in our three-month series of studies in Genesis, that man did not make this world, nor is it the product of natural forces. God made it.

God, who is eternal, infinite, and knows all from the beginning, is not moved by the impulses of the moment nor staggered by the catastrophes of a day.

He had a plan for them, and still has a plan which will in due season work out for His own glory.

I. God Made Heaven and Earth (vv. 1-5, 10:12, 16:13).

The biblical account of creation—"In the beginning God"—stands as a dignified, satisfactory, intelligent explanation of the origin of things, and in bold contrast to the confusing and almost unbelievable theories of men.

The best of scientists admit that they know nothing of the origin of things, and some say that they never will know. The answer to this query, with which every human philosophy opens, is the affirmation with which the divine account in Genesis opens—"In the beginning God."

Space forbids full discussion of the account of creation, but a study of it will reveal its beautiful order, symmetry, and completeness.

Compare that orderly account with the absurdities of the ancient human cosmogonies, and you have a new regard for Scripture.

II. God Made Man in His Own Image (vv. 26, 27).

Although man has often so debased himself by sin and disobedience to God that it seems almost unbelievable, it is nevertheless true that he was made in the likeness and image of God. Because that is true, we never give up hope for him. Because of that image, no matter how deeply defaced by sin, man still may be touched by redeeming grace and restored to fellowship with God.

The likeness and image of God in man refers to a moral and spiritual likeness. Man is a living soul with intelligence, feeling and will. He is a moral being, knowing the difference between right and wrong. He is a self-conscious, personal being.

To man God gave dominion over the earth and all its potential powers. Sometimes one has been hopeful that man was making good progress in the development of the earth's resources for his own good and the glory of God. But one is sad to see how he has used this great God-given opportunity for destruction and death. Only a revival of real Christianity can bring him back to his senses. Let us pray and work for it.

Observe that the family was established as the center of man's life on earth, as God gave him a "help meet unto him." Woman was taken "out of man's side" so that she should rule over him; nor was his feet to be trampled upon; but out of his side to be equal with him, under his arm to be protected by him, and near his heart to be loved by him (Matthew 19:5).

The decay of family life and the modern substitution of social and civic units as the basis of life have led to disastrous results, one of which is juvenile delinquency. Not only do we need a revival of religion, we also need a revival of the home life of the nation.

III. God Made All Things Well (v. 31).

When men do recognize the hand of God in creation, they often seem to feel that what He made was rather limited and defective. It would almost seem that God should be clever about perfecting His work, developing it and making it useful.

As a matter of fact, God, who had all knowledge and whose standards are higher than man's standards could possibly be, looked over His creation and "behold, it was very good" (v. 31). It was a "finished" job (2:1).

Man has destroyed much of creation's beauty. Sin came in and marred it. What man's inventive cleverness has developed of the possibilities of this world is only a minute fraction of what is yet available. Instead of boasting, man might well be distressed at the pathetic slowness with which he has "thought God's thoughts after Him."

Instead of fighting and destroying, he ought to give his energies to building, developing, and above all, to loving God with all his heart and his neighbor as himself (Matt. 22:37-40).

Mrs. Karin Offutt Purchases Home To Avert Her Eviction

Purchase Was Ratified By The Court On Tuesday; Property Sold For $16,000

Mrs. Karin Offutt, Second street, widow of the late D. F. Offutt, former bank president and considered one of the wealthiest men in Western Maryland, averted eviction from the Offutt mansion by purchasing the property from the trustees of the estate last Thursday.

Mrs. Offutt signed an agreement last August 24 with the trustees of her husband's estate, agreeing to vacate the dwelling within six months. The agreement last August also gave Mrs. Offutt $12,500, an additional $5,000 for her living expenses of the past year, plus $1,200 for expenses for her son, Daniel E. Offutt III. These amounts, totaling $18,700, were paid by the estate through her attorneys, and following the agreement, monthly payments amounting to $516.66 ($416.66 for herself and $100 for her son) have been paid by the trustees for ten months.

The widow was notified by the trustees on January 20, according to the court records, that they desired the house by February 25, but she did not answer the request. She was then ordered by the court to move by June 20. As she was still occupying the house on Thursday morning, June 21, Sheriff George E. Golding arrived with an order of the court and a moving van, to move her furniture and personal possessions to a storage building.

When a few items had been moved Mrs. Offutt asked to see the trustees, which resulted in the purchase of the house. The purchase was ratified by the Court on Tuesday. Cash in the amount of $6,000 was paid and a mortgage given for $10,000.

In recent weeks, Mrs. Offutt, who was a school teacher when she married the elderly banker in 1928, has been working as a waitress in Oakland, both at the William-James hotel and Coffey's Coffee Shop.

War Veterans Will Receive Much Help

representatives of each federal agency and veterans' organization, together with the various resources of the community interested in the future of the returned servicemen and women, are actively functioning.

The local veterans' service committee includes Milburn W. Mann, of the U. S. Employment Service, chairman; Walter W. Dawson, for the Selective Service system; and William A. Burns, of Cumberland, for the veterans' administration.

Participating agencies include the following: Maryland Veterans' Advisory committee, Irvin R. Rudy, Franklin E. Rathbun, Grover C. Stemple, Bernard I. Gonder and Albert Shaffer, with Mr. Gonder, chairman.

Others are Mrs. E. Z. Tower, representing the American Red Cross; F. E. Rathbun, superintendent of schools, representing the Board of Education; Mrs. Mary K. Browning, representing the Business and Professional Women's club; Harold H. Harned, representing the Lions club; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, representing the Rotary club; Francis J. Connolly, representing the Welfare board; and John H. Carter, county agent.

When a veteran notifies Selective Service that he does not want his old job or did not have one when entering service and does not have the promise of a new one in business or industry, he is referred to the USES.

When a veteran is desirous of taking training or returning to school or college, his application is prepared for him, and all arrangements for his enrollment are completed in the Veterans' Administration Office in Baltimore.

In addition to these activities, there has been set up a Veterans' Employment service to assist veterans to obtain suitable employment through the United States Employment Service, War Manpower Commission, of which the Veterans' Employment Service is an integral part.

Under War Manpower Commission's rules, veterans now have the following privileges in relation to employment: they may be registered by the USES in the job applicant files provided especially for veterans; they are not required to obtain or present statements of availability in order to change jobs; they may be hired by any employer without referral to USES; they are entitled to referral as a matter of right to any job of their choice without regard to essentiality; and they are not counted by employers as against their ceilings of male workers.

Although WMC has relaxed all job controls over World War II veterans, that action does not lessen the responsibility of USES in assisting veterans in employment adjustment. Milburn W. Mann is the Veterans Employment

Coca-Cola Supply To Be Affected

The supply of Coca-Cola in Oakland definitely will be affected by the further curtailment in the supply of sugar after July 1st because the manufacturer will not compromise with the use of substitutes.

However, an equitable system of rationing will be maintained in Oakland during the shortage, according to John Bell, Manager of the Oakland Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc.

The O.P.A. announced that the allotment of sugar to industrial users would be cut to 50 percent of the sugar used in the Third Quarter of 1941, effective July 1st.

"I am informed that this sugar shortage is world-wide and not merely national and is directly attributed to the confusion in the production and distribution of sugar occasioned by the war," said Mr. Bell.

"Sugar is absolutely necessary in the manufacture of Coca-Cola. We cannot and will not compromise with the integrity of Coca-Cola. The quality of Coca-Cola will remain unchanged."

"My Company is committed to play fair with our Government; to maintain the quality of our drink and to maintain an equitable distribution system."

"We still have a war to win and that comes first, but we will attempt still to get you all of the Coca-Cola that is possible and what we have will be available to all. I only ask you that if your dealer does not have Coca-Cola available on the day you seek it, ask him another day because we will keep our distribution up on a regular basis although the supply will be curtailed. At the present no curtailment in the advertising program is anticipated."

HORSES AND CATTLE ARE SHIPPED TO GREEK FARMS

Hippie Cargo Sails From Baltimore With United Brethren Crew of Cattlemen

Loaded with 704 head of breeding cattle and horses for Greek farms—the first such shipment from this country under authority of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, the freighter S. S. Virginian was prepared for sailing from the port of Baltimore on Monday.

A veterinarian and a special crew of 28 members of the Church of the Brethren were aboard to care for the 345 brown Swiss heifers, 12 bulls and 357 light draft horses. The animals will be used in agricultural rehabilitation.

The Church of the Brethren representatives, all expert in the care of livestock, volunteered for the job and will be given expenses and a token payment of one cent per month.

Among the representatives of the church on board the vessel are Gilmer Fike, Ellis Harsh and Donnie Ford, all of the Egton (W. Va.) community.

UNRRA officials said other shipments would be made in the next 18 months to such countries as Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Some 50,000 head of livestock eventually will be transported to the devastated countries from this and others of the United Nations, they said.

Must Have Production . . .

One thing is certain in these days of uncertainty. If American power of productivity is allowed to function under the free competitive enterprise system, there will be plenty of jobs and good jobs.

Association of Manufacturers lists "prosperity factors" at hand as follows: the greatest supply of skilled labor in history; the greatest productive machine the world has ever seen, expanded for victory and a peacetime future; the forces to put both that machine and the men to man it, in action, with the greatest pent-up demand for civilian goods ever created; the money with which to buy.

Authorities estimate pent-up purchasing power and savings from 80 to 125 billions of dollars, but if production is hampered jobs will be automatically cut, dollars will lose value as people bid for scarce articles and inflation will be disastrous. If production is hurt we shall not be able to return our fighting men to their rightful productive niche within our economy.

Taxes will go higher if individuals and communities persist in asking public hand-outs, subsidies or financial guarantees from government instead of being self-supporting. Neither Congress nor the government has a dime to employ anybody until it first takes it away from the people in taxes. Only as men and women rustle their own jobs, unhampered, will they remain independent, and will this country remain free and abiding in the practices of a democracy.

TEACHERS STUDY CHANGES IN NEW SCHOOL SET-UP

County Administrative Officials

And Teachers Taking Part In Discussions At Towson

A sweeping examination of the State school system was begun Monday as nearly 200 teachers and school officials opened a two-week conference at Towson State Teachers College, Baltimore.

Administrative officials and teachers from Garrett county are participating in the conference, having left Oakland Sunday afternoon. They included F. E. Rathbun, county superintendent of schools; Miss Kate Banatyne, supervising teacher; Frank J. Getty, principal of Grantsville schools; B. O. Aiken, principal of Accident schools; Merle D. Frantz, principal of Oakland elementary school; and Miss Gladys Hamill, teacher in the Kitzmiller elementary school.

The principal purpose of the conference, according to Mr. Rathbun, is to work out plans for inaugurating into public schools of the state the school legislation set up by the recent legislature. This calls for an extended school of from 11 to 12 years in all and likely will take the form of six junior high school and three years of senior high.

The average number of pupils per teacher is to be changed from 30 to 35, he said. The study of these changes will be combined with the most recent national programs in education under the leadership of outstanding educators, including curriculum revisions and methods of instruction and also the best plans to be followed in using modern text books.

The meeting is being held under the direction of Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, and the State department of education of Maryland. Dr. Pullen emphasized in an address that the conference was intended to "stimulate local thinking and action at a county level" instead of forcing changes on county school officials. "This is a good time for us all to examine our curricula very carefully. We must not ask merely how to make the transition from eleven to twelve years or how to carry on from the sixth to the seventh grade. We must study carefully the value of all our teaching of the child from the first grade to the last, making changes where they are desirable."

Council Conducts Routine Business

Only routine business was conducted at the regular meeting of the Mayor and City Council on Monday evening. Various reports were read and approved. Receipts for the past month amounted to $2,890.00 including $113 from water, $821.40 from taxes, $182.19 from auto tax; $329.58 from bank stock tax, and $1,425 from the West Maryland Power company.

Disbursements included $1,000 for an electric bond which was due plus $550 for coupons, and regular bills, totaling $2,590.

Arthur Lawton, clerk-collector, reported all bills paid to date and a small balance of slightly over $150 remaining in the treasury.

Mr. Lawton pointed out particularly the greatly reduced revenue from auto tax which formerly amounted to $400 to $500. All automobiles having several years of age, are assessed mostly at the minimum.

Theatre tax for the month amounted to $69.65.

Farm Real Estate Values Increase More Than 50 Per Cent

Specialist Informs Carter Level Is Getting Higher Monthly

Farm real estate values in Maryland have increased 52 per cent since the prewar years 1935-1939, Dr. S. H. DeVault, head of the department of agricultural economics and marketing at the University of Maryland, has informed John H. Carter, county farm agent.

The present level of farm real estate values in the state is thirteen per cent below the peak reached in the First World War, but they are increasing by about one per cent per month, with about one more year or so to go to be comparable with the same period in the First World War, DeVault said.

Forces tending to increase land values, he explained, are low interest rates from alternative investments, purchase of farms as a hedge against inflation, high farm commodity prices and accumulation of liquid funds at the disposal of farmers and others.

Need To Be Informed He added that prospective farm purchasers need to be well informed on land values, productivity of the land, soil types, production, usefulness and adequacy of farm buildings, and adaptable farm enterprises. They should avail themselves of a competent land appraisal service before buying, according to DeVault, who said both credit and appraisal value should be based upon normal yields and normal prices.

The University specialist warned that prospective farmers with little or no farm experience will generally be better off if they postpone the purchase of farms until they have acquired experience as farm tenants or laborers.

Postponement Best DeVault said that when land values have risen unduly, farmers ordinarily will be better off to postpone purchase of farms and use their accumulated savings to retire debts, purchase war bonds, improve the farm and plant and build up cash reserves.

He added that encouragement should be given to the transfer of farms to bona fide farmers rather than to land speculators.

Motorists Required To Get Use Stamp

Maryland motorists have been told by George Hofferbert, district collector of internal revenue, that they need not look for repeal of the federal auto use tax as a way out of purchasing the federal stamp without operation of a vehicle became illegal after July 1st.

Hofferbert said there was a "wide-spread impression" that the tax would be repealed but this "certainly was not so." In fact, even if a repeal is enacted, he added, it would not affect the tax for the fiscal year 1946.

Although no summary of sales to date has been compiled, anticipation of repeal has caused a considerable slowing down throughout the state, the collector reported, adding that he intended to enforce rigidly the tax as long as it remains.

Enforcement will proceed promptly, Hofferbert said, but through the first ten days of the month no legal action will be taken to penalize the motorists failing to purchase or post the stamps. After July 10, however, he continued, all delinquent motorists will be prosecuted in accordance with the law.

Penalties, he added, were not limited to violations by owners but applied also to those by any person using vehicles.

FATHER AND TWO SONS LOSE LIVES IN DEEP CREEK

Oscar Uphold and Two Sons, Corliss And Donald, Drown In Holiday Tragedy As Their Canoe Capsizes

Deep Creek Lake claimed three more lives by drowning yesterday afternoon, a father and two sons, when a canoe upset in the Cherry Creek inlet, dumping five persons into the water.

Oscar Uphold, aged 38, former Garrett county resident of the White Rock section, now residing at Freeport, W. Va., and his two sons, Corliss Edward, 16; and Donald Ray, 14, were the victims, and officials and lake residents were still searching for the body of the latter. Bodies of the father and one son were recovered soon after the accident, which occurred about 5 p. m.

Pfc. Paul Uphold, cousin of the family home on furlough, and Otis Sisler, of White Rock, the two other occupants of the canoe, managed to swim to shore, Uphold, who attempted to save other members of the party, was exhausted upon reaching the bank.

Mrs. Sisler and other members of the family and relatives, were on the shore, all having gone there for a picnic. An unidentified girl, who saw the accident, swam out to Sisler with an inner tube.

Grappling hooks were sent down from the Oakland Fire company which were added to the equipment located at Cabin Lodge. The bodies were recovered by "Rick" Dreyer and other volunteer workers.

An inquirer was sent from the Pennsylvania Electric company plant at Sines and Fred Gearhart, Walter Mummert and C. E. MacMurray worked for about an hour in an effort to resuscitate the son.

Investigation was made by Corporal Currie of the State Police, Dr. E. E. Sollars, acting deputy medical examiner, after viewing the bodies of the father and son, declared death was due to accident and that no further investigation would be made.

Search for the younger son continued until late last night and was resumed this morning.

There are five other children in the family, one girl and four boys. Oscar Uphold is survived by four brothers and two sisters. His parents, John and Effie Uphold, of White Rock, survive.

Strike Won't Affect Electricity Users In Garrett County

Some 165,000 home and 24,000 industrial users in western Pennsylvania and western Maryland are threatened with a shutoff of electric power tonight at midnight unless the regional war labor board acts on a request for a wage increase by Pennsylvania Electric company employees.

The Pennsylvania Electric company gets much of its current from the hydro-electric power house at Sines.

The 2,000 AFL-Brotherhood of Electric workers recently voted the strike unless the board acted on the union and company approved raise before noon, July 5.

An agent in Bradford, Pa., for one of the unions told newsmen that the wage raise asked would equalize pay rates throughout the company at $1.18 1/2 an hour.

The threatened strike, cutting off power to users in 16 Pennsylvania counties would affect the war emergency "big inch" and "little inch" oil pipe lines, coal mines, some railroads, steel mills and a number of newspaper publishing plants.

It will not affect users in this county except a few residing in company houses at Sines. The company formerly served the Friendsville and Deep Creek Lake area but these points are now served by the Potomac Edison company. The West Maryland Power company serves a good portion of the southern end of the county including part of Deep Creek Lake.

County Mentioned In National Geographic

Garrett county received mention in the July issue of the National Geographic Magazine in connection with an illustrated article by Albert A. Atwood, on "Potomac River of Destiny." There appears in the article a picture of a speedboat churning the waters of Deep Creek Lake. Its relation to the Potomac River was the fact, as quoted in the magazine, "although only seven miles from the Potomac river, the man-made lake near Oakland, 2,462 feet above the sea, drains into the Ohio River system. Backbone mountain separates the two watersheds. This comparatively undeveloped vacation land on Maryland's roof is twice as far from Baltimore as from Pittsburgh."

The picture of the lake was from a collection taken by A. Aubrey Bodine, Baltimore Sun photographer, who was here several years ago.

Deep Creek Lake Fishermen Are Lucky

During the first two days of the fishing season in Deep Creek Lake five anglers reported good catches, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

James Loftus, LeVale, caught the largest bass, one that tipped the scales at five pounds, two ounces, and John Riggelman, of Kitzmiller, hooked four bass weighing from two to four pounds. Robert Corliss, son of the lake's power plant engineer, caught a bass 17 3/4 inches long that weighed about three pounds.

Bob Compton, Oakland, hooked an 18-inch bass weighing 3 1/2 pounds; Victor Hoffman, McHenry, caught an eighteen inch bass weighing 3 1/2 lbs., while Samuel Heath, Bollnara, Pa. caught his limit of crappie when he hooked 10 of them measuring from 8 to 12 inches.

Minke also reported five persons were arrested for violating fishing regulations of Deep Creek Lake during the first two days. They all received hearings before Magistrate H. A. Lorditch in Oakland.

Minke and Warden Francis H. Ruge patrolled the lake Sunday and Monday.

Mt. Lake Citizens Must Use "Write-in" to Name Mayor

Through a series of circumstances brought about by the election laws of Mt. Lake Park, the citizens will be compelled to write in the name of their choice for mayor at the annual election on Tuesday, July 10. Polls will be open from 1 to 7 o'clock p. m.

E. L. Germain filed for mayor before the deadline on Saturday but the city attorney, Neil C. Fraley, has ruled that in order to be eligible for office in the town a person must be a bona fide property owner and have been a resident of the town for a period of six months. This makes Germain ineligible, it was stated. H. L. Bittner, retiring mayor, did not file for reelection.

Under the same eligibility restrictions, J. Patrick Beacom and H. O. Teagarden, who filed for members of council, are not qualified to run and according to a ruling from the attorney, their names will not appear on the ballot.

Official candidates for council are Fred Beachy, Alfred Calhoun, Timothy Moon, J. D. Murray and Dewes Wood, and three are to be elected from this number.

Although Mayor Bittner has made no statement, citizens of the Park are of the opinion that since this unusual situation has arisen, he would serve again if the people chose to write his name on the ballot. Whoever is written in must have an "X" marked after it in the proper space, in order to be counted.

County Tops Seventh Loan Quota But Still Is Low on "E" Bonds

Garrett county has successfully met its 7th war loan over-all quota of $275,000, and has topped that figure by more than $50,000, although still lagging in the sale of "E" bonds, it was announced this morning by H. C. Riggs, county chairman.

Last week the county still needed about $67,000 to top the quota and most of this was received during the past week from corporations, etc., only about $7,000 having been added through sale of "E" bonds to individuals.

The figures to date are as follows: E quota $175,000, sales $126,210; individual quota $225,000, sales $199,510; total quota $275,000, total sales $326,916.

Mr. Riggs received this morning a letter of congratulations from Charles S. Garland, from the state war finance committee, for the splendid work that Garrett county citizens are doing.

Woman Found Along 219 Tuesday Night

Was In Unconscious Condition; Being Held For Investigation

Authorities are still investigating the circumstances concerning the finding of a young woman in an unconscious condition along route 219, near Deep Creek Lake, on Tuesday night around midnight.

The woman was questioned Wednesday evening by Neil C. Fraley, State's Attorney, and gave her name as Beulah Crismond, of Washington, D. C. She declared she had been working in Florida and came to Garrett county a few days ago with several persons who were occupying a cabin along the lake.

She was discovered lying along the road by Dr. James Gilchrist, Pittsburgh physician, and Miss Barbara Smith, of Oakland, who were returning to the latter's home in Oakland at the time. They brought the woman to Miss Smith's home, and called Sheriff George E. Coddington, who took her into custody.

Juniper Teas, deputy sheriff, declared the girl was badly intoxicated at the time, had a black eye and other bruises which may have been the result of her falling against the pavement. She told Fraley she had no recollection as to what had happened prior to the time she was found.

She is being held on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, pending further investigation.

Inspection Is Made Of Mine At Vindex

Accident Record Considered Better Than The Average

That the accident record of Earl No. 2 mine of the Garrett Coal Corporation at Vindex, Garrett county, was better than the average, was announced following a Federal inspection recently, was vouched for by Dr. R. R. Sayers, director of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

There are 63 men employed at the mine which has a daily production of 375 tons. The mine was inspected by Arthur Metcalf.

Although the mine's accident record was better than average, Inspector Metcalf suggested the removal or support of unsafe roof brows, unobstructed clearance and more shelter holes, ban on risky haulage practices, use of goggles by all workmen exposed to flying particles and a safety organization.

Further safety measures recommended were for improvements in the ventilating system, some safer blasting practices, prohibition of underground smoking and adequate fire-fighting equipment in the mine. Recent safety improvements included some safeguards for the surface track, use of permissible trip lights, frequent roof tests by miners and formen, axe lengths meet the standard and six employees trained in mine rescue work.

Deep Creek Wanted As Way Station For Wild Ducks and Geese

An effort of Senator Bernard I. Gonder in the past few years to arouse interest in providing excellent duck hunting on Deep Creek Lake, is being realized at this time with a thorough investigation of such possibilities scheduled for today and tomorrow by E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden.

Mr. LeCompte has informed Senator Gonder that he had arranged with Dr. Alex Martin, of the Patuxent Research Refuge, to make an investigation of Deep Creek Lake on July 5 and 6. He is being assisted by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, and Elmer Haulenbeck, deputy.

Mr. Gonder said he had been in contact with Mr. LeCompte for some time in an effort to have such a survey made of the lake area, particularly the upper reaches of the lake, on Pond Run, Green Glade and North Glade extensive flats, for the purpose of providing suitable food for wild fowl, such as wild rice, corn and other aquatic food plants, which would attract the geese and duck on their way north and south to stop over on the lake, thereby providing a good hunting area.

Mr. Gonder said Mr. LeCompte had shown a fine interest in the possibilities, culminating in the investigation scheduled for this week.

Some geese and duck stop at the lake every year, but officials are of the opinion that if there was plenty of food, they would remain here for a much longer period.

Our First Property Assessment Roll

Reprinted from The Glades Star, Issue of June 30th, 1945.

Allegany County was excised from the western part of Washington in 1793 but the first assessment roll on file of the new county is for the year 1798. What later became Garrett County then included Glades and Sandy Creek Hundreds (Districts) and parts of adjoining hundreds.

In 1798 the Federal Constitution became effective under President Washington and the present currency was adopted but our 1798 assessment was made in Maryland money. The exchange value in that year was as follows:

1 Maryland Pound, $2.67; 1 Shilling, $.12; 1 Pence, $.01.

Assessed value of land varied according to soil, location, etc. L. M. Deakin's "Hope" was valued at about $.25 per acre; Ashby's "Piney Bottom" farm at $1.50; Grant's "Cornucopia" at $1.00.

Much of the real estate was already in the hands of non-resident land speculators. Gen. John Swan owned 35,000 acres. Gov. Thomas Johnson had 44 military lots, etc., 25,000 acres. In the list below those assessed with real estate only were evidently non-residents.

Personal property included Negro slaves, horses and "black" cattle, valued on the average about as follows: slaves, $80; horses, $35; cattle, $8. But John Israel had a slave assessed at $120. John Rutan's horse was valued at $83.40. Jacob Vanmeter was the "cattle king" of the mountains; he had 79 head assessed at about $16 per head.

The Grant family was apparently the wealthiest in the district. Daniel Grant's land was valuable and Elizabeth Grant was assessed with six slaves and other personal property. Jesse Tomlinson at the Little Meadows and Alexander Smith on the Potomac were wealthy men in those days. Most of the settlers of 1798 would be classed as poor men today. John Friend, Sr., the first settler, claimed only one horse and seven cattle, but he was assessed with 300 acres of land valued at $90. A few Maryland families owned "silver plate" assessed according to weight; Elizabeth Grant was listed with 36 ounces, valuation $12. The other "plate" aristocrats were Basil Israel, John Simkins, Alex. Smith, Thomas Stewart, Jesse Tomlinson, John Thistle and Thomas Pritchard. There were also slave owning aristocrats as listed below.

In 1791 the valuation of taxable property in all of Allegany county was $78,478. In that year the tax rate was seven shillings three pence per $100 or about $.36 per $100. Property appears to have been valued for taxation much below its real value. For example, in 1797 Jacob Markley paid $400 for the Hall farm but the following year it was assessed at only $50. Taxes were low, but there were few roads, no public schools, no health officers or nurses.

The following list of taxpayers of 1798 includes about half of those on the roll of our district—those more closely connected with the history of Garrett County:

G.I. Loan Provides Vets With Three Types of Security

Money for a G. I. loan is supplied by local financial institutions and not by the government and the loan guaranty plan under the G. I. Bill provides assistance to veterans and embraces three types of security, namely homes, farms and farm equipment and business, according to a statement issued by W. L. Limburg, manager of the Baltimore regional office of the Veterans Administration.

Purpose of Program

Limburg explains that the sole purpose of the program is to give cost protection and financial assistance to returning veterans during their period of rehabilitation.

Under the terms of the act, the government will guarantee fifty percent of a loan, but such guarantee shall not exceed $2,000, the loan to be made by a financial institution of the veteran's own choice, upon types of enterprise and security defined in the regulations as eligible.

It is necessary that certain requirements be satisfied, such as, reasonableness of purchase price, that the terms of payment are consistent with the veteran's income and probability of steady employment, favorable credit report, and in the case of a farm or business purchase, a showing must be made covering the veteran's experience in the particular field.

Further information is available from Milburn W. Mann, U. S. Employment service, and chairman of the county veterans' service committee, Third street.

Draft Boards Asked To Tighten Up on Deferred Young Men

Henry C. Stanwood, state selective service director, announced that Maryland draft boards would begin immediately to tighten up on deferment renewals for men under thirty.

Stanwood said the revised directive was designed to enable the armed forces to obtain young men as replacements for battle casualties and men released under the point system. Deferred men, he said, would not come up for reclassification until their present deferments expired.

Approximately 6,000 Marylanders between the ages of 18 and 29, hold deferred ratings.

Meantime, selective service headquarters said at Washington that the sixteen government agencies which certify men under thirty had agreed to withdraw "specific numbers" of their total certificates, but would not estimate the number to be withdrawn, explaining the figure "will depend upon the requirements of the activities within the jurisdiction of each agency for the prosecution of the war against Japan."

Other manpower sources estimated that at least seventeen percent of the 350,000 key men under thirty now occupationally deferred may lose their deferments, and that the figure may go as high as twenty-five percent.

SUGAR

More than ever before, the homemaker wonders, "How am I going to feed my family on the sugar I get?" Perhaps it will help to check again on some sugar saving practices which have proven to be satisfactory:

1. In summer especially serve fresh fruits liberally in place of heavy desserts that call for sugar. A fruit salad topped by a dressing mixed with fruit juice does double duty as a refreshing salad and dessert.
2. A bit of salt sprinkled on grapefruit and fresh fruit salads brings out the flavor of the fruit and kills the need of sugar.
3. Save syrup from canned fruit to sweeten other fruit, sauces or beverages.

4. Be sure all sugar is completely dissolved to get its full sweetness. A sugar syrup goes farther than plain sugar in sweetening lead tea or fruit punch. To prepare sugar syrup, heat equal parts sugar and water until the sugar is completely dissolved. Keep left-over syrup tightly covered in the refrigerator. Corn syrup may also be used to sweeten summer drinks. Try some food beverages without sugar.

5. Cook cereals with rumex, raisins or dates and serve without sugar.

6. Use fewer or no frostings on cakes. Don't frost the sides.

7. Serve sweet yeast breads, such as cinnamon rolls and sweet quick breads, occasionally, instead of more sugar-consuming cakes and pies.

8. Make desserts that use honey, molasses, sorghum, corn or other syrups when these are available.

9. Stretch sugar in baked goods with honey, molasses, corn or other syrups. Honey may replace sugar cup for cup, but use half the quantity of other liquid called for in original recipe—and keep baking temperature moderate. Corn, cane or maple syrups can replace sugar measure for measure. Reduce liquid by one-third.

MAN'S FAULTS AND GOD'S PROMISES

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 6:5-7; 8:1, 4, 13, 20-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease.—Genesis 8:22.

The beginnings of all things in the book of Genesis include, we are sorry to note, the beginning of sin in the fall of Adam. Soon we read of the first murder, Cain slaying his godly brother, Abel, because his acceptance with God exposed the wrong heart-attitude of Cain.

The gothic line was renewed in Seth, but before long sin again lifted its ugly head. Now the wickedness of man had become so widespread that God was driven to a drastic judgment.

I. Judgment for the Wicked (6:5-7).

The Lord sees the wickedness of men—let us not forget that! At times it seems as though the ungodly flourish in their sin and that there is no judgment upon them.

God knows what goes on in the world. He is long-suffering and merciful, but there is a boundary line to His patience, and when that limit is reached, there can be nothing but judgment.

Ever imagination of the thoughts of man's heart was evil continually (v. 5). One is reminded of Jeremiah 17:9, and of such a contemporary estimate of man as that of Dr. Mackay, who said: "Psychology has unveiled the dismal and sinister depths in human nature. Man can no longer flee from reality into the romantic refuge of his own heart; for the human heart has become a house of horrors in whose murky recesses man cannot erect for his solace either a shrine or a citadel. Man is bad; he is a sinner."

God did not change His mind (v. 6), but man by his sin moved himself out of the circle of God's love over into the circle of His judgment. God never changes, but we change our relation to Him by our actions. Such is the evident meaning of this verse.

II. Deliverance for the Upright (8:1, 4, 13).

God remembered Noah, and he "found grace in the eyes of the Lord" (Gen. 7:16), because he was a "just man" (6:9). At the Lord's command, he prepared the ark for the saving of himself and his house, and after the Lord had "shut him in" (Gen. 7:16), the great judgment by water came upon the earth.

After 150 days (Gen. 7:24), the Lord remembered Noah (8:1) and caused the earth to dry up once again. The same Lord who shut him in to keep him during the flood brought him out after the flood (8:15, 16), gave him great power (9:1-4), assured him of His protection (9:3-4), and gave him the great promise (9:8-10) of which the rainbow became the token.

The God who will in no wise forget the sin of the wicked will never leave nor forsake those who walk uprightly before Him. The story of Noah should stimulate our faith, causing us to obey and trust God. His protecting hand is over His children, and He can bring them through the darkest days of tribulation.

III. Mercy in the Midst of Sin (6:20-22).

"Noah built an altar," for the first impulse of his heart was to give praise to God for His mighty deliverance. His offering came up to God as "a sweet savor," that is, it was pleasing to God.

To come before God with acceptable worship, man must come with clean hands. The question is not whether he is brilliant, learned, or of high position. The one thing that counts is obedience. When such a man offers the worship of his heart before God, it goes up to him like a sweet savor.

God knew man's heart (v. 21). He had no illusions that even the judgment of the flood would change it. Eagerly His love sought man's obedient response, but He well knew that the awful pestilence of sin would continue until the very end of the age.

So in spite of that sin, and in the very midst of it, God promised that He would never again wipe out humanity as He did in the flood. There would be individual judgment and collective judgment on certain groups, but never again the smiting of every living thing. Thus, He set men free from the terror which must have been in their hearts.

The beautiful rainbow in the cloud became a token of God's promise, and the visible assurance to "all flesh" that the judgment of the flood would not be repeated. Never again would seed time and harvest, nor any of the orderly processes of nature, fail throughout the whole earth.

What a gracious God we have! And what a city that men presume upon His goodness.

Gen. John Swan
Garrett Co. Landowner
Gov. Thomas Johnson

Village of Swanton
Noble Ancestry
Local Connections

By THE LATE FRANK LEE CARL
Staff Writer on The Cumberland Sunday Times

SWAN CAME FROM NOBLE LINEAGE IN BRITAIN

General John Swan was the largest speculator in the lands of what is now known as Garrett county, Maryland.

In the assessment of this part of Allegany (now Garrett) county in 1798, Swan was assessed with over 35,000 acres, and later he owned as much as 50,000 acres.

The name Swan is of ancient Danish extraction. Swan—of noble ancestry—settled in southeast Britain. The Swans possessed landed property in Kent and Derby from the period of the Norman Conquest. Branches of the family scattered through England, Ireland and Scotland, and it is from the Scotch line that the Swans of Maryland are descended.

John Swan was baptized in Thorwald Parish, November 27, 1750, and was only a lad of sixteen years when he landed in the New World. In the Bible carried by him through the Revolutionary War he wrote:

"John Swan's book. Arrived at Annapolis, in Maryland, from Scotland, on 30th August, 1766."

He was the eldest son of John Swan of Cockfield, hence the name "Cockfield" which John, Jr., gave to one of his first land tracts; another he called "Dumfries," for his Scottish town.

Young John Swan came to America as the heir of his uncle, Robert Swan, who died, unmarried, in Annapolis, May 4, 1764. John soon removed to Frederick county and later to Baltimore, where he resided until his death on August 21, 1824. The remains of John Swan, his wife and son James are interred in a vault in Westminster Presbyterian church in Baltimore.

Like most Scottish-Americans of 1776, John Swan was a Revolutionist. In 1777 he became captain of the Third Continental Dragoons, recruited in Fredericksburg, Virginia, and in 1780 he was promoted to major in the First Dragoons. He served with gallantry until the close of the war, when he was made General of the Maryland Militia.

Washington and Lafayette were his personal friends.

General Swan owned enormous tracts of land in Maryland and in Virginia, including 6,166 acres awarded him by Virginia for his Revolutionary services. In 1774, when Lord Baltimore opened his lands "westward of Fort Cumberland" for settlement, John Swan was one of the speculators who surveyed and patented extensive tracts in what is now Garrett county. Later the State of Maryland patented to him large tracts, among them being "Swan's Meadows," at Gortner, (1778); "Potomac Manor," 10,719 acres (1800); "Yough Manor," 8,613 acres (1799); "Walnut Hills," at Avilion (1798) acres, (1800) "Strawberry Plains," near Swallow Falls, 7,380 acres (1800).

BOUGHT 50 ACRES IN GARRETT COUNTY FOR $8.00

When the Military Lots were allotted to soldiers of the Maryland Line in 1788 none of them went to live on their lots. General Swan bought many of these lots from veterans, such as Patrick Doreen, of Baltimore county, "late sergeant," who, in 1798, deeded his lot of 50 acres to John Swan for three pounds sterling or eight dollars. The General also bought tracts and lots from lesser speculators, such as the purchase from David Lynn, of twenty-one Military Lots for $600. These lots included Muddy Creek Falls and valuable farm land near Gortner.

As this county became settled, the Swans leased or sold small tracts to settlers. William Chisholm, Jr., a fellow Scot, was their agent in the Yough Glades, and William Sharpless looked after the lands across the Great Backbone Mountain.

John Swan married July 12, 1787. His wife, Elizabeth, was the daughter of George Maxwell, and they were the parents of four sons: Robert, John, George M. and James. John and Robert Swan resided for a time on the family lands in Garrett county.

John Swan, Jr., lived with his family and a few slaves in a good log house on "John's Prospect," 992 acres, which included the site of the town of Gortner. Swan's house was on the high ground west of the Gortner Mill. The house was destroyed by fire many years ago. It is said that Mr. Swan's father-in-law was buried near the house in a grave now unmarked.

In his later years John Swan and his family in summer, resided in Oakland. When past seventy years of age, Mr. Swan once remarked to his neighbor, Mr. Thayer, "Sir, I have spent three fortunes but never earned a dollar."

OWNED MILL ON SITE OF TOWN OF SWANTON

Robert Swan resided on the "Swan's Meadows" tract southeast of Gortner. This homestead later became the residence of General Benjamin F. Kelley, where he died about the year 1891.

George M. Swan resided in the George's Creek Valley in Allegany county, while James Swan, the youngest son, remained in Baltimore. He was president of the Merchants Bank there and one of the first directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. His wife was Elizabeth Donnell.

In Garrett County, near the top of the Seventeen Mile Grade (B. & O. R. R.) we have the town of Swanton, which is said to take its name from Swan's Mill, located on the same site where the old State road crossed Crab Tree Run. On a map of this part of Western Maryland drawn in 1823 and published in the report of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal commission, which was planning a canal across the mountains passing through this point, "Swan's Mill," a grist mill, is shown on the present site of Swanton. The Swan family owned land in this neighborhood. It is not known whether they owned the mill prior to 1823, but it is presumed the name "Swanton" (Swan Town) came from General Swan.

FIRST MD. GOVERNOR OWNED GARRETT LANDS

Thomas Johnson, first Governor of Maryland, when the Maryland colonists became free of the British yoke, is of interest to us, not only because of his extensive land holdings in Garrett county, but also because of his long and valuable services to the state during and after the Revolutionary War.

The Johnson ancestry traces to James Johnson, one of the two bailiffs of Yarmouth, England, in the years 1590. His son Thomas Johnson I, in 1625, was a member of the famous "Short Parliament" of England.

Thomas Johnson II was a captain in the Parliamentary Army during the rebellion against King Charles I, but after the execution of the King, Captain Johnson went over to the Royalists.

Thomas Johnson III married Mary Baker, then a ward in chancery, with out the consent of the Lord High Chancellor.

"Inasmuch as abduction and marrying of maids in chancery constituted a high misdemeanor, punishable by heavy fine and imprisonment as a contempt of Court, Johnson decided to flee with his bride from England."

They came to Maryland in 1690 and settled in Calvert county. In Maryland, Johnson soon became involved in colonial politics, espousing the cause of King James against William of Orange. He was arrested, brought before the Colonial Council and required to give bail. He appears to have broken bail and to have fled to the Indians, with whom he lived and traded for some years. Finally Johnson sailed for England with a cargo of furs, but the vessel was captured by Spaniards and those on board were robbed and imprisoned.

Thomas Johnson finally escaped and landed in Canada in destitute condition. He walked all the way to Maryland, only to find his cabin burned by Indians, his wife dead from anxiety and grief. Wrecked by exposure and exhaustion, he, too, soon died.

Thomas Johnson IV, only son of the immigrant, was born in 1702, and was left an orphan at the age of twelve. He was cared for by friends and was well educated. At the age of twenty-three he married Dorothy Sedgwick, and son after were sent to the Colonial Assembly as a Delegate from Cecil county. He was re-elected from year to year until about the time of the birth of his distinguished son and namesake.

BORN IN SAME YEAR AS GEORGE WASHINGTON

Thomas Johnson V was born in Calvert county, November 4, 1732, the year his friend, George Washington, was born in nearby Virginia.

Thomas was the fifth of twelve children. At an early age he was sent to Annapolis and was given employment in Lord Baltimore's Land Office, where he developed his first interest in the lands of Western Maryland.

Soon he began the study of law and in due time was admitted to the bar.

At the age of twenty-nine Thomas Johnson V took his seat as a Delegate from Anne Arundel county in the Provincial Assembly, thus beginning a career, which, for length, versatility and importance of service—is unparalleled in the annals of the state.

To name a few of his services...

He was a leading revolutionist, and, as a member of Congress, nominated Colonel Washington for commander of the Revolutionary Army. In 1777, Colonel Johnson commanded the famous Maryland "Flying Camp," and in the same year he was chosen first Governor of his State, serving three years.

After the Revolutionary War, Governor Johnson made his home in Frederick county, where he continued active in private life. He was interested in the development of the navigation of the Potomac and in 1789 succeeded Washington as president of the Potomac Company.

MRS. JOHNSON WAS ANN JENNINGS OF ANNAPOLIS

Thomas Johnson married Ann Jennings, of Annapolis. They were the parents of seven children, two of whom—Thomas J. and Joshua—settled in what is still known as the Johnson District of Garrett county, (then part of Allegany county.)

When Lord Baltimore opened his lands "Westward of Fort Cumberland" in 1774, Thomas Johnson (later to become Governor), became one of the early speculators in these lands.

He surveyed and patented "Thomas and Ann," 2000 acres, so named for himself and wife, Ann Jennings. He also patented "The Promised Land," 1200 acres. These tracts are located northwest of Oakland or near the old McCullough Park Horse Path.

When General Washington passed this way in 1784, he wrote in his Journal: "Part of these glades is the property of Gov. Johnson, of Maryland, who settled two or three families of Palatines (Germans) upon them."

Johnson also surveyed and patented "Peace and Plenty," 1500 acres, near Deer Park.

A younger brother, Baker Johnson, at the same time (1774) surveyed "Covent Garden," 2400 acres, and "Mt. Pleasant," 1000 acres, in the southern end of the county, and "Kindness," 2072 acres, at Hutton. None of these lands were patented until after the War, in 1786.

Governor Johnson continued to acquire land in what is now Garrett county. In the roll of 1798 he was assessed with over 25,000 acres, and Baker Johnson was assessed with over 6000 acres. One of the big land deals in the early history of the county was the transfer in 1814, for $10,000, from a group of Philadelphia merchants to Thomas Johnson, of 14,800 acres, including "Spruce Spring," and 296 Military Lots—land in the northeast section of the county, the Johnson District. This large tract had been deeded to Thomas Johnson by the Philadelphia people in 1765. Robert Morris, who helped to finance the Revolution, was interested in this land deal.

The aged patriot finally slept away at Rose Hill Mansion in the 87th year of his age, on Tuesday morning, October 26, 1819. His remains now rest in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Frederick.

HOME SOLD OUT OF FAMILY IN PAST EIGHT YEARS

Joshua Johnson, son of the Governor, inherited from his father extensive tracts of land, and in 1836 he moved from Frederick county to what is known as the Johnson Farm on the National Road, in Johnson District. He borrowed $2,000 from his brother, Thomas J. Johnson, to build a house and began farming; but Joshua Johnson was "land poor" and failed to pay the debt, so about 1840 Thomas J. Johnson gave up his iron furnace in Frederick county and moved on the Johnson farm.

Thomas J. Johnson, Sr., owned a large hotel on the Johnson farm, located on the site of the present frame dwelling. The History of Allegany county states:

"Thomas Beall kept a tavern at the foot of Little Savage Mountain in 1830. He was succeeded by Thomas J. Johnson, who entertained his guests by playing a fiddle, and he had a negro man who danced to the music for their further delectation."

The Johnson property was well timbered with white pine, hemlock and other trees, and in 1853, when Joshua died, there were two sawmills on the estate which then contained 14,175 acres.

Joshua Johnson was a bachelor until late in life, and had no children. His property was inherited by his brother, Thomas J., who died at the farm in 1875.

Thomas J. Johnson, Jr., who was born in 1847, resided on the Johnson farm until 1936, when it was sold out of the family.

It was 100 degrees in Baltimore on June 30.

Timonocott the Spring, from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard, worried farmers searched the skies for signs of clear weather, but the cold rains fell relentlessly.

For more than a month the seed should have been germinating in the warm soil. Millions of acres lay unplanted because the ground was too wet for preparation of the seed bed and too cold for germination of the seed.

Only a generation ago there could have been but one outcome—crop shortage and food scarcity. Nature allows scant time for planting when the warm sun waits till late May or June before drying the soggy soil. Horses are too slow and tire too quickly to get the job done then.

But the farmers remember May of 1943—only two years ago—when their fast, untiring tractors averted crop failure. Then, too, rains flooded the fields and the month was all but spent before they could go in on the land and plant.

In 1943, most farmers drove their tractors from dark to dark, and longer. Many planted around the clock, working in two or three shifts. They made one of the greatest crops in history.

In today's war-torn world—with hunger and disease already stalking many peoples—even one major crop failure could bring famine. This is why the sound of tractors and planting machinery was heard, day and night, from the Plains states to the Eastern seaboard—why headlights stabbed the darkness over the fields.

America's farmers are doing it again, in spite of an unprecedented combination of adverse circumstances—bad weather, shortages of machines and shortages of manpower. For the second time in three years, they are relying upon their tractor-powered machines to help rescue large areas of the world from catastrophe. More of these tractors are products of International Harvester than of any other company.

EDUCATION IN POSTWAR GERMANY

By DR. STEPHEN DUGGAN, Director of the Institute of International Education

Germany deserves no leniency. The freedom loving peoples have determined to destroy root and branch that evil thing, Nazism, and along with it its fundamental teaching that only force counts, a teaching that has corrupted the younger generation and made necessary the complicated problem of their re-education. German armies must this time be defeated in the field and Germany must be occupied by Allied armies. These measures must be undertaken not as "punitive treatment" but in order that Germany must be prevented from bringing upon mankind for a third time the horror which it is now experiencing.

The object is not to destroy Germany, nor German unity, but the German will to dominate. With political stability, economic recovery and the new opportunity to learn the truth concerning the events of the past decade, a changed national conscience may evolve. That is the prerequisite to Germany's becoming a faithful member of the world organization which we hope will emerge from this awful holocaust.

German cultural and educational traditions especially the old German tradition of Lern und Lehrfreiheit were destroyed when the Nazis assumed control. The Allied leaders have sworn to destroy every vestige of Nazi control and to replace Nazi administrators with others of known or evidenced anti-Nazi attitude. This applies to professors in the universities and teachers in the schools. Nevertheless, it cannot be too strongly emphasized that re-education in Germany must be under the leadership of German anti-Nazi and not of enemy aliens. The role of the latter should be to provide sympathetic advice and assistance. It is not only con-

Room for Improvement . . .

THERE is room for much improvement in our interest in democratic government, one of those things for which our Army, Navy and Air Corps are fighting to preserve. While thousands of lives were lost in Europe over such ideals, and while thousands more are still being lost in the Pacific area, citizens at home exert little interest to exercise their rights under a democracy.

Since the founding of this country, men have been willing to fight for these rights. At home we take the course of least resistance and fail to uphold our responsibilities.

Two experiences right here are the reason for this airing. At Oakland's municipal election in March there was a total lack of interest in voting, with the result concentrated write-in votes almost elected several who before the day of election, were not known even to be interested in being council members.

At Mountain Lake Park on Tuesday it was necessary for voters to write-in their choice for Mayor because there was not enough previous interest to have a choice of candidates.

We have no particular right to find with those who were almost elected or those who were named. It is the lack of interest of persons in their own government that we deplore. Democracy is not at work if people do not take time to make it work.

Australia's law requiring people to vote might be a good idea here to make people conscious of their responsibilities. Sometimes sacrifice is necessary to get the best people in government but it would be well worth it. More people ought to be willing to serve their communities, their State and Nation.

F.S.A. Announces Farm Loan Program

The qualifications of applicants will be approved by the County FSA Committee of three experienced local farmers, William Winterberg, Grantsville; Owen Martin, Oakland; and Clark H. Schlossnagle, Friendsville.

The Bankhead-Jones Act appropriation for the new fiscal year which started July 1 contained an item of $25,000,000 earmarked for loans to veterans.

The County FSA Committee will study the veteran's application and also the farm which he proposes to buy with the loan.

Eclipse of Sun Seen Over Broad Area of Nation

A total eclipse of the sun on Monday morning gave astronomers and amateur watchers their best solar spectacle in thirteen years in a twenty-five mile wide path extending from Idaho through Montana and into Canada, Greenland, Norway, Sweden, Russia and Siberia.

Throughout most of the United States and much of the Northern Hemisphere a partial eclipse was visible. In Garrett county the eclipse was between 40 and 60 percent of total, and was viewed by many through darkened glasses or pieces of smoked window glass.

This total eclipse, first in the area since 1932 and the last until 1954, began in Idaho at sunrise, 7:59 a. m. EWT, as the moon crossed in front of the sun. The eclipse was the seventh since the turn of the century.

Visibility in Oakland was fairly good with some clouds in the sky. A drizzling rain at Cumberland prevented anyone from getting a clear view there.

The point of totality lasted for 30 seconds.

Victims of Drowning Have Triple Funeral

Oscar Uphold and Two Sons, Corliss and Donald, Who Were Drowned July 4, Buried At Blooming Rose

A triple funeral service was held Saturday afternoon for Oscar Uphold, 38, of Freeport, W. Va., former resident of the White Rock section of the county, and his two sons, Corliss Edward, 16, and Donald Ray, 14, who were drowned on Wednesday afternoon, July 4, when their canoe capsized in Cherry Creek inlet of Deep Creek lake and spilled them and two other persons into the water.

The bodies of the father and one son, Corliss, were recovered within an hour after the canoe overturned, but Donald's body was not recovered until about 5:15 p. m., the following day.

Pfc. Paul Uphold, cousin of the family, home on furlough and Otis Sisler, of White Rock, other occupants of the canoe, managed to reach the shore. The victims drowned in about forty feet of water and not far offshore, according to Corporal Thomas Currie of the State Police, who investigated.

The Uphold and Sisler families and relatives were picnicking along the shore of the lake at the time.

Members of the Deep Creek Lake Rescue squad headed by Fred C. Dreyer, were called to that area and assisted in recovering the bodies along with unidentified sailors on leave. The Oakland Fire department also sent grappling hooks and men to the scene. An inhalator was sent from the Pennsylvania Electric company plant at Sines with Fred Gearhart, Walter Mummert and C. E. MacMurray, who worked for about an hour over the sixteen-year-old boy.

Efforts to locate the body of the younger boy were continued until nightfall Wednesday and resumed again the following morning but it was not until 2:15 that the third victim's body was located by Victor Hoffman who was grappling for it from a motor boat.

Handicapped by Stumps Dreyer said the body was located about twenty feet from the spot where the father's body was recovered but that grappling had been made difficult by stumps and logs on the bottom of the lake.

Dr. E. E. Sollars, acting deputy county medical examiner, issued verdicts of accidental death in each case.

Mrs. Elliott pointed out that there are approximately 30,000 dressings size 2x2 inches, and 30,000 dressings size 4x4 inches, yet to be done by the local group before the quota here is complete. The more there are to help the sooner the project may be closed, she said.

Woodmen Practice True Democracy

In celebrating Independence Day this month, America voiced its praise of our fighting men for the Victory they have won in Europe and for their courage that assures final Victory in the Pacific.

Until that Victory is won, Woodmen will continue to buy War Bonds and generously support every war activity. Their Society now owns over 25 million dollars of War Bonds. Local Woodmen Camps and Woodmen individually have similarly invested many millions more in defense of Freedom and Democracy.

Nothing less is to be expected of Woodmen who practice Fraternalism, the highest form of Democracy. At every Camp meeting, they face the Flag and renew their pledge of allegiance. Woodmen's Fraternity in Action program also emphasizes sponsorship of many civic and patriotic activities as an obligation of citizenship.

This is the kind of Society to which you can be proud to belong. Ask the local Woodmen representative for full information about Woodmen insurance protection and the many other "protection plus" benefits you will enjoy as a member of the Woodmen Society.

Home

Dear Pastor:
I appreciate your letter and the literature that the church has sent me since I have been overseas.
I suppose you remember that I was not a very good church member before I left home, but things are different with me now. Don't jump at conclusions. This is not "fox-hole religion" that I have. I have really changed my attitude.
One night during a watch I tuned in on a whole new world, on God. Since then I have had new strength for temptations, new interest in religious matters. My Bible has become a new book to me. I'll tell you more about it when I get home.
In the meantime I wish you would try to do something for my family. Mother tells me that Dad has not been to church for months. Gives the excuse that he is working hard in a defense plant. Believe me, we are working hard too, but I would give anything in the world to have his chance to attend church. Don't forget my kid brother, too. I have the finest family in the world (I guess every boy thinks that!) but since I have been out here I have realized that if we had all gone to church more I would have been better prepared to serve my country.
Thanks for your prayers. The churches sure are standing by us fellows.
Sincerely yours,
Larry

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the Church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday.

Dr. Americus Enfield Was Of Heroic Mold
Brethren As Scrappers Defended Fort Bedford
Joseph Nevill, Engineer Worked on M-D Line

By THE LATE FRANK LEE CARL
Staff Writer on The Cumberland Sunday Times

MEMORY OF NOTED COUNTRY DOCTOR FLOATS IN

In the newspaper-printed memoirs of the late Dr. Americus Enfield of Bedford, Pa., once of Cumberland, are found many interesting narratives of a local thing. Dr. Enfield was a Union soldier, wounded at Gettysburg, and a leading Pennsylvania Democrat, who was as well known in Western Maryland as Southern Pennsylvania. If for nothing else he would be remembered for his commanding presence with dundrearys. Woodrow Wilson appointed him postmaster of Bedford.

His experience as a country doctor may be called rare. Dr. Enfield read medicine in the office of Dr. George B. Fundenburg, an ex-army surgeon in Cumberland.

After graduation from Bellevue Medical College, New York, he first located in Cumberland as assistant to his preceptor, Dr. Fundenburg, and later at Flintstone, Md., where an epidemic of typho-malarial fever prevailed. In 1850 he moved to Clearville, Bedford county, and built his first house and office and large store, later occupied by Grubb and Wemmer.

The following gleaned from his memoirs tell of unusual experiences as a country doctor:

"As to the citizens of Clearville and surrounding territory, they all embraced me with the greatest hospitality, with the kindest feelings and best wishes, and the years I spent there in general practice linger with their children and grandchildren to the present time. They not only showed their friendship to me as a physician, but when I was nominated for Sheriff that section of the country gave me an unusual majority, regardless of party. The Weimers, Fletchers, Laytons, Grubbs, Pennells, Stockmans and many others that I might name allways had a kind word of greeting when they met me, whether as physician or citizen. There being no physician south of Everett, my practice extended into East Providence, West Providence, Monroe, Southampton and Mann townships and many days and nights I traversed these sections, whether on horseback or buggy, and I have been called back many times to see some of my early patients, some very few of whom are still living. For their great kindness and general hospitality, no section of the country with which I have ever been identified exceeded their great and splendid hospitality.

93-DAYS' SLEIGHING WITHOUT INTERRUPTION

"The fall that I moved to Clearville was one of the hardest winters that I ever experienced during my long years of practice. The snow fell on the 15th of December and I sleighed 93 days and nights without ever changing my buggy board from my sleigh. It was the year the Canadian epizootic prevailed among the horses for the first time in this county and many valuable animals were lost. The same winter we had a malignant form of scarlet fever, some of the patients dying from its severity before a physician could reach them. The next season was followed by an epidemic of typho-malarial fever that prevailed while I was located at Flintstone; fortunately I was well prepared to meet the case and was blessed with splendid success in its treatment, because I had had over a hundred cases from Flintstone to Oldtown, Md., the year previous. It extended up Black Valley and down below Everett, to the old Weavering stand and some cases up on Clear Ridge, but not so numerous as along the valley streams."

DUNKARDS NOT ADVERSE TO FIGHTING, HISTORY SHOWS

It is not common knowledge that the ancestors of the Dunkards of Somerset county, Pennsylvania, and Garrett county, Maryland, knew something about "scrapping." Their love of peace has never been better portrayed by any sect or clan, yet it will no doubt surprise some to know, that the sturdy forebears of these people, who frequently visit Cumberland, did not fail in emergencies. Dunkard riflemen, on the firing line, are said to have given a good account of themselves at Fort Bedford.

From Juniata College, Huntingdon, comes a letter from an Altoona "Tribune" reader which says:

"I have been studying your column of historic events and I think the following, quoted from Sherman Day's 'Historical Collections,' published in 1843 will be of interest to you. He says: 'During the memorable invasion by Chief Pontiac at Stoytown was called in to strengthen the garrison at Fort Bedford. This article speaks clearly of Dunkards bearing arms and I would like to know more about it.'" in the Upper Juniata Valley at least is of peace-loving, gentle souls who carried out the principle of non-resistance further than any has done since Bible times. Everyone is familiar with the stories given us by historian W. H. Gardner, and other historical writers, of old Jacob Nave, or Neff, the miller at Neff's Mills, now called Roaring Spring, who was ex-communicated and ostracized by the Brethren for shooting two Indians who attempted to burn his mill and the Dunkards who stood with folded arms to be shot down and scalped by the red rascals, rather than show resistance.

The general conception of Dunkards

SCRAPPER TENDENCIES REFLECTED IN BOER WAR

On the other hand the Brethren were good, scrappy fighters once they were aroused, as befitted descendants of hardy Switzers, Alsations and Huguenots. While some carried pacifism to extremes, others kept rifles in their homes and could "bark" squirrels as well as any keeneyed, red-headed Ulster Scot. These mountain Dunkards were gifted with magnificent eyesight and their sharp, black eyes had surprising range and power. For the most part they were tall, lean and muscular in appearance like the sturdy Boers of South Africa, whose rifles kept the British army corps at bay for nearly three years, 1899-1902, and earlier at Majuba Hill in 1881, licked the Britishers completely.

These Boers were partly Dutch, partly Huguenot, with some German blood and constituted about the same racial "hodgepodge" as our present day Pennsylvania Dutch, called carelessly by some "Pennsylvania Germans." The Dunkards bred remarkable true to type-black hair and dark eyes were the rule, the features flawless, the carriage elegant and the women of a degree of beauty almost unequalled. Kentucky horse-breeders turn out an equine race called "thoroughbreds" which are beautiful to behold, but the human thoroughbred, as exemplified by the Brethren was the finest product of man-controlled nature. Naturally these mountain thoroughbreds were brave. It was no cowardice to stand up and be shot while striking wives and children were being carried off before their dying eyes by half-crazed, evil-faced redskins.

It was a supreme sacrifice to principles. Could many do half as well? It has been noted by Theodore Roosevelt and other historians that the Pennsylvania sectarians never developed a military leader of the first magnitude. At first glance this statement may seem incontrovertible. Yet the ancestral trees of most great Pennsylvania soldiers and sailors have only been imperfectly studied. One does not know if Brethren blood flows in the veins of such great leaders as Custer, Reynolds, Negley, Heintzman, Rosencrans, Hoke, Clinchman, Zollieffer, Gobin, Pershing, Solbert, Newton Diehl Baker or Admiral Farragut whose mother was of Pennsylvania Dutch origin. Yet marriages outside of the sect were rare, especially in Colonial times, and took courage, yet the menfolk were not wanting in courage.

One of the writer's Indian friends remarked to him the other day: "Your folk festivals are all right, but they give too much prominence to the newcomer in Pennsylvania and not enough to those who were here before the Revolution."

The point is well taken, but the folklore of recent foreign origin is better preserved and easier to garner. However, it emphasizes only too well how really little we know of our Colonial forebears and the part each actually performed years ago.

MASON AND DIXON LINE SURVEY NORTH AND SOUTH

J. C. Sanders, Keyser, W. Va., president of the Mineral County Historical Society, in an article that appeared sometime ago, tells of an early Hampshire engineer, who helped survey the Mason and Dixon Line between the North and South. He says:

"Few people of the South Branch and Patterson Creek Valleys realize the debt they owe to the pioneer civil engineers of those early days."

"Foremost among those early surveyors during the days of settlement of these two valleys was none other than Joseph Nevill, who was at various times, from 1750 to 1800, the legal civil engineer or surveyor for Frederick, Hampshire, Hardy, Pendleton and for the once newly-formed county of Youghiogheny. In fact, for over a half century Joseph Nevill was the only licensed surveyor west of the Blue Ridge."

"There is scarcely a deed recorded in any of these counties in those early days without the imprint of surveyor Joseph Nevill. It was he who surveyed and laid off for Lord Thomas Fairfax the Manor of Lost River, South Branch and Patterson Creek, the latter being surveyed in 1791. It was engineer Joseph Nevill who represented the State of Virginia in the completion of the Mason-Dixon Line in 1784, after those engineers failed to complete the line because of trouble with the Indians on Dunkard Creek in what is now Greene county, Pennsylvania.

"June 4, 1766, at 163 miles, 57 chains, the surveying party arrived at the summit of Little Allegheny Mountain, the present division line of Bedford and Somerset counties, Londonderry township on the east and Southampton township on the west. June 5, the surveyors crossed the North Branch of Jennings Run, at 165 miles, 28 chains. This location is near the homes of R. Frank Getz and W. W. Witt, within the borough of Wellersburg. June 9, at 165 miles, 54 chains, 88 links, or 3622 feet and a few inches (less than 3.5 of a mile) to the west of the North Branch of Jennings Run, Mason and Dixon discontinued surveying on the line westward. They had previously been instructed only to survey 'to the foot (on the east side) of Savage Mountain, the Second Ridge of the Allegheny Mountains.'"

INDIANS WERE ENCAMPED NEAR MOUNT SAVAGE

"It is evident that Mason and Dixon considered this that particular place. The story that the surveyors were threatened by the Indians here and dared proceed no further is not substantiated by any such reference in notes made by Mason and Dixon in the several days they spent at this location. However, it is a well established fact that a band of Indians, in early times, were encamped on the Great Flat between Wellersburg and Mount Savage, and this probably accounts for the legend of Indian interference. There is an ancient burial ground on the Troutman farm in the middle-west section of the Southampton township. Indian Chief Will was buried on Wills Mountain. These references show the proximity of Indians.

"Here on June 18, 1766, the surveying party set a post 16 inches square three feet in the ground and five feet out of the ground. On the same day they started back on the line to the place of beginning northeast corner of the Province of Maryland."

No particular comment further is made by Mason and Dixon regarding location or the happenings here on June 18th and the few preceding days, except that they were busily engaged making calculations and recording the positions of the stars in the heavens. The curvature of the earth in so long a distance, made the surveying unusually difficult for preciseness. No surveyors could be more particular than were Mason and Dixon. They were sworn to make a true and correct survey. All of their assistants and help were sworn also.

"By the instruction of the constituted authorities, it was more than a year later, July 13, 1767, before Mason and Dixon continued the survey of the line where they left off at the foot of Savage Mountain which they refer to as the 'great dividing Ridge of the Allegheny Mountain, the dividing of the waters of the Potomac and Ohio rivers.' At this point they record 168 miles, 78 chains from the northeast corner of Maryland, heretofore mentioned.

FOURTEEN INDIANS JOINED SURVIVING PARTY

"Just about two miles west of this latter place, in present Greenville township, Somerset County, Pa., is where, on July 16, 1767, the surveying party was joined by fourteen Indians deputized by the Chiefs of the Six Nations by previous arrangements to accompany the surveyors. With the Indians came Hugh Crawford, an interpreter. October 11, 1767, at Dunkard Creek, in present Greene county, at 23 miles, 17 chains, the Indians refused to go farther, claiming that this was their instruction. This place was at, or near, Indian War Path. Here is as far westward as Mason and Dixon ever got on the line, only 35 miles from the southwest corner of the Province of Pennsylvania.

"The surveying party, together with the Indians and their interpreter, then turned back eastward to the line, erecting certain markings and mounds on the line as they went. At the tops of ridges and mountains, heaps or piles of stone and earth, three and one-half to four yards in diameter at bottom, from six to seven feet and one-half in height were placed. November 5, 1767, Hugh Crawford with the Indians, except a few to erect marks along the line, left in order to return home. This leave taking was at 199 miles, 63 chains, 68 links. John Green, a Chief of the Mohawk Nation, was with the surveying party for a time. This leave taking of Crawford and certain Indians occurred at about where the corner stone of three states is now located, Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, in the vicinity of Markleysburg, Fayette county, Pennsylvania. Mason and Dixon were employed from December 1, 1763, and on January 29, 1768, made their final report."

The unfinished part of Mason and Dixon's line was not completed until 1784. The surveyors were Alexander McLean, of York county, Pa., who represented Pennsylvania, and Joseph Nevill, of Youghiogheny county, Virginia, who represented Virginia. Joseph Nevill was at the time Surveyor General of the State of Virginia.

Mason and Dixon's line is nearly 270 miles long. The lines lie at 39 degrees, 43 minutes and 26.3 seconds Latitude North. It was famous for a long period of years as the limit between the "free" and "slave" states, the dividing line between the North and the South.

It is crossed by persons going north on U. S. 220, about five miles from this city.

DIARY OF THE WAR

FRIDAY—Over 500 B-29's hit four

Jap cities and an oil center in Tokyo Bay with 3,000 tons of bombs. It was the first attack for the industrial cities. Enemy convoys were attempting to bring Jap troops back from China but were being driven to cover. Planes were covering all sea lanes to Japan.

Australians and Dutch were struggling against increasing opposition in Burma. Chinese made gains near Kweilin but lost Tsinak on coast below Canton. Gen. Koenig became top tactical army commander in far east, with headquarters on Okinawa.

Casualties were placed at 1,049,104, including 242,165 killed. Gen. Eisenhower was back at work in Germany. Col. Hobbs resigned as director of Women's Army Corps.

SATURDAY—Thousands of fleet planes again hit Japan. There was speculation over Japan's lack of air resistance as U. S. control of Japanese air was complete. It was revealed 21 U. S. ships were crippled in June typhoon near Japan but that most were back in service. The cruiser Pittsburgh had its bow torn away. American warships bombarded main Jap islands. It was revealed 243 Jap planes and four ships were hit in earlier carrier raids. Chinese entered Kweilin as bitter fighting raged. It was thought Japs might abandon south China coast. Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, came to an end in Europe. British fleet bombarded islands off Sumatra. Aussies were nine miles from Sandakan on Borneo.

SUNDAY—Jap steel mills were demolished by bombardment from U. S. fleet which ranged unimpeded almost within rifle shot of Japan's shores. Enemy admitted shelling, claimed the damage was light and asserted they were in readiness for invaders with people's volunteer corps of more than 46 million ready to help nip army.

Japs broke through Chinese coastal defenses below Amoy and west of Hong Kong in twin drives designed to throw up an anti-invasion wall. Chenault gave up his China air force post. Non-fraternization policy in Germany was relaxed. The third division was still hunting German remnants in the hills southeast of Werfen, Austria.

MONDAY—Naval air and sea attacks cost Japs 128 vessels and 62 planes destroyed or damaged, nine vital steel works in two cities destroyed. Enemy offered no defense either aerial or naval. B-29's joined in assault. Chinese assault troops recaptured American air field at Kanching, gaining a base from which to launch China "invaders" east. Aussies were closing in on East Borneo's rich oil fields. Japs admitted air and sea blows and talked of "surprise" for Americans that in near future. Invasion of Jap homeland was declared to be several months away.

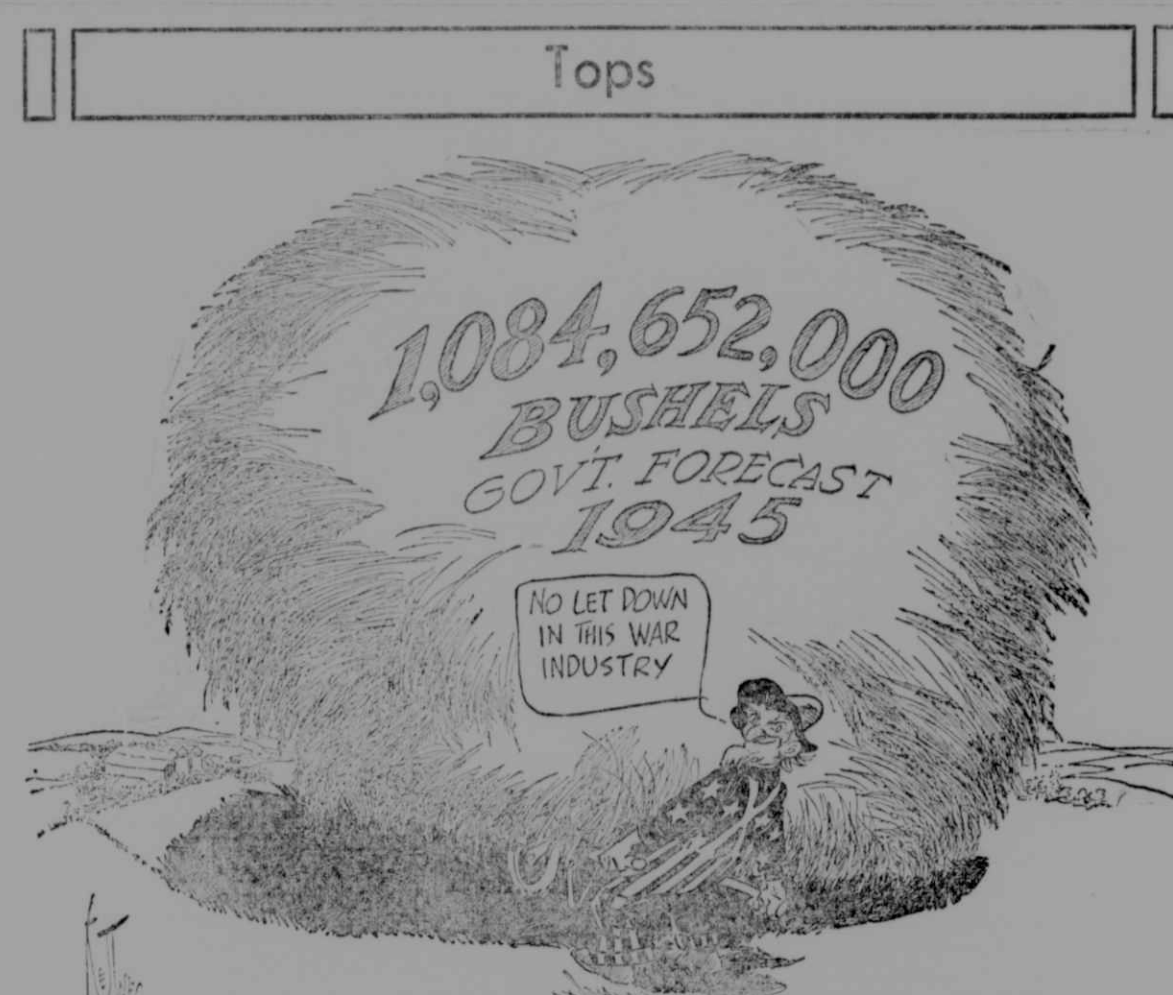

TUESDAY—American and British carriers hurled 1,500 planes at Jap capital, following on 2,500-ton incendiary bomb assault on four cities by B-29's. The combined fleet was the most powerful ever assembled. Aussies were massing for strong blow in Borneo to drive Japs from Sandakia area. Chinese were pushing toward Kweilin, forcing U. S. base. Losses of superforts average slightly more than one airplane per mission since last fall. Lack of fuel was given as possible failure of Japs to challenge U. S. fleet.

WEDNESDAY—British warships joined in shelling Japan, pounding war industries for two hours from point 24 miles off shore. Chinese forces took Indo-China port of Monay. Okinawa based planes hit Jap targets on Kyushu. Jap commander of guerrilla forces on Okinawa was killed. France promised the return of the royal regime to Spain. Argentina was probing a report that Hitler and his bride had taken refuge on Patagonia. Argentina was also investigating report on German subs in vicinity four are not accounted for.

THURSDAY—American carrier planes attacked Jap warships in Tokyo Bay, encountering heavy anti-aircraft fire. Japs admitted early invasion was a possibility. Airman from European theatre joined in far east air forces attacks on Jap homeland for first time Monday. MacArthur, announced. Termination of Jap resistance in Burma appeared close at hand. Six Chinese army columns gained up to 12 miles and converged on Kweilin. British and U. S. air leaders were carefully studying the threat of both air fleets in strikes against Japan. Allies have killed or taken prisoner a million and a half Japs and cut off 600,000 others on Pacific islands. Thousands of others have perished in China.

Truman and Churchill arrived at Berlin for historic big three meeting. Stalin was twenty-four hours late in arriving.

Light went on in London after nearly six years of lousy blackout.

MR. BYRNES AND THE CIO

Washington, July 7.

The appointment of Mr. James F. Byrnes as Secretary of State has been received extremely well both in the country and in Congress. The Secretary has high character as well as experience. It is not easy to think of a better available man for the post.

There is, in fact, but one group anywhere to be found which seems discontented with Mr. Byrnes and discredited by his selection. And, they, at the moment, are not very vocal about it. This group is composed of CIO leaders, some of whom, impressed by the size and scope of their own plans, and intoxicated by the output of their own press agents, had begun seriously to contemplate political domination of the nation. The Secretary has high character as well as experience. It is not easy to think of a better available man for the post.

But, a second blow to the CIOs' Political Action Committee's dreams, almost as severe as Mr. Roosevelt's death, is the appointment of Mr. Byrnes to the highest post in the Truman Administration, from which he must succeed to the presidency. The reasons for this are clear. For one thing, the CIO leaders know perfectly well that if it had not been for them Mr. Byrnes would not be President of the United States. So does Mr. Byrnes know it. Neither he nor the CIO leaders are apt to forget this at any time.

Mr. Byrnes is not a vindictive man. He does not brood over the narrowness with which he missed being Mr. Truman's place. He has no envy of Mr. Truman. On the contrary, he has a warm friendship for him. And he is carrying around no load of hate for the labor bosses who blocked his nomination.

He just is not that kind of man. Nevertheless, a fact is a fact, and this fact is so completely established, so generally known and was so altogether potent in what it did to Mr. Byrnes that he would not be human if it failed to stick in his mind for the rest of his life. And he is very human, indeed. It is part of his charm that he forgets neither his friends nor those who are not his friends. The CIO leaders distinctly are to be classed among the latter. It was Mr. Sidney Hillman, who, along with his friend, Mr. Philip Murray set himself up at Chicago as boss of the Democratic Convention, through whom the vice-presidential nomination had to be cleared. It was he who turned Mr. Byrnes down, sent word to Mr. Roosevelt that he would not do "labor," by which he meant Mr. Murray and himself, would not take him.

It is likely Messrs. Hillman and Murray would deny this now, but they did not at the time, though it was printed in a hundred newspapers, repeatedly commented upon over air and noted in scores of editorials. It was an exhibition of power which they had no inclination to deny. Anyhow, the facts were too well known by far too many persons for denial to be taken seriously. The plain truth is that Mr. Byrnes was turned down for the vice-presidential nomination which he wanted and which Mr. Roosevelt

Germans Will Wage

Swanton Soldier Gives His

Views of Conquered People

Corporal Harold W. Green, writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Green, at Swanton, from Bremerhaven, Germany, where he is now stationed, gives a different picture of the German people than some other soldiers who have written home from the battle area.

He writes: "I have recently read articles about the German people being a frightened people since their defeat. I have been around them for eight months and I would say they are every thing but afraid. I saw a place where German soldiers and civilians put 1,500 people in a barn. First they filled the barn with lead for almost half an hour and then poured gasoline inside and outside the barn and set fire to it, burning them up. Twelve of them escaped.

When the war ended, Hitler was still a hero in their eyes. I saw 400,000 Germans surrender and they marched through a town called Stendal singing with people cheering them as they did so. I met Russian soldiers at the Elbe river and they know how to treat the Germans. We are too darned soft and the Germans shall rise again if we don't crack down more. We have taken pity on them because their homes are burned out and bombed.

The German S.S. trooper was a devilish form of man, had no idea of humane ideals and thought nothing of shooting a German soldier who wanted to surrender. There are plenty left here at the ripe age of 12 to 15—Hitler youth—who are dangerous. But our leaders say no.

"I know of a case where a company of German youth pinned down a company of infantry men for six hours with small arms fire and mortars, and in doing so some of our boys got it. In turn the company of youth had to be completely wiped out as they refused to surrender.

"One never meets a 'German or Nazi' here as they claim to be of some other race or belief. They are the biggest bunch of liars the world has ever seen. So you see Hitler wasn't the only one here. It was the people.

"I also saw a camp, you know the one, where bodies were piled like cord wood, starved to death, others shot and burned and the majority who had survived were either crazy or infected with disease to the extent that a cure was impossible. Even now give a German a gun and you can rest assured he wouldn't hesitate to use it at the first possible chance.

"I am writing this because it burns me up to read some of the stuff that is put out. Why not tell how they treated other people and tell the fact that a German thinks that a Pole, Russian or Dutchman is an animal, not a human being. The Russians shall put the German where he belongs, in a cell with solid walls and they won't let him free for the next 50 years or more. But us, we shall step down and release the Hun in the next five years and then they will have another war and the same excess will arise—we didn't crack down enough.

"They won't let the one who perhaps lost an arm or leg, who can't see or hear, or who has toiled as a fighting soldier make the regulations. They will leave it up to one who never slept in a fox hole, half full of water or who has gone for weeks without a bath or experienced anything like civilization in six months.

"So the next time you hear a person say that the Germans are O. K. and Hitler caused the war, don't agree with him. We are a nation of stupid children who don't know what the score is."

Cpl. Green has been overseas quite a few months. Upon his trip overseas his ship was sunk shortly after leaving the east coast. He was brought back, re-evaluated and sent to England, thence to France and Germany.
